Park Moves to Keep Beer Trade Out of Racket

JOHNSON SPEEDS COAL RECOVERY DRIVE

Today

Score, 14 to Nothing.
Why the Dollar Pegging.
Pre-Natal Oxygen.
Gulls Help Farmers.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THREE MORE states, Iowa, New Hampshire, Connecticut, have declared for repeal of the prohibition amendment. The vote for repeal now stands 14 to 0. Those who thought it impossible to get thirty-six of the forty-eighth states to vote against prohibition, bootlegging and racketeering, may find that they were mistaken.

CONNECTICUT voted six to one, and New Hampshire two to one against prohibition.

Nine million Americans, voting thus far, have averaged four to one against the Eighteenth Amendment. That chapter in American history and American crime and bootlegging may soon be closed.

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, bitterly disappointed by the repeal vote that has swept every state thus far, says:

"We shall have to accept the result, whatever it is."

Fortunately repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment will not prevent those that prefer it from drinking ice water, leaving the demon 3.2 beer to work destruction among the weak.

IN ADDITION to helping the government, which needs money and gets it from the beer tax, beer appears to be helping the farmer. Consumption of cheese has increased 20 per cent since legal beer arrived.

The production of pretzels has increased. And because of the amount of salt on pretzels, the pretzels, making men thirsty, increase the consumption of beer.

LONDON reports say the United States is ready to "peg the dollar at $4.40" of our money for one English (off the gold standard) paper pound.

Why, in the name of Providence and common sense, all this pegging talk? How can we tell what the paper pound will be worth six months hence? When England went off the gold basis, we didn't meddle, or suggest any "pegging."

France cut 80 per cent from the value of her francs, thus cutting 80 per cent from the amount she paid to Englishmen that had lent her tens of millions at the old franc value. The English were not consulted.

Why all the "dollar pegging?" Are we unable to attend to our own dollar, as European nations have attended to their own currencies without asking our advice, or permitting our interference?

A WISE MAN from the Harvard School of Business yesterday said:

"Prepare to see the dollar go a great deal lower."

He seemed to think that drop would be an excellent thing for the United States at this moment.

It might disturb the owners of bonds, preferred stocks and some other things, but it should encourage you to hold on to your real estate. As the dollar goes lower, values and rents, inevitably, will go higher, and mortgages will be more easily paid.

THE AMERICAN Association for the Advancement of Science learns from Prof. Joseph Barcroft, learned Britisher, of Cambridge University, that "man's intelligence is due to the fight that he makes for oxygen before he is born."

The struggling for oxygen develops the brain and "when the supply of the mother can no longer answer the demand, birth takes place."

More than one million years ago man, unborn, began and won his fight to "conquer his internal environment."

Wise mothers will continue to breathe in plenty of fresh air, keeping the oxygen supply in the blood at the maximum before the child is born.

NATURE CONTRIVES ingeniously to control "over-production." Farmers around Wolfville, N. S., watching with despair the grasshoppers eating their crops, suddenly smiled as flocks of sea gulls, arriving from far away, began eating the grasshoppers by the millions.

Similarly, not long ago, as Mr. Vernon Bailey, of the Agricultural Department, tells you, gulls flying over mountain ranges came to the rescue of Northwestern farmers watching mice devouring their alfalfa. The gulls devoured the field mice, the crops were saved.

How do the gulls know of these feasts? Are certain gulls delegated to fly in all directions, seeking good news, prospecting?

AT HIGH POINT, N. C., four high school students opened a grave to take pictures of a skeleton, thinking that they were engaged in scientific research. Convicted of "disturbing a graveyard," the boys are sentenced to take turns spending five nights alone in the graveyard.

That MIGHT by called "cruel and unusual punishment," to which the Constitution objects. But it may be useful to the boys, if they are not too much frightened to think, compelling them to reflect the rights of others, particularly those in graveyards, while they sit through the night wondering whether ghosts are real.

THE SON of the former Spanish king, Prince of the Asturias, despite his father's opposition, yesterday married a young Cuban girl, Etel Mira Ignacia Adriana San Pedro. The prince gave up "all rights to the Spanish throne," but, judging by the temper of Spain at present, that may not mean giving up much.

U.S. BLOCKS STABILIZED CURRENCY

Roosevelt's Stand Communicated To Parley

International News Service.

President Roosevelt today rocked the World Economic Conference by issuance through the American delegation of a statement he authorized refusal to enter into any temporary agreement for currency stabilization.

The statement put it squarely up to the British and French whether they cared to continue the conference, dropping the currency issue for the moment and tackling other problems.

Simultaneously, Secretary of State Cordell Hull laid before the conference a resolution calling upon the powers for tariff reductions and elimination of drastic trade restrictions.

Reports reached the delegates that Premier MacDonald, presiding over the conference, had conveyed word to Secretary Hull that the United States must show a keener desire to co-operate.

LONDON, June 22.—From his vacation yacht off the New England coast, President Roosevelt spoke the word today that may mean success or failure of the World Economic Conference.

He put the United States definitely on record against any temporary currency stabilization agreement, leaving it squarely up to the French and British whether they are willing to go ahead with the conference in an endeavor to solve other economic problems, dropping the currency issue for the present.

Baruch Foregoes Government Office

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP.)—Bernard M. Baruch, unofficial advisor to government officers, has decided not to use the office placed at his disposal in the State Department and instead will make his headquarters at the Carlton Hotel.

Mitchell Cleared By Jury

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Charles E. Mitchell was acquitted today on all counts in the indictment which charged him with income tax evasion.

The jury which had heard the government charges that Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, had cheated the government in 1929 and 1930 of more than $850,000 in income taxes, returned the verdict after a little more than 24 hours' deliberation.

EVASION CHARGE

The charges against Mitchell, who for many years was one of the most powerful figures in the banking world, were briefly that he had illegally failed to report a payment of $666,666.67 from the National City Company in 1929, and that he had made sham stock sales to make it appear that he had suffered such heavy income loss that he owed no tax in 1929 and 1930.

The stock sale in 1929 was to Mitchell's wife, and the one in 1930 to W. D. Thornton, president of the Greene Cananea Copper Company.

Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard requested the jurors not to discuss the case publicly and dismissed them.

Mitchell leaped to his feet as he heard the words, "not guilty" pronounced in a low voice by James K. Campbell, foreman, and grabbed the hand of Max D. Steuer, his counsel.

MITCHELL 'MOVED'

As the crowd pressed around Mitchell, he said:

"I can't talk now—I'm too moved."

With Steuer, he disappeared in the ante-room where he had

PARK TO BAN RACKETS IN BEER TRADE

Petitions to Revoke 4 Dealers' Licenses Filed as He Moves

Petitions to revoke four beer dealers' licenses were filed today as District Attorney Andrew T. Park announced he plans to protect legitimate dealers against racketeers.

Judge Samuel H. Gardner set July 20 for hearing on petitions to revoke the licenses of Paolo Bortoluzzi, 280 Lenhart road, Penn Township; Joseph Malino, Rodi road, Penn Township; John H. Liberto, 2047 Lincoln avenue, Penn Township, and George and Grace Walton, R. F. D., Verona.

All were charged with having insufficient seating capacity in their places of business. The Waltons, in addition, were alleged to have failed to comply with the one-year residence provision of the law.

Park said he would make every effort to keep beer out of racketeers' hands. He said county detectives had investigated the cases cited in the petitions filed today after complaints had been made to his office.

When the hearings are held, it was expected the question of forfiture of the dealers' bonds would arise. Each dealer receiving a license is required to post $1,000 bond.

Pittsburgh Operators Hold Washington Conference

1—Gen. Johnson concentrates efforts on coal.
2—Pittsburgh operators meet in Washington today.
3—Operators fail to complete wage and working time provisions in codes.
4—Non-union mine owners reject union request for conference.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER
Business Editor

Confusion still reigns in the coal industry as Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the industrial recovery act, today concentrated his personal efforts on the job of producing harmony between waring groups of operators and miners.

Officials of leading Pittsburgh district companies are in Washington today to confer with Gen. Johnson and to secure interpretations of parts of the act which are not clear.

Coal men have completed codes of fair business practice covering the marketing of their product, but they have made no progress toward settling the all-important questions of minimum wages and working hours. While Gen. Johnson has been in close touch with the working out of the plan, he will not formally pass upon any codes for the industry until the labor provisions have been included.

NO PAY AGREEMENT

Decisions on wages and hours were left out of the code adopted by the National Coal Association at its meeting in Chicago last week. Operators in each district were told to settle these problems for themselves and to submit separate codes. The association dodged the labor question in order to preserve harmony within its ranks.

Operators in Southern fields have been paying lower wages than in the Pittsburgh district. A uniform scale might mean that

BOMBERS PERIL CONGRESSMAN

WATCHUNG, N. J., June 22.—(AP.)—A 15-pound bomb containing what explosive experts at the du Pont factory at Pompton Lakes described as "the most deadly explosive in the world," was found today attached to the automobile of Representative Charles A. Eaton of the Fifth Congressional District.

State police of the Morristown barracks, who took the bomb to the du Pont plant for examination, reported its deadly composition to Representative Eaton at his estate in the Matchung Mountains.

When the bomb was found by Joseph Balent, an employe, Eaton was uncertain whether it was real or merely the work of a practical joker. He said:

"If it be a bomb, I feel it was not directed against me so much as against the United States government."

SCOTTSBORO BOY 'SAVED'

ATHENS, Ala., June 22.—(AP.)—Judge James E. Horton today granted a motion for a new trial for Heywood Patterson, one of nine Negroes indicted in the Scottsboro case, setting aside the conviction with its death penalty imposed in Morgan County Circuit Court April 9.

Judge Horton held, in a lengthily written opinion, that the "evidence greatly preponderates in favor of the defendant." It added:

"The testimony of the prosecutrix (Victoria Price) in this case is not only uncorroborated, but it also bears on its face indications of improbability and is contradicted by other evidence.'

Mrs. Price claimed she was attacked while "bumming" a ride on a freight train. Ruby Bates, who told a similar story at the first Scottsboro trial, changed her story and testified for the defense at Patterson's second trial.

Ruby Bates to Speak Here Tomorrow

Two of the central figures in the Scottsboro case will speak at meetings here.

Ruby Bates, alleged victim of an attack by nine Negro boys in North Carolina, and Mrs. Janie Patterson, mother of one of the accused boys, will speak at a meeting in the Bethel Church, Wylie avenue and Elm street, tomorrow night, and at a meeting in the Carron Street Baptist Church, Carron and Alder streets, Saturday night.

20 Jailed and Fined For Mortgage Riot

PRIMGHAR, Iowa, June 22.—(AP.)—Judge Earl Peters today sentenced 20 Northwest Iowa farmers to one day in jail and a fine of $50 for participating in a riot during a farm mortgage foreclosure sale at O'Brien County Courthouse here April 27.

CHICAGO, June 22. — Men sometimes volunteer for blood transfusions in the hope of seeing scantily clad women in operating rooms.

Women are more unwilling to forgive unfaithfulness in mates than men.

Murderers and robbers are more self-sacrificing than average "respectable" citizens.

Many moral acts are performed for immoral reasons.

And it is virtually impossible for young or old people to be moral, because nearly all their acts are prompted by fear or rage.

These are but a few of the social discoveries announced today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Emilio Mira, of Barcelona, Spain.

They resulted from a series of experiments conducted over the past four years. In some of the experiments individuals were told they had eaten poisoned candy or that they were needed immediately for blood transfusion purposes.

In other cases, questionnaires and direct questioning on moral problems were employed.

The chief "scientific" fact established by Dr. Mira was that moral behavior did not result from reasoning, but from "emotional" development. His studies also confirmed other observers who be-

Wabash Tunnel Plan Attacked in Council

The proposed Wabash tunnel traffic project would demoralize city traffic, L. W. Monteverde, chairman of the City Planning Commission, told Council this afternoon.

Council met with the Commission in an informal conference on the project which, if put through, is to be financed by the county. Mayor John S. Herron was present at the conference.

POOLS TO OPEN; HEAT RELIEF

Fifteen life guards to protect the swimmers in 13 river pools were sworn in by Public Safety Director Harmar D. Denny, Jr., today as light scattered showers brought only slight relief to the heat-stricken city.

The pools will open tomorrow. Two of the river pools, Esplen and South Third street, have been closed, due to improper swimming conditions. The guards will be in charge of River Patrolman Charles Snyder.

Two guards will be stationed at the Franklin street and South Seventeenth street pools.

Pirates, Dodgers Open Series Today

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, June 22.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, their slate showing three victories and two defeats in Boston, invaded Ebbets Field this afternoon. They will take on the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first battle of a five-game series to be concluded Sunday with a doubleheader.

Heine Meine, who turned in a triumph for Pittsburgh during the Boston series, loosened up to face the Dodgers this afternoon. Manager Carey had Ray Benge and several other hurlers available for duty.

Bandits Rob Store Near Police Station

Two youthful bandits, both armed, held up Finn's Cigar Store, at 127 West Ohio street, a block from the North Side Police Station, early today and escaped with $75.

G. O. P. LEADERS AT PROBE

Republican chieftains testified today in the government's probe of alleged fraud in Congressional elections.

Patrick O'Malley, Second Ward chairman, was there along with Alderman John J. Verona, Hill district boss.

Others included Assemblyman Patrick Maloney, Ninth Ward; John A. Fugassi, mercantile appraiser and former superintendent of the county road maintenance division; Dr. S. H. Johnson, a member of the City Civil Service Commission and brother-in-law of former Mayor Charles H. Kline; Alderman L. C. Wicks, Fourth Ward; County Detective Michael Stabile, Robert H. Logan, Negro alderman of the Fifth Ward, and City Detective Edward Muldowney, brother of Congressman M. J. Muldowney.

Bench warrants were issued today by Judge Nelson McVicar for three witnesses who failed to appear yesterday. They are Christ Atkinson, 355 Atwood street; C. M. Leary, 305 Atwood street, and Theresa Leary, [illegible] address.

Trick Brings Death Of Young 'Houdini'

KENOSHA, Wis., June 22.—(INS.)—His fondness for playing "Houdini tricks" was blamed today for the death of Frank E. Sebastian, Jr., 13, of Chicago, who was found in the boathouse of his parents' summer home, strangled by a belt.

Although the belt was drawn tight enough to cause strangulation, Coroner James Crossin expressed the belief that an attack of heart failure or asthma came while the youth was performing the stunt.

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Harry Lyons, 35, who directed floor shows for Texas Guinan and other noted night club operators, was found shot to death under a street light in the Bronx early today.

'World Idiotic Parley' Should Quit, Says Shaw

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service.
(Copyright, 1933, by International News Service.)

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, HERTFORDSHIRE, Eng., June 22.—The World Economic Conference has been mistitled.

It should be known as the "World Idiotic Conference."

In a devastating attack upon international parleys, world statesmen and bankers, George Bernard Shaw let loose his vitriol today and subjected the economic conference now meeting in London to violent castigation.

Discussing the parley with International News Service in an exclusive interview, he ripped and tore through the deliberations, accused statesmen of ignorance and bankers of greed, and strongly urged that the delegates pack up their luggage and start for home immediately. He asserted:

"It seems to me statesmen could do a lot better by attempting to solve their own national difficulties in their own countries.

"It's all wrong. These problems purely concern individual countries and individual reforms are necessary—President Roosevelt is proving this."

Asked what he thought of the stabilization deadlock, Shaw launched into a bitter onslaught against international bankers. He said:

"One reason why international conferences don't succeed, is because bankers are allowed to have a hand in them.

"International bankers are profiting by the world's insolvency and it's natural they don't want it to get solvent again.

"Take this conference out of the hands of the bankers and maybe the world will get a better deal."

Girl's Ring Identifies Dead Boy Adventurer

Members of two Charleroi High School classes had given their help in tracing Anna's ring. The only clue to the owner was the initials "A. R." engraved upon it.

Members of the youth's family said today they thought he must have been killed and thrown into the freight car. He had not intended to go to Texas, but planned to attend a Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, they said.

While word from authorities in Texas did not indicate they suspected foul play, Robert Josson, brother of the youth, said today he was convinced that Eugene had been "knocked off."

The box car in which the body was found was locked. There were indications, it was said, the youth starved to death. The body was found June 14.

Authorities of Big Springs, Tex., communicated with Charleroi officers when they could find no other identification clue but the ring.

U. S. INDUSTRIAL 'CZAR' SEEKS COAL TRADE HARMONY

MINE OWNERS REJECT UNION DEMANDS

Pittsburgh would regain some of the markets which it lost to the Southern operators years ago. Any attempt on the part of the association to settle the wage question would have resulted in a free for all fight between the operators of each district. This has been the fundamental difficulty in the way of completing codes for the coal industry.

Fear that their mines will be unionized has been another deterring factor in the efforts to restore harmony within the industry.

FIGHT TO UNIONIZE

The United Mine Workers of America have been waging a fight to completely unionize the industry. They see in the provisions of the Industrial Recovery Act their best chance in years to regain their lost power in non-union fields.

The act provides for employe representation in settling questions of wages and hours with operators. It makes it illegal for an employer who has subscribed to a code to discharge a man for belonging to a union or to make his membership in any particular organization a requisite for either hiring or refusing to hire him.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company, known as a Mellon Company, and the Consolidation Coal Company, known as a Rockefeller company, both are enemies of the union. Both are trying to avoid unionization of their mines and have been standing on the sidelines while other operators have been trying to form codes. These operators take the stand that the provisions of the act making it illegal to discharge a man for belonging to a union will not apply if they do not subscribe to a code.

Officials of Pittsburgh Coal have intimated that they might subscribe to a code in the future when they know more about the effect of the new law.

UNION DEMAND REFUSED

Some operators here have been trying to stall off unionization by the formation of company unions which would not be affiliated with any national organization.

The Coal Producers Association of Western Pennsylvania yesterday decided not to comply with a recent request made by P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5 of the United Mine Workers of America, that operators confer with his organization on the question of wages.

Only operators who are now working on a union basis such as Pittsburgh Terminal Coal, are expected to confer with the union leaders.

STRIKES CONTINUE

Fagan today assailed the company unions as subterfuges to evade the law. He declared:

"One of our friends helped conduct a recent company union election. He said that most of the men wrote 'raspberries' or 'What's the use,' in voting for the so-called union. They knew they wouldn't have real representation. They knew, too, if they didn't vote, they wouldn't get a call to work.

"If the companies refuse to deal with us—and some like the Pittsburgh Coal Company say they won't—we can act. We have 95 per cent of the Pittsburgh coal workers pledged and won't hesitate to call them out of the mines the first time a member is mistreated."

In regard to the question of union labor, Gen. Johnson has assured the unions a square deal, but he holds that unionization of bituminous fields will not necessarily follow action under the recovery act.

spent the hours waiting for the verdict.

Steuer made this statement:

"This verdict proves that in the state of New York justice can still be had by the verdict of a jury; that neither mob psychology nor emotion will enter the final determination."

United States Attorney George Z. Medalie had rushed into the courtroom, grinning, when he heard the jury was coming in. He had been getting a shave and one side of his face had a day's growth of beard. He refused to comment on the verdict.

Mitchell was variously pictured by prosecution and defense during the trial as a man who deliberately cheated the government of more than $850,000 in income taxes and as one who ruined himself in efforts to save his own companies and ease the market generally in the crash of 1929.

During several days on the stand he himself told of borrowing millions from the Morgans to cushion the fall of National City Bank stock. It was brought out that he still owes about $6,000,000 to the Morgan firm, which holds mortgages on all his homes.

The investigation of his income tax affairs began last March when he testified before the Senate Banking Committee in Washington that he sold stock to "a relative" to record a loss and so avoid paying any income tax for the year 1929.

His arrest and indictment quickly followed.

SEES ECONOMIC REVOLUTION

CHICAGO, June 22.—(AP.)—Terming the industrial recovery act "an economic revolution," Axtel J. Byles, of New York, president of the American Petroleum Institute, told oil men today the act might prevent a social revolution. He said:

"Because business is picking up, our spirits are brighter. But unless we can keep the wheels going, tragedy such as we have never seen will overtake the country."

The oil men, representing trade associations of dealers and jobbers, met to formulate a set of trade practices and labor agreements under the recovery act.

BOARD SPEEDS PUBLIC WORKS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt's public works board today informed the nation that "we are proceeding as rapidly as possible" to set flowing the $3,300,000,000 appropriated for construction activities by Congress.

An official statement said "an efficient organization" to carry out the program for which funds were provided in the industrial recovery bill is being set up.

Secretary Ickes, chairman of the cabinet board, will be in charge while beneath will be the public works administrator, whose duties the board made clear, will be entirely distinct from the industrial control administration under Hugh S. Johnson.

To handle applications on state, county and city projects, there will be a state administration and state advisory board to be appointed by President Roosevelt.

1,000 U. S. JOBS TO BE FILLED

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP.)—Postmaster General Farley indicated yesterday that 1,000 or more federal appointments will be made soon after President Roosevelt returns from his vacation cruise about July 1.

The jobs will range from collectors of internal revenue to postmasters. He could not say exactly how many names would be ready for the President's approval.

The appointments for collectors of internal revenue will be completed in this batch, Farley said. Others will include district attorneys, marshals and customs collectors.

Farley said the Postoffice Department was now preparing for postmaster examinations and appointments to these positions would be made rapidly.

He also reiterated that the administration would not remove any present postmaster from his job who is performing satisfactory service.

Southern Pacific To Try 2-Cent Rate

CHICAGO, June 22.—(AP.)—Application for authority to establish an experimental passenger rate of 2 cents a mile on one-way tickets in the lines west of Albuquerque will be made by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway.

The Southern Pacific announced yesterday it would try out the rates in six western states for three months, beginning July 1.

NAZIS SUPPRESS SOCIALISTS

BERLIN, June 22.—(INS.)—The Socialist party was suppressed throughout Germany in a decree promulgated tonight by Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Nazi minister of the interior.

Similar action was taken against the Communist Party immediately after the burning of the Reichstag.

Two Nazi storm troopers were shot and killed today and two others seriously wounded after they raided the home of a Socialist labor union official on the outskirts of Berlin.

Meanwhile, at least 40 members of the "Kampfring," Nationalist fighting organization, remained in custody as the Hitler regime moved to consolidate the gains made in yesterday's nation-wide raids.

22 DRYS HERE TO LOSE JOBS

Commander John D. Pennington, prohibition administratoor of the Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey district, here for an inspection tour, last night said 22 of the 55 prohibition agents now stationed in Pittsburgh were to be dropped. The reduction in the force he said probably will be effective July 1.

The prohibition enforcement unit is soon to be affiliated with the Department of Justice's Bureau of Investigation, he said.

LABOR FIGHTS RECOVERY PROGRAM

Collective Bargaining On Wages, Hours Asked by Unions

WASHINGTON, June 22. — (AP.)—A vigorous protest from labor was made today against the national recovery administration's plan that agreements within the industry on minimum wages and maximum hours be arrived at without involving collective bargaining with the workers.

At the first meeting of the labor advisory board presided over by Secretary Perkins, organized labor asked that it be consulted before industry presents proposed agreements to the recovery administration for approval.

JOHNSON APPROVAL

Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, had said in one of his first pronouncements that basic codes might be approved with the advice of the labor advisory council without collective bargaining being involved.

In addition to Secretary Perkins, the board includes William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Leo Wolman, nationally known labor expert; John Frey, also of the federation; Joseph Franklin, of the International Boilermakers Union; Sidney Hillman, of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union; Father Francis Haas, of the Catholic Welfare Council, and Rose Schneidermann, of the Women's Trade Union League.

MINE PROTEST

John L. Lewis, representing workers in the coal fields, appeared before the board in opposition to the non-collective bargaining principle.

It was understood that opposition was also expressed to the code presented by the textile industry for a $10 a week minimum in southern mills and $11 in the north.

629,000 BACK TO WORK IN MONTH

Federation of Labor Reports Gain in Employment

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP.)—The American Federation of Labor says that 629,000 persons went back to work in April and a smaller—but as yet undetermined number—in May.

In its monthly survey of business for May, however, it added:

"Cheerful as this news sounds, there is no evidence yet that it marks the start of recovery."

Any further progress, the Federation said, must depend upon the extent to which the purchasing power of the laborer is increased.

In April, unemployment was said to have decreased from 13,359,000 to 12,730,000, or 4.8 per cent of those out of work regaining jobs. The survey continues:

"Trade union reports for May show another gain, not so large. This is the most significant of all business gains reported this spring; it is the largest since depression began.

"But unless employment gains more than this it will take nearly two years to get the unemployed back to work—and business cannot wait two years."

To provide the necessary purchasing power, the Federation places most hope in the national recovery act, which it describes as "the most advanced and forward looking legislation for recovery yet proposed."

The Federation summarizes the situation with these words:

"Administration measures have succeeded in priming the business machine. Fear of inflation has been the chief primer—people have been turning money into goods for fear their dollars would soon buy less. Both for family and business needs, people have been buying against future requirements, to take advantage of bargain prices while they last.

"The stimulus due to fear of inflation is playing out, deflation is still going on, the summer dull season is just ahead. Only one thing can keep business moving steadily forward on an even keel—increased buying power."

WIFE SUES TWO FOR LOVE BALM

LONDON, June 22.—(INS.)—Trial of a suit for alienation of affections brought by Mrs. Florence Austin Newton, of New York, was begun here today.

Mrs. Newton claimed damages from Mrs. Pat Hardy and her husband, Harold John Hardy, accusing them of alienating the affections of her husband, Cyril Raymond Newton, dance band leader well known in London and New York.

Mrs. Newton alleged that Mrs. Hardy "enticed" Newton from her, and further charged that Hardy, described as wealthy, was responsible for the alleged wrongdoing of his wife.

The defense denies the charges. The Newtons were married in New York in March, 1917.

'Junior Star'

LORENA LAYSON

Miss Layson, Miami novice in the films, with 12 other young women arbitrarily elevated to "junior stardom" by Jack L. Warner, film vice president, who explained that from among their number his company hopes to find its future star players.

HITLER FOUGHT BY CATHOLICS

BERLIN, June 22.—(AP.)—Chancellor Hitler's claim that youth belongs to the state has been challenged by the Catholic hierarchy, which said participation of young people in work or military service "is unacceptable to the conscience of Catholic youth."

"The church sees youth as the heart of its organization, retaining the training rights of youth to itself," a communique said, adding that the state was expected to recognize property rights of church organizations.

VIENNA, June 22. — (AP.) — Police made public last night the names of 15 Nazis, or National Socialists, who are held responsible for recent bombings. Some of them are under arrest and others have fled.

The Austrian Nazis were outlawed in a government decree this week.

OTTO MAY GET THRONE

LONDON, June 22.—(INS.)—Archduke Otto of Hapsburg stands out as a likely future ruler of a proposed Austro-Hungarian union, which is now the subject of European negotiations, International News Service learned from an authoritative Italian source today.

According to Premier Mussolini's representatives in London, the British and French are in sympathy with the project and even Chancellor Adolf Hitler has agreed.

Credence was lent to the Italian statements when it was learned that Premier Julius Gomboes of Hungary, who, so far, has been opposed to a Hapsburg restoration, will fly to Rome tomorrow to discuss the archduke's prospects with Mussolini.

Efforts are now being made to convince members of the Little Entente that it would be to their interest to stabilize European frontiers by restating them in a new constitutional monarchy over the proposed Austro-Hungarian union.

PROBE SCANS KUHN, LOEB TAXES

Kahn Slated as First Witness as Senate Prepares Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP.)—Senate investigators have scrutinized the income tax returns of members of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., in preparation for the inquiry next week into the firm's operations, but will give no inkling of what they found.

The investigators said the quest for facts not only will follow the general lines of the J. P. Morgan & Co. study, but also will cover new ground.

MORGAN DISCLOSURES

Highlights of the Morgan inquiry were the income tax developments, evidence of favored clients and disclosures of the firm's practices in banking and marketing of securities.

Those in touch with the Kuhn, Loeb case said today the hearing would incluude a thorough study of the firm's participation in financing the Pennroad Corporation, holding company subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

A feature of the Morgan investigation was the story of that firm's part in financing the Alleghany Corporation, Van Sweringen railroad holding company.

KAHN TO TESTIFY

First witness when the Kuhn, Loeb hearings get under way next Tuesday will be Otto H. Kahn, senior partner and famous art patron, who will play the same role in this inquiry that J. P. Morgan, senior partner of the House of Morgan, played in the last.

Two or three other partners of the firm have been subpenaed, including George W. Bovenizer and Benjamin J. Buttenwieser.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, now in New York, is expected to arrive in Washington Monday night to give the committee, in executive session before the investigation formally opens, an outline of his course of inquiry.

TAX EVASION CURB SEEN

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS.)—Confident that many loopholes in the tax laws have been found which can be closed with a "profit" of several hundred million dollars a year to the government, the House Ways and Means sub-committee investigating taxation today renewed its effort to close all gaps in the law.

Representative Samuel B. Hill (Dem.), of Washington, chairman of the sub-committee, said experts of the Treasury Department and the committee's experts are convinced evasion can be stopped.

VARE ASSURED OF POST

HARRISBURG, June 22. — (INS.)—Official notice of the election of a Republican National Committeeman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Jay Cooke went forward today at the direction of Edward Martin, chairman of the state committee.

The election will take place at a meeting of the state committee at Rolling Green Park, Snyder County, next Thursday.

Republican leaders admit the selection of William S. Vare, Philadelphia political leader, is assured.

Pharmacists Seek To Oust Dalrymple

LONG BEACH, Cal., June 22.—(INS.)—Summary discharge from office of Maj. A. B. Dalrymple, national prohibition director, was asked today in a resolution adopted by the California Pharmaceutical Association.

William G. Paschall, Long Beach, who introduced the resolution, said that Dalrymple had called druggists "profiteers and racketeers," and called upon the prohibition head to opologize.

Industry Czar to Guard Public's Buying Power

By T. N. SANDIFER
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Protection of consumers' buying power will be stressed in developing industrial codes, Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of National Recovery, said today.

While price increases are foreseen, he is prepared to insist that prices must not outrun wages. In this he has the express authority of President Roosevelt, who has already warned against such an eventuality.

The President's statement, which Johnson is taking as his guide, said:

"We cannot hope for the full effect of this plan unless, in these first critical months, and even at the expense of full initial profits we defer price increases as long as possible."

At Johnson's office it was said the question of retail prices probably will be a matter for industry itself to settle. It was made clear there will be no attempt to dictate prices.

Neither will there be any dictation of codes. Already, it was stated by his office, a number of codes have come in, some obviously framed before the provisions and intent of the recovery program had been studied.

Al Smith Dons Silk Hat Getting Harvard LL.D.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 21.—(INS.)—"Al" Smith, self-termed "graduate of Fulton Fish Market," today put aside his brown derby for a silk hat and amid the traditional pomp and splendor of the two hundred and ninety-seventh Harvard University commencement, received an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Andrew de Laboulaye, French Ambassador to the United States; Sir Ronald Charles Lindsey, British Amabassador to the United States; Lewis William Douglas, director of the Federal Budget, and Gov. Wilbur L. Gross, of Connecticut, also were made doctors of laws as President A. Lawrence Lowell closed his career as Harvard head by conferring 12 honorary degrees and 2,148 degrees in course.

John Pirpont Morgan, financier and former member of the Harvard Board of Overseers, marched in the commencement parade with the overseers, some of the most prominanet business and industrial leaders of the nation.

Former Governor Smith and Sir Ronald were the only recipients of degrees not attired in the black gown and mortar board. Both wore silk hats and morning clothes.

QUIZ COURT WARD AIDES ON 'FILTHY' HOME TOLERANCE

TWO JUVENILE WORKERS PUT 'ON CARPET'

Judge Lencher Probes Case of Small Boy in Rat-Ridden Shack

A Juvenile Court probation officer and her supervisor will be asked by Judge Benjamin Lencher today why they permitted a 6-year-old boy to live with an aged woman and her 50-year-old deaf-mute son in a lean-to shack described by the probation officer's own report as "filthy and polluted with vermin."

The probation officer's report on March 1, 1932, said, in part:

". . . the three-room shack is filthy and polluted with vermin. The home is untidy and rats were running around the kitchen while the probation officer was there."

Yet recommendation was made by the probation officer, who made this report, that the boy be permitted to remain in the environment described by her as "filthy," and court order extension was granted by Judge Sara Soffel on March 7, 1932, according to the records.

AGED WOMAN FACES COURT

The boy and his aged guardian, who says she is an aunt of his deceased mother, will be brought into court today by Judge Lencher for a hearing.

This is only one of hundreds of cases being brought to light by the double-check system Judge Lencher is employing in conjunction with a representative of the county's division of investigation. The following are other cases brought to the attention of Judge Lencher within the last two days:

Two sub-normal boys, aged 12 and 8. The older is an epileptic; the younger a tubercular suspect. They lived in a boarded shed with their grandmother, said to be a woman of ill repute. Judge Lencher took the children from her for medical attention and supervision.

CHASED WITH KNIFE

Four children, two boys and two girls, ages from 12 to 16. Underfed and underweight, the children are reported to have solicited food from neighbors. The home was closed by Judge Lencher.

Nine-year-old boy, said to be mentally deranged, called to the County Commissioners' attention by an anonymous letter. Child said to have chased neighbors' children with knives. Judge Lencher recommended that the child be removed from the home and institutionalized.

Six children, brothers and sisters, ages from 4 to 14. The eldest girl, 14, by her own statement before school authorities, was made to care for her younger brothers and sisters. One child was frost bitten because of inadequate clothing last winter. Another is said to bed ying of paralysis in a hospital. School lunches were inadequate. The foster mother, a woman of 30, will be permitted to keep the children only under rigid periodic investigation.

CHARGES POLITICS

William Windhorst, representative of the county's division of investigation, declared today:

"Many of the foster homes in the past have been recommended through political influence and investigation discloses wards should never have been placed in them. Hundreds of them are unsatisfactory and should have been recorded as such.

"The Juvenile Court lacks system and routine. Their visitors work around in circles and do not co-ordinate with probation officers. With proper direction of the chief probation officer, this thing should never have occured.

"All the credit in the world is due to Judge Lencher for the manner in which he is handling these cases."

FINDINGS OF BOARD

Results of an investigation made by the Board of Visitation at the request of Miss Grace Stoakes, chief probation officer of the Juvenile Court, had been partially revealed today by Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein, chairman of the board.

The home finding department Dr. Bernstein said, suffered not only from lack of training among its workers, but from an insufficient staff. The report also charged that "the choice of Juvenile Court officers under Miss Stoakes was not on a basis of fitness and training, but was made because of political pull."

Dr. Bernstein said these facts have been called to the attention of the courts and court officials during the last three years.

RENEW SEARCH FOR FLIERS

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE
International News Service.

MEXICO CITY, June 22.—Search for the missing Spanish trans-Atlantic fliers, Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, was renewed today after reports their plane had crashed at Guadalupe in the State of Tlaxcala were discredited.

It was previously reported their plane, the Cuatro Vientos, had crashed on a mountainside near the small village, and that Collar had been killed and Barberan seriously injured.

Later, however, it was stated at both the office of President Rodriguez and at the Spanish embassy that searching parties in Tlaxcala had failed to find any trace of the missing fliers.

COL. LINDBERGH PLANS FLIGHT

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is considering a flight to Greenland and Iceland this summer to take charge of an aerial survey of that territory for the Pan-American Airways System, of which he is technical adviser.

Juan T. Trippe, president of the system, said yesterday an expedition would sail late this month to carry on further studies of the northern trans-Atlantic flying route. If he is able to leave his duties here, Col. Lindbergh may join the expedition later by plane.

Mass Hop to U. S. May Start Saturday

ORBETELLO, Italy, June 22.—(INS.)—Commanders of the proposed Italian mass flight to Chicago today expressed hope the air armada might get started on its trip either Saturday or Sunday.

Repeated delays in the take-off have been caused by unfavorable weather conditions over the Alps and other complications. It had been hoped to start the 25 seaplanes on their trans-Atlantic flight this morning, but stormy weather prevented.

Franklin Dentist Dies; Mercury at 100

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 22.—(AP.)—Weakened by 100-degree heat, Dr. Louis Rickards, 63, dentist, died today. He was a brother of Gen. George C. Rickards, who died in January.

DEATH PLOT BOY ADMITS KILLING

CHICAGO, June 22.—(INS.)—Angelo Masso, 21, one of four youths held to the grand jury with Mrs. Bessie Opas for allegedly plotting the death of her husband, Marion, "couldn't be dared."

This was the reason Masso gave today for the murder of Homer R. Barnhart, whom he shot two years ago in an argument over a minor automobile collision. Trapped into a confession, Masso said he shot Barnhart after their automobiles scraped fenders. Masso said:

"I threatened to shoot him and hereplied: 'You haven't got nerve enough, I dare you.' I pressed the trigger twice. We got away."

Masso implicated his cousin, Joseph Devito, 22, as the owner of the death pistol. Devito was arrested.

Judge John Gutknecht ordered Mrs. Opas, Masso and three other youths held to the grand jury on charges of conspiracy to murder the blonde woman's husband, a well-to-do motor sales company owner.

Soviet Radio Aids Hunt for Mattern

MOSCOW, June 22.—(AP.)—The Soviet wireless station on Chukot Peninsula, near Alaska, has been ordered to establish contact with American stations to aid in the search for Jimmie Mattern, missing American aviator.

GIRL WAYLAID AND BEATEN IN PARK

'Youth in Cap' Pounces Upon Her on Way To Dormont Home

A "clubber" who lurked in the shadows of McKinley Park pounced upon Barbara Billups, 21, of 1616 McFarland road, Dormont, early today and after felling her with a series of blows attempted to attack her, according to a police report.

Bleeding from four deep lacerations on her head and shoulders, the girl screamed as she fought her assailant, attracting the attention of a passerby. The "clubber" ran as help sped to the side of stricken girl.

After receiving treatment at a nearby physician's office, the girl was removed to her home, where her condition was said to be serious. She will probably be removed to a hospital today, her mother, Mrs. John Billups, said.

Miss Billups told police that she was en route to her home after a visit with a girl friend in Knoxville. She walked, she said, because she lacked money for carfare.

Nearing Bausman street, on the edge of McKinley Park, Miss Billups said, the "clubber" stepped from the underbrush. His first blow glanced from her head to her shoulder. Twice more he struck and she fell to the ground.

Fighting and screaming, the girl beat off her assailant, whom she described as being young, with dark complexion and wearing a cap and a yellow sweater.

STORY 'FIXED,' BUCK CLAIMS

BARNSTABLE, Mass., June 22.—(AP.)—Cyril Buck, on trial for the kidnaping of Margaret (Peggy) McMath, resumed the stand in Barnstable Superior Court today for the completion of his cross-examination by District Attorney William C. Crossley.

Cyril is on trial with his brother Kenneth for the kidnaping of the girl who was taken from a Harwich school on May 2 and returned three days later after $60,000 ransom had been paid. The ransom was recovered in the home of Kenneth.

Cyril testified that at Woods Hole, where he was questioned, detectives stood by the stenographer who was making a transcript of his statements, and told him to delete certain things in the statements. He told Crossley:

"My statements were changed in that paper you hold in your hand."

Cyril said that his brother told him "there was a gang of bootleggers that had a cache of 800 cases of liquor that was behind the case."

Barbara Hutton's Prince Will Get $250,000 Yearly

PARIS, June 22.—(INS.)—In consideration for his signing of a marriage contract renouncing all claims to the colossal fortune of his bride, the former Barbara Hutton, of New York, Prince Alexis Mdivani has received a settlement of $250,000 a year, it was learned on reliable authority today.

The settlement was reported agreed upon during the lengthy negotiations between Prince Alexis and Franklin L. Hutton, father of the bride.

HEIRESS, PRINCE WED IN PARIS CATHEDRAL

Medieval Splendor Marks Rite; Barbara 'Loves' Crown

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service.

PARIS, June 22.—While extra police stood guard over the Russian Orthodox Cathedral, Barbara Hutton and Prince Alexis Mdivani were married by religious rites today in a scene of medieval splendor.

The ceremony followed by two days the civil marriage of the Woolworth heiress to the prince of a former principality of the Russian Empire.

Lighted by hundreds of candles, the church presented a spectable never equaled in Parris before. Servants dressed like admirals at a levee, with knee-breeches, plumed hats and long swords, greeted the guests, among them Berry Wall, famous boulevardier of a past generation, and Lili Damita, film star.

STEP ON MAGIC RUG

Everyone watched with tense interest as the couple approached the supposedly magic silken carpet leading to the altar.

An old omen holds that the first of the couple to set foot on the carpet will rule the house.

The prince and his bride put their feet down on the carpet at precisely the same time.

Four immaculately groomed young Russians with silk hats stood behind the bride, and four likewise were behind the groom. They alternately held the symbolic crown over the head of each.

Then the couple clasped hands, and the priests held their hands over the couple. The pair then marched around the altar table.

CROWN KNOCKED OFF

Out of the church, the newlyweds had to force their way through a crowd which had grown to 3,000, and the new princess was jostled by the curious. Her amber crown was knocked off and recovered.

Police had to form a wedge to make way through the crowds for the automobile in which the couple rode away alone.

As the ceremony was performed, Paris gossips estimated the amount spent on Miss Hutton's wedding totaled nearly $150,000. They arrived at this figure by these estimates:

Travel to and from the United States of a dozen relatives, other guests and servants—$30,000.

Expensive hotel accommodations, meals, wines—$40,000.

Expenses for today's wedding reception, including caviar and champagne—$10,000.

The daily round of receptions and parties, rarely attended by less than 12 to 16 guests—$15,000.

Reconditioning of the Russian Orthodox Church—$3,000.

Civil marriage fee and bequests to the poor—$1,000.

Miss Hutton's trousseau, including 80 new dresses—$15,000.

In addition to these items, another fortune has been spent in France for wedding gifts, jewels, jades and pearls.

The bride's father, Franklyn Hutton, is signing the wedding checks, since his daughter has not yet inherited her fortune.

JUDGE RENEGES IN BRIDGE SUIT

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Supreme Court Justice Bernard L. Shientag, who said he knows "absolutely nothing about contract bridge," reserved decision today on the suit of E. Hall Downes, of Pittsburgh, to restrain Ely Culbertson from advertising that his method of teaching the Culbertson system is the only "authorized" one.

To assist the court, counsel for both sides handed Justice Shientag a score of books written by both parties to the suit.

EX-PRINCE ASKS FORGIVENESS

EVIANS-LES-BAINS, France June 22.—(AP.)—The former Prince of the Asturias sent an emissary today to his father, former King Alfonso of Spain, begging forgiveness for his marriage yesterday to a Cuban girl.

The former prince, in marrying a girl not of royal blood despite his father's opposition, lost his rights as heir to the Spanish throne.

The newlyweds told the Associated Press they are "very happy."

EX-ICE OFFICIAL SUED BY WIFE

Mrs. Berly C. Davis, 51 Ralston place, Mt. Lebanon, today asked Judge Frank P. Patterson to grant her a divorce from John E. Davis, 4403 Center avenue, former manager of the North Pole Cold Storage and Ice Company.

Mrs. Davis charged indignities, declaring her husband humiliated her before her friends, drank to excess and told her that he had certain standards and that she did not come up to them.

SCORES ROUTED BY FLAMES

Eight families were driven out of their homes by fire that destroyed three houses and damaged another at Horning Mine No. 4 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation today.

The houses adjoined one another in a row, and all were occupied. No one was injured seriously, it was said, but one woman was reported to have suffered a burn on the hand.

Fire companies of Bethel and Baldwin Townships, Brentwood and Curry were summoned. Three of the dwellings burned quickly and the firemen confined their efforts to preventing the flames from spreading.

Company officials said the cause of the fire was not determined. There was no estimate of the amount of damage.

ACE SLEUTH HOT ON TRAIL IN TUB DEATH

Campus Tragedy Clues 'Delight' Modern Sherlock Holmes

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 22.—(AP.)—A scientific detective, Edward Oscar Heinrich, of Berkeley, Cal., placed his powerful microscopes on the Lamson mystery today and called upon his past experience in solving baffling crimes to aid him in unraveling the strange death of Allene Thorpe Lamson.

The noted criminologist, retained to aid the defense of David A. Lamson, 31, visited the Lamson home on the Stanford University campus where the state charges the University Press executive killed his wife, and declared he was "delighted" with the evidence he found.

To the house of mystery Heinrich brought his microscopes, cameras with strong lens, tape measures and other paraphernalia in an effort to determine how Lamson's attractive young wife met her death last Memorial Day.

Visualizing the details of crime and reasoning how criminals go about their deeds has been Prof. Heinrich's life work.

A watchman almost became the victim of a plot to take his life and Heinrich was called upon to examine a lemon pie which the watchman had eaten.

Heinrich turned his microscope upon the pie and discovered that the would-be murderer had sprinkled the top with deadly poison crystals.

Among the most noted cases in which Heinrich played leading role as a scientific detective were the D'Autremont train robbery, the slaying of Father Patrick Heslin, and the murder of beautiful auburn-haired Carmen Wagner.

Several years ago a train thundered through a tunnel in Southern Oregon. Bandits stopped the train, attempted to loot the mail car, and then ruthlessly killed the train crew and escaped.

OVERALLS AS CLUE

Apparently there were no clues. Heinrich found a pair of worn overalls, measured them carefully, inspected the pockets of the garment. By deduction, he found the overalls had been worn by a left-handed lumberjack, from wood chips which had lodged in the right hand pocket. He deducted how tall the man was and how much he weighed. He fitted other minute details together and solved the crime.

After an extensive search for the train robbers, three brothers were arrested. One was found enlisted as a soldier in the Philippines, and two were picked up in the Middle West. Hugh D'Autremont and his twin brothers, Roy and Ray, confessed and were sentenced to life in prison.

Father Patrick Heslin, a Catholic priest, was summoned from his home south of San Francisco one dark night by a stranger who said a man was dying. The priest failed to return from his errand of mercy. Later his body was found buried on the sand dunes of the beach.

TRAPS PRIEST'S SLAYER

William Hightower, an itinerant baker, later was arrested, but to prove he had anything to do with the murder appeared to be a difficult task, until Heinrich went to work.

The criminologist examined a knife found on Hightower. Under his microscope he discovered tiny shreds of rope. These fragments, invisible to the eye, proved to be of the same rope which Hightower had used in erecting a tent on the beach and in tying up the priest. Hightower went to prison.

ADMIT HATIAN TO AID SCIENCE

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Jean Joseph Ysneond Dauphin, 57-year-old Hatian Negro who claims medicine he took for asthma changed the color of his skin to pinkish white, was released from Ellis Island today.

Immigration officials announced they had received an order from the Department of Labor in Washington permitting Dauphin to resume his journey to Chicago, where he plans to give the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science a chance to check up on his story.

Dauphin had been detained at Ellis Island on a technical charge of illiteracy since his arrival from Haiti Monday. A board of investigation ordered him deported, but the ruling was reversed on appeal to Washington.

Marooned Girl, Youth Rescued From Island

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 22.—(AP.)—Shipwrecked on an uninhabited island with only an accordion saved from their possessions, a boy, a girl and a dog were back on the mainland today with no longing for the life of Robinson Crusoe.

Two 20-year-old cousins—June McCandless, of Boston, Mass., and William Beaumont, of Coronado, Cal.,—were cast upon the island Monday night when their small cat-boat piled up on jutting rocks of the South Island of the Coronado group, 20 miles southwest of San Diego. The dog and the accordion accompanied them.

They found fresh water to drink, tried to sleep for two nights while inconsiderate seals kept up a paean of barking and finally were rescued by the fishing boat Genoa.

New Father Arrested After Race With Stork

H. A. Balzer, unemployed machinist, was in East End Police Station, without $10 to pay his fine—and with a new Balzer baby born this morning in Magee Hospital.

Balzer, 53, of 1933 Watson street, had driven his wife to the hospital last night.

According to Adaline Gruber, 13, of 22 Oakland square, Balzer was backing out of a driveway when his car knocked the baby carriage out of her hand and tossed 11-month-old Sandra Gruber to the street.

Balzer was arrested and spent the night in jail for reckless driving. But today, before Magistrate J. Scott Morgan, he denied that his car had tossed the child out.

Balzer testified that he had parked his car and was walking on Parkview avenue when the 13-year-old girl upset the buggy on a curbstone, throwing the baby to the street.

The child was taken to Montefiore Hospital this morning. The wrecked carriage and a baby's water bottle smashed to pieces, were reported to the police.

Magistrate Morgan fined Balzer $10 with the alternative of five days in jail, not for reckless driving, but for driving without a license. He said he was unable to hold the man on a reckless driving charge because of the lack of confirming witnesses.

STABILIZATION BANNED BY ROOSEVELT

eventual stabilization had been promised. He said:

"With that end in view, the Conference will go on. The American reasons for non-stabilization at present are excellent and adequate."

Finance Minister Bonnet, of France, merely stated the American attitude was "clear," and added he was leaving for Paris tomorrow.

The American statement held that "undue emphasis" has been placed on efforts for temporary stabilization.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain, and Finance Minister Georges Bonnet, of France, were informed of the tenor of the American statement before it was issued.

Realizing it would force abandonment of stabilization efforts for the time being and place the burden of responsibility for continuation of the conference on French and British shoulders, they tried to dissuade Secretary Hull from issuing the statement.

They found the Americans firmly entrenched on this policy, which President Roosevelt had approved before the statement was issued.

TARIFF BARRIERS

In conformity with President Roosevelt's expressed belief that other measures are more necessary than currency stabilization, Hull promptly moved to translate words into action by presenting a resolution before the conference designed to decrease tariff barriers and all sorts of trade restrictions.

The resolution called upon the conference to declare itself in opposition to trade measures smacking of "rabid nationalism"—such as discriminatory tariffs, quotas and embargoes.

It called for removal "as quickly as possible" of all embargoes, quotas "and other abritrary restrictions" and set forth that "it is against common interest for a nation to adopt or continue a policy of extreme economic nationalism and to raise additional trade barriers and discriminations."

U. S. Delegates Warned By MacDonald

LONDON, June 22.—(INS.)—Reports were circulated in the World Economic Conference hall this afternoon that Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald had made representations to the United States delegation concerning the stalemate facing the parley.

The reports said that MacDonald, acting on behalf of various European delegations clamoring privately for action, conveyed a "diplomatic warning" to Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the United States must "buck' up' or risk taking responsibility for the impasse.

MacDonald's warning was understood to have been delivered through James M. Cox, of the United States, and Finance Minister Georges Bonnet, of France, following an animated conversation between Hull and Bonnett in full view of all the delegates in the upper lounge hall of the conference building.

IRELAND RAPS BRITAIN

LONDON, June 22.—(AP.)—The Irish Free State attacked the British government before the World Economic Conference today on the ground that Britain has imposed a punitive tariff against the Free State.

The attack was made by Senator Joseph Connolly, minister of lands and forests in the Dublin government, who spoke at a private meeting of the sub-committee on commercial policy.

Mr. Connolly said:

"You will appreciate how foolish it would be for our delegation to go on laboring toward the solution of tariff problems and restoration to 'normal conditions' in the interest of world economic peace without having this unique special punitive tariff policy, which is being applied to one of the weaker countries by one of the great world powers, brought to your notice."

BANDITS MISS CLARA BOW

HOLLYWOOD, June 22.—(INS.)—Three "mistake bandits" deprived Clara Bow, red headed "It" girl of the screen, of a new thrill today.

A daring holdup was staged on the estate where she was a guest, but Miss Bow was unaware of it until the bandit trio, armed with sawed-off shotguns, had departed.

The bandits entered a guest bungalow on the estate of Clarence Badger, where Miss Bow and her husband, Rex Bell, were guests, robbed Mr. and Mrs. William Schoen of an undetermined amount of jewelry and money and fled.

Detectives who investigated said they believed the bandits had intended to boldly enter the Badger home and rob Mr. and Mrs. Badger, Miss Bow, Bell and other guests, but had been frightened away after entering the bungalow "by mistake."

Montour Rail Hearing June 26

BEAVER, Pa., June 22.—Hearing on the injunction sought by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to halt the construction of the Montour Railroad from Smiths Ferry, Pa., to Youngstown, O., has been set for June 26 in the Beaver County courts.

American Statement In Stabilization Row

Undue Emphasis on Issue, U. S. Claims

LONDON, June 22.—(AP.)—Following is the text of the American stabilization statement issued today by the United States delegates to the World Economic Conference:

"Undue emphasis has been placed upon consideration of a plan proposed for temporary de facto stabilization of currencies.

"The fact is this never was an affair of the delegation. It was considered by representatives of the treasuries and central banks of the United States, Great Britain and France, Oliver M. W. Sprague having been especially sent to represent the United States Treasury for this purpose.

"The American government at Washington finds that measures for temporary stabilization now would be untimely.

"The reason why it is considered untimely is because the American government feels that its efforts to raise prices are the most important contribution it can make and that anything that would interfere with those efforts and possibly cause a violent price recession would harm the conference more than the lack of an immediate agreement for temporary stabilization.

"As to the ultimate objective, the American delegation has already introduced a resolution designed for ultimate world-wide stabilization of unstable currencies, and is devoting itself to the support of measures for the establishment of a co-ordinated monetary and fiscal policy to be pursued by the various nations in co-operation with the others for the purpose of stimulating economic activity and improving prices."

ASK AID IN WAR ON SWEATSHOPS

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today issued a call for volunteer workers to serve as factory inspectors at a salary of $1 a year.

The Governor said complaints coming to the Department of Labor and Industry as a result of the "sweatshop" investigation and the cut in the budget of the department makes necessary a call for volunteers.

He requested that all applications be sent to Miss Charlotte E. Carr, of the Department of Labor and Industry. The qualifications are:

Age, between 25 and 35; financially able to serve without pay, but with expenses paid while working in co-operation with the regular staff of the department.

It is especially desired by the administration that college graduates who have specialized in industrial problems shall apply.

Russian Delegate Confers With Hull

LONDON, June 22.—(Universal.)—Maxim Litvinoff, Russia's delegate to the World Economic Conference, has talked with Secretary of State Hull and Gov. James M. Cox, of the American delegation, it is learned, and expressed himself as very happy to have made those contacts.

The subjects they discussed were not disclosed.

GULDEN'S MUSTARD

DEBT PAYMENT PROMISED BY LITHUANIA

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Lithuanian today notified the State Department it intended to make a partial payment on the $132,091 June 15 instalment due this government.

Lithuania was one of the debtor nations which failed to make any payment on June 15. However, it did not give any notification of intention to default.

Hungary, which was due to pay $28,260 on June 15, notified this government last May it would be unable to make the payment.

Meanwhile, European nations which have defaulted on their debt payments today had a further warning from this government that they will not be permitted to join the debt revision parade of the non-defaulting nations here late this summer unless they clear up the default.

Estonia's request for a "friendly exchange of views regarding the possibility of reconsideration" of its total debt was ignored in the American reply to the Estonian note concerning the June 15 payment. Estonia defaulted on both its $266,370 December, and $264,322.50 June 15 payments.

Ignoring the request for a review, Acting Secretary of State Phillips, in his note to the Estonian minister, said:

"The government of the United States must, in all frankness, call attention to the problems raised by the failure of the Estonian government to meet the payment due on December 15, 1932, which have not yet been solved or even discussed between the two nations."

PARLEY IN ROW OVER SILVER

LONDON, June 22.—(INS.)—A turbulent scene took place today when the silver sub-committee of the World Economic Conference discussed measures of silver rehabilitation.

Silver-producing nations conflicted with countries holding large shares of silver stocks, according to Senator Key Pittman, chairman. He said:

"The United States and Mexico are trying to induce India and China to restrict marketing of silver, otherwise restrictions on mining of silver are futile."

Leg Broken During Parade, Marshal Leads to End

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., June 22.—(AP.)—The parade must go on, even if an ambulance is waiting for the marshal at the end of the route.

Maj. Oscar Brady, of Battle Creek, suffered a broken leg when his horse stumbled during the parade of the Michigan department, United Spanish War Veterans, at the annual encampment here yesterday.

Brady forced the horse to rise, waved away offers of aid and remained in the saddle until the parade was over. Then an ambulance took him to a hospital.

PAROLED YEAR, ROBBER JAILED

An ex-convict, paroled a year ago, was sentenced to go back to the penitentiary for a 17-year term today by Visiting Judge S. L. Reed, of Cambria County.

The man, Francis Hagean, 27, of 209 Hazelwood avenue, was convicted of robbing a Wilkinsburg drugstore and pleaded guilty to a dairy store holdup. Hagean had served three years for robbery when he was placed on parole for seven years. Judge Reed stipulated the 10 to 20-year term he imposed is not to begin until the man has served the seven-year parole period.

IDLE TO MARCH IN WILKINSBURG

A demonstration and parade of unemployed has been scheduled in Wood street, Wilkinsburg, for tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m.

The affair is sponsored by the Unemployed Councils and the Unemployed Citizens' League of Allegheny County.

Posters bill the demonstration as a protest against state cuts of 20 per cent in relief funds and in favor of increased grants to meet the rising scale of food prices.

STATE BOOSTS RELIEF CASH

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(AP.)—The State Emergency Relief Board yesterday granted $349,000 additional unemployment relief funds for June to 18 counties which had protested against the 20 per cent cut made by the board earlier in the month.

Gov. Pinchot said the additional grants were approved unanimously by the board.

Westmoreland county asked approximately $100,000 and was given $105,000, the increase being the result of an investigation of conditions in the county by the state board.

The amounts granted other counties included:

Armstrong, $6,400; Bedford, $6,000; Cambria, $10,000; Butler, $5,700; Clearfield, $38,000; Indiana, $17,000; Somerset, $9,300; Blair, $8,000, and Centre, $2,000.

GIMBELS—A MILLION DOLLARS IN JUNE

DODGE MARRIES WEEK AFTER DIVORCE

DETROIT, June 22.—(AP.)—John Duval Dodge, whose elopement with his high school sweetheart 15 years ago kept him from a full share in the Dodge motor millions and sent him to work as a garage mechanic, was embarked today on a second matrimonial venture.

Less than a week after his erstwhile childhood sweetheart, Marie O'Connor Dodge, obtained a divorce in the record time, for Michigan, of 24 hours, Dodge flew to Elkhart, Ind., last night and was married at 1 o'clock this morning to Dora McDonald Kline, of Detroit.

The bride was formerly Dora McDonald Cline, the daughter of Mrs. Alice E. McDonald, manager of an apartment building in Detroit. She was divorced in May, 1927, from Arthur S. Cline, a Chicago manufacturer.

The couple plans to fly East and sail for France to spend their honeymoon in Dodge's chateau.

It was last Friday that Mrs. Dodge was granted her divorce on grounds of desertion. It was announced that she was to receive a $300,000 settlement and that a $108,000 trust fund had been established for her nine-year-old daughter Mary Ann.

Dodge was about 20 and his bride 18 when they eloped in 1918 to Pontiac, Mich. The marriage was kept secret until the young Mrs. Dodge contracted pneumonia and told her parents she was married.

John F. Dodge, the young bridegroom's father and cofounder of the Dodge Bros. Corporation, was furious, reports at the time had it. At least young Dodge left home, finally taking a job as garage mechanic in El Paso, Tex., to support his wife. He was still there when his father died. When the will was read, he was cut off with $150 a month. He contested the will and finally reached an agreement with the other heirs whereby he was to receive $1,600,000, but a special act of the Michigan Legislature was necessary to legalize the agreement. Then the young couple traveled extensively before settling down in a fine home here.

A few years later, Dodge added another million to his share in his father's estate through a suit to participate in the share of a half sister after her death. He claimed he was immature when he signed the original agreement and did not realize his share of the estate should have been 10 times the amount he received. The case went to the Supreme Court, but he won.

OLD PALS 'PLAY' TRAGIC FINALE

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 22.—Two men, one a judge and the other a banker, were the principar actors in a drama in Marshall County Circuit Court today. Old friends, they had helped and watched Moundsville grow for many years.

The banker, Carl H. Hunter, former state senator, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging embezzlement of $3,416 from the closed Mound City Bank. His voice was low, scarcely audible.

The judge, James F. Shipman, reviewed their long friendship. In a whisper, he said:

LEAVES PUBLIC $20,000,000

DETROIT, June 22.—(INS.)—A $20,000,000 trust fund to be used without restrictions "for the benefit of humanity," was established in the will of the late Horace J. Rackham, multi-millionaire philanthropist, it was revealed when the will was filed for probate here today.

The trust fund is the largest ever known in this state.

The fortune, which grew from the original $5,000 invested in Henry Ford's struggling little automobile factory 30 years ago, consists mainly of government and municipal bonds.

STILL ON FARM OF M'SPARRAN

LANCASTER, Pa., June 22.—(AP.)—State and county police last night raided a still on the farm in the southern part of Lancaster County, owned, but not occupied, by John A. McSparran, state secretary of agriculture and prohibition law advocate.

Two men at work at the 75-gallon still when police arrived on the 300-acre farm escaped.

McSparran's son, Charles, accompanied the police, who reported residentts of the district had complained that waste from the still floated down a fishing stream.

Banking Hearing Delayed Until July

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(INS.)—A desire for more time to study data on the State Banking Department's operation of closed banks today prompted the Joint Legislative Investigating Committee to postpone its hearing from June 29 to July 6.

Duncan C. McCallum, secretary to Gov. Gifford Pinchot, is expected to be a witness at the July hearing along with Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking.

Killed by Hose

CAPT. EDWIN A. MORGAN

FIRE CAPTAIN'S INJURY FATAL

Capt. Edwin A. Morgan, 47, of Engine Company No. 59, Overbrook, was dead today from a fractured skull suffered Monday while directing a nose drill in Sawmill Run boulevard.

Capt. Morgan, who lived at 427 Bailey avenue, Mt. Washington, and Hoseman Paul McLaughlin, of the same company, were knocked down when the hose became unmanageable. The nozzle struck Morgan on the head and fractured McLaughlin's shoulder. McLaughlin is in Mercy Hospital.

Morgan, a member of the fire department 16 years and a captain for the last five years, was born on the South Side. He was a brother of the late City Detective John Morgan. He leaves two children, Sarah and Raymond, and four brothers, Frank A., Joseph L., Harry L. and George R., and a sister, Miss Catherine Morgan, all of Pittsburgh.

MORAL PUZZLE REVEALED BY SCIENTIST

lieve that human beings are born without any moral sense.

He found also that persons habitually moral in behavior always lapsed into immorality at times, and sometimes in the short space of from one minute to the next.

MORALITY CONFLICT

Even among persons of the highest intelligence and culture, he found that no two ever agreed exactly on what was moral and what was not.

One of the most interesting of Dr. Mira's experiments involved use of a "marriage unfaithfulness test." A total of 578 couples, or 1,156 wives and husbands, were made to consider a problem in which Peter, who adores his wife, discovers from a letter that his best man friend, Lewis, was on intimate terms with her.

Ten "solutions" were submitted for choice. Here was the result:

	M.	F.	Tot.
1—Challenge lover or pull woman friend's hair	49	18	67
2—Kill lover	5	8	13
3—Kill wife (or husband)	21	11	32
4—Revenge by making love to other party's mate	14	23	37
5—Catch lovers and get divorce	187	102	289
6—Separate but live in same house	7	24	31
7—Total private separation	103	185	288
8—Try to make mate's lover ridiculous	96	143	239
9—Forgive and try win back mate	48	23	71
10—Leave lovers and move away	45	44	89
Totals	578	578	1156

Dr. Mira designated as "surprising" that more women than men had a desire merely to "humiliate" the offending friend.

His address, which was titled, "A New Concept of Moral Behavior," had many other examples showing that most so-called "moral" acts are performed for the "personal advantage of the performers, and not at all for the greater good of society or spiritual good. He said:

"Even the highest moral conduct may result from motives or aims which in themselves, are immoral.

"Thus, for example, a percentage of the young men submitted to the blood transfusion test offered themselves with apparently admirable self-sacrifice to save the lives of unfortunate victims of supposed accidents, but later admitted they had done so in the hope of seeing a girl scantily clad in the operating room.

"A soldier, told his superior officer needed his blood, submitted with great alacrity only to confess later that he did so in order to transmit a blood disease to the officer, whom he hated."

Of 56 college students who took the blood transfusion test, only 13 per cent volunteered as donors. But 100 per cent of this same group demanded antidotes at once when told they had eaten poisoned candy.

BLOOD DONORS

The readiest blood donors in general tests were epileptics, who would suffer most from the operation. Athletes were next, prisoners next and soldiers fourth in the tests. The least willing were paranoiacs.

In a study of prisoners, Dr. Mira concluded:

"Those individuals generally considered to be the least adaptable socially or the most antisocial, are precisely the ones most capable of doing disinterested actions."

Tests on punishment among prisoners showed that murderers considered sex misconduct more serious than slaying; burglars were most harsh toward murderers and abnormal persons would punish all crimes but their own with equal harshness. Dr. Mira said:

"Fear, rage and love are the chief emotional conditions underlying behavior."

Six Stills Seized In Raids by Drys

Six stills and an automobile were confiscated by prohibition agents in five raids yesterday. Two were reported found in a house in Wheeler street, where the automobile, 70 gallons of moonshine and 4,936 gallons of mash were other seizures. The other stills were seized in homes in Plum way, Uptegraf street, Harmening avenue, Baldwin Township, and Harriett street, Rankin.

U. S. Files Suit Against Light Firm

The government filed a suit yesterday in Federal Court against the Duquesne Light Company, in which it seeks to recover $55,817.26 alleged to have been erroneously refunded for the taxable year of 1918.

The suit was filed by United States Attorney Louis E. Graham and Attorney John A. McCann, Pittsburgh representative of general counsel, Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Zionists to Make Chicago Pilgrimage

A special excursion train on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad will carry a group of Pittsburgh Zionists and sympathizers of the plan to the Chicago World's Fair July 1. The committee arranging the trip is headed by Max I. Amdur.

The object of the trip is to attend the National Zionist convention and take part in Jewish Day at the fair July 3.

Heart Attack Held Cause of Death

An autopsy on the body of Frank K. Dryer, 48, of Waynesburg, who died while being removed from the home of Paul Edelman, 2512 Josephine street, to South Side Hispital yesterday, disclosed heart attack as the cause, morgue attaches reported. Dryer and his brother-in-law, Harry Depoe, had been visiting the Edelman home since May 30.

18 STATES HOLD FATE OF DRY REPEALER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Eighteen states, spread fanwise from the Atlantic to the Pacific, today became the battleground for prohibition repeal as liberal leaders in the capital predicted victory within one year.

The test states appeared to be Vermont, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Oregon. These were the states in which the Senators either divided on the repeal issue or voted solidly against it when the proposed twenty-first amendment was submitted to the nation last February.

The liberals must win six of these states — along with 16 in which both Senators voted for repeal — to get the Eighteenth Amendment out of the constitution. The repeal leaders predicted this feat would be accomplished within another year.

The 14 states to ratify repeal have a population of about 46,000,000 people, or 37 per cent of the nation's total population. They cover 547,869 square miles, or about 18 per cent of the nation's area. Consequently, more than one-third of the people living in more than one-sixth of the nation have voted for repeal.

In 11 of these states, the Senators had voted solidly against prohibition. In two—Indiana and Delaware—they divided on the issue, but the repealists won anyway. In Iowa, both Senators voted dry—so the repeal victory there came as a smashing blow to the prohibitionists.

WETS IN OHIO SEEK COURT AID

COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—(AP.)—Anti-prohibitionists turned to the Ohio Supreme Court today in an attempt to forestall a state referendum on the Mosier law authorizing election of delegates to a convention to consider the question of retention or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The referendum is asked in a petition filed with the Secretary of State by S. P. McNaught, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, who says his organization has 284,403 signatures, approximately 130,000 more than required by law.

Hoping to prevent certification of the petition, described by McNaught as the "'biggest ever filed in Ohio," the State Repeal Council says it will appeal to the Supreme Court.

Sidney G. Stricker, of Cincinnati, attorney for the council, says he will seek an injunction restraining the Secretary of State from ordering the popular vote and compelling him to authorize election of convention delegates November 7.

Auto Thief Steals Diphtheria Germs

CHICAGO, June 22.—(AP.)—If the thief who stole Dr. E. C. Reynold's motor car and medical case values his life he won't play around with his loot. There were enough cultures of diptheria germs, he said, to start an epidemic.

INDUSTRY GAIN BOOSTS JOBS, PAY HERE

The pace of Pittsburgh's industrial machine spurted today as car loadings, jobs and pay boosts increased throughout the district.

With steel car loadings for the area for June estimated at 45 per cent of 1930's normal load, and general freight loadings for the 21 days of June 25 per cent ahead of the same period last year on the Pennsylvania, the city's first major industrial plant expansion was announced.

Eighty jobs for steamhammer men, arc welders, locomotive engineers and weavers were secured today by the Federal-State Employment Office here. This is the largest single bloc of jobs effected by the office.

The Rust Engineering Company has been awarded a contract by the Owens-Illinois Glass Company to build an extension to their warehouse at Huntington, W. Va., it was learned today. The extension will cost approximately $60,000 and will be started within a few days.

TIRE FIRM BOOSTS PAY

All employes of the Wade Tire Company, Pittsburgh Firestone representatives, have received a 10 per cent wage increase, according to A. G. Dezen, president.

A 10 per cent wage increase will go into effect July 1, for employes of the Buckeye plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company.

At least 500 additional men are expected to go back to work next Saturday and Monday when the Wheeling Steel Corporation will open its Benwood blast furnace and its Benwood steel plant, respectively. The furnace has been closed for two years.

ACTIVITY AT COAL MINE

Resumption of operations at the Chartiers Creek Coal Company, Canonsburg, began today, with employment for 125 men. A 10 per cent wage increase was given employes of the Buckeye Coal Company, Nemacolin.

In the Altoona district it was estimated that 3,000 persons have been recalled to factories and mills of Blair County. A new wool factory is under construction at Tyrone. The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, employing 750 men in plants at Tyrone and Williamsburg, reports the largest volume of production in 18 months.

BODY OF SUICIDE IDENTIFIED

The body of a man alleged to have ended his life in the basement of the Everett Apartments, 5420 Ellsworth avenue, where his estranged wife lives with her mother, was identified at the county morgue last night as that of Edward Holliday, 40, of West Third street, Dayton, O.

The identification was made by Thomas Price, a brother-in-law. Deputy Coroner Stanley Guzenski said he learned that Holliday, a mechanic, came here recently to effect a reconciliation with his wife, who filed suit for divorce in Dayton five weeks ago. The wife charged Holliday with drunkeness and with threatening her life, the deputy said.

Holliday shot himself shortly after calling on his wife. The body was found by the janitor.

SUSPECTS HELD IN STABBING

Joseph (Texas) Davis, 24, of 1021 Ivanhoe street, and Patsy Schipani, 21, of 1021 Vicroy street, two of six men sought in connection with the stabbing Tuesday night of Daniel Canofari, 22, of 3 Higden street, Hazelwood, were held in Central Police Station on suspicious person charges today, according to police report.

Canofari was stabbed in the back three times by the men who boarded a street car in which he was riding at Second avenue and the South Tenth Street Bridge. Canofari told police the assailants apparently had mistaken him for the participant in a fight in Hazelwood a week ago.

THREE NAMED IN STOCK SUIT

Mark K. Solomon, Arthur S. Guggenheim and Norman Allderdice, all of Pittsburgh, were named defendants in three suits filed yesterday in Federal Court by the receivers of the General Products Corporation, alleging they failed to pay for stock in the corporation, for which they were said to have subscribed.

According to the bills of complaints, the three defendants were officers of the corporation, which manufactures toilet articles. Frank S. Callander and O. T. Bielau, the receivers, seek to recover $5,000 from Solomon, $2,500 from Guggenheim and $2,000 from Allderdice.

$90,000 Left After City Pays Up Bills

WHITING, Ind., June 22.—(INS.)—Besides paying all its bills in cash as they came due, the city of Whiting today had $90,000 in the bank, of which only $45,000 will be needed, according to estimates, to meet all 1933 expenses.

A program of rigid economy has enabled the city to reduce its bonded indebtedness to $1,000, Comptroller John Tokarz explained.

South Side Man Drowns Bathing

Steve Tirpack, 33, of 142 South Sixteenth street, was drowned while bathing in the Ohio River at Davis Island, last night. The body, recovered a short time later, was taken to the morgue.

THREE WILLS NAME KIN

Guisseppi Rava, of the Nineteenth Ward, by his will probated yesterday leaves an estate valued at $10,300. His stepson, John Bernardi, was named executor.

Mary E. Sprague, of Homestead, by her will disposed of an estate valued at $7,300. John G. Silveus was named executor.

Nellie McCray by her will gave the property at 313 Natchez street to her nieces, Jane Ellen Wilson and Ruth V. Wilson and $1,000 each. The Pennsylvania Trust Company was named executor.

MOVE TO PROBE AIMEE'S BOOKS

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(INS.)—Lorrin Andrews, attorney for Myrtle St. Pierre, pretty Pasadena nurse, said today he was preparing an order to show cause why the books of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton's Angelus Temple should not be brought into court "to tell us why or how much, if at all, the church of Mrs. Hutton is paying Dave."

Miss St. Pierre seeks to collect $5,000 heart balm judgement won from David Hutton, husband of the evangelist.

Andrews said he had been unable to locate Hutton.

Mrs. Hutton is reported to be in Paris.

RODGERS FIELD TO BE USED BY ARMY

The local bombardment squadron here of the United States air forces will continue to use Rodgers Field as their headquarters for the time being at least, it was decided at a conference of Army officers and the County Commissioners at the airport yesterday. The Army field, however, will be abandoned sometime soon and the headquarters moved to the county airport.

Maj. Hal Bazley, manager of the county airport, declared the change would be made as soon as the county had improved the rating of the municipal airport as requested by Department of Commerce representatives. The Commerce Department has requested that the county lengthen one of the runways. This change is to be made by shifting the present runways and will require no additional expense.

The county is now negotiating with the Carnegie Steel Company for the purchase of additional property along the south side of the field.

Attending the conference yesterday were Commissioners C. M. Barr and W. D. Mansfield, Manager Bazley, Director of Parks A. M. Marion, O. D. Murphy, of the Commerce Department; Col. J. E. Fickel and the Army Air Corps staff, and Capt. Samuel Eaton, of Rodgers Field.

Herron to Attend Grotto Pilgrimage

With Mayor John S. Herron and Councilmen Harry A. Little and William Soost, a party of some 300 pilgrims from Islam Grotto will travel to Chicago Monday to attend the annual supreme council session of the Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm. Past Monarch Walter F. Weberg is general chairman of the trip, which will be headed by Monarch Ralph H. Axthelm.

Seeks to Divorce Wife for 'Cruel' Economy

OAKLAND, Cal., June 22.—(AP.)—Chester M. Biggs' wife, Mrs. Helen Constance Biggs, was inexpensively cruel, he complained in a divorce suit.

Biggs, a railroad freight agent, charged:

Mrs. Biggs refused to wear silks or satin.

In order to avoid nagging, he was forced to pretend clothes he purchased for her cost from $15 to $20 less than their actual price.

He urged her to open as many charge accounts as she could and she refused.

U. P.'S TO HEAR DR. SPEER

The Rev. Dr. Robert E. Speer, general secretary of the Board of Foreign Mission of the Presbyterian Church, will speak at a devotional meeting in First United Presbyterian Church Tuesday preliminary to the celebration here of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the United Presbyterian Church, beginning Wednesday.

Dr. Speer

The Rev. Dr. C. E. Shaeffer, president of the Home Missions Council of North America, will speak at the First Church Wednesday morning.

The Rev. Dr. A. J. Randles, president of the Board of Administration, will preside. A number of other well-known clergymen will talk.

The General Assembly of the church will convene in the First Church Wednesday night, with the Rev. Dr. C. S. Cleland, pastor of the Second Church, Philadelphia, as moderator. It will close with communion service in Syria Mosque Sunday afternoon.

The national convention of the Young People's Christian Union will begin at that time in Syria Mosque. The Women's General Missionary Society will convene in the First Church, North Side, Wednesday afternoon.

LANGLEY CLASS FETE TONIGHT

Langley High School and Knoxville Junior High School will hold their commencement exercises tonight and tomorrow night, respectively.

"Langley High School—the First Decade," will be the general theme of the exercises of that school, to be held in Carnegie Music Hall. The school orchestra will play and students will sing.

Knoxville High School will present "Junior High School on Parade" at exercises tomorrow in Knoxville Presbyterian Church. Speakers will represent various departments of the school. There will be musical renditions.

Two From Here Seeking Pardons

Two Allegheny County prisoners are among 25 to be granted a hearing by the State Board of Pardons, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg. The men are Otto Parson, convicted of voluntary manslaughter, and Frank Dombek, convicted of murder.

You Can Have Happy Handsome Feet for $8.50-$9

What foolish folly to hobble through life "halt and lame," with corns, bunions, ingrown nails, painful arches and weak, hurting feet, when a little journey to our store here will start you off on the road to happy, handsome feet.

Take hold of yourself and come in here to our store today. Let our experts study your foot troubles. Then let them fit your feet expertly with the good-looking Ground Gripper Shoe you need. In a month or so, you will find it a joy to stand and walk all day.

One of our customers said, "People limp into your stores and walk out," and nine out of ten of them walk in Ground Grippers for life. You couldn't hire them to change. This is not an empty claim. It is a fact shown by our customers' record. Ground Grippers cost only $9 for men; $8.50 for women (most styles); $6.50 for growing girls; $5.50 for boys; and a special sale of children's shoes, $1.95 to $2.95.

The biggest day in South America is "manana" (tomorrow)—but the biggest day in your life will be today if you come in today and let us start you on the road to happy, handsome feet. Ground Gripper Shoe Shop, 303 Stanwix Street, Pittsburgh. Copyright, 1933, G. G. S. S.

Safe and Sane Reducing for the Housewife!

Mrs. Christine Frederick, distinguished authority on household effiiciency, says that any woman who weighs more than ten per cent above the ideal weight for her type and her age, is getting into the "dangerous zone." A few months ago Mrs. Frederick was dangerously overweight. What did she do to successfully reduce? She changed from a "42" to a "perfect 36."

ARSON WITNESS TELLS OF DELAY

CLEVELAND, June 22.—(AP.)—The state's key witness in the arson murder trial of Ray I. Turk testified yesterday that three months before the Ellington Apartments burned with a loss of 18 lives, a member of an arson gang told him Turk was "not ready for a fire yet."

Abe Redlich, convicted in Pennsylvania on an arson charge, asserted from the stand that L. J. Kamons, of Pittsburgh, whom he describes as a professional firebug," was the man who told him.

Turk is charged with murder in the perpetration of arson in the fire at the Ellington Apartments a year ago. He was part owner of a barber and beauty supply concern with offices in the Ellington Building, and the state charges he arranged for the burning of the shop so that insurance on it might be collected.

JUDGES TARGET FOR JIBES

Jokes at the expense of judges and lawyers will feature the fifth annual gridiron luncheon of district attorneys, county detectives and Criminal Court clerks and tipstaffs Monday noon in the William Penn Hotel. Judges Samuel H. Gardner and Frank P. Patterson, who presided over the court during the last court year, will be guests of honor, and probable targets for some of the jibes.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park will again be "roastmaster."

Police Answering Suicide Call Find Dummy

With sirens screaming and its motors roaring, a police auto sped from the North Side Police Station last night to West Park, near Lake Elizabeth.

A moment before a telephone call had been received telling police a man had committed suicide in the park; his body hanging in a tree.

The brakes screechd as the police car stopped. Out jumped a trio of police. The "body" was cut down. It proved to be only a dummy.

10,000 ATTEND SCHOOL PICNIC

Strips of amusement tickets replaced school books today as 10,000 children gathered in Kennywood for one of the larger city school outings. Four Mt. Washington elementary schools and a junior high school are picnicking, as well as the Allen, Montooth, Beltzhoover and Bon Air schools.

S. L. Lowry, principal of the Cargo, Whittier and Boggs Avenue schools, and H. P. Roberts, of the Prospect Elementary and Junior High schools, and A. R. Dean, assistant principal, are on a committee with John J. Zelch, Harry F. Leonard, George M. Steffey, Albert H. Goetz, A. E. McClune, W. L. Schaeffer, and P. J. Richenbach. Miss Maud C. Turner, principal of the Montooth School; William A. Dannels, of the Allen, and T. J. McKnight, of the Beltzhoover and Bon Air schools, have charge of those outings.

STAR WINS WIFE FROM RENO

RENO, Nev., June 22.—(INS.)—After less than two weeks residence here with the announced intention of divorcing Huntington R. "Tack" Hardwick, Boston socialite and one time famous Harvard football star, Mrs. Margaret Stone Hardwick has been reconciled with her husband and will return to him at their home in Brookline, Mass., within a day or two, it was learned today.

Mrs. Hardwick, who has been living at a dude ranch in the Washoe Valley 20 miles south of Reno, could not be reached for comment on the reconciliation, but it was learned definitely that she will leave at once on her return trip East.

Jobless Father Plans Robbery, Gives Self Up

CHICAGO, June 22.—(AP.)—The inner voice was stronger than the inner man in John Paulauski, so he couldn't force himself to rob.

The 30-year-old father of three yesterday walked into a police station, surrendered his gun and confessed his failure, police said.

Unemployed and with an empty larder at home, he had gone out to rob to buy food, but his conscience would not allow him, he told police.

Canonsburg Woman Struck by Machine

CANONSBURG, Pa., June 22.—Struck by an automobile last night, Miss Maude Charlton, 54, suffered a broken leg.

BEGS BOYS CURB WANDERLUST

The Pittsburgh boy who is smitten by the lure of the road was advised to stay at home today by Fredericka F. Hays, executive secretary of the Travelers Aid Society, who has observed hundreds of boy transients here.

The boy travelers for the most part are intelligent youths, she said, but at best have encountered sordid circumstances and suffered damage to health. She cited instances in which boys had been seriously injured or died here. She urged parents, ministers and teachers to do their best to dissuade young persons from joining the army of transients drifting about the country.

Why shouldn't I say nice things about Luckies?

I must confess that I enjoy smoking more and more. Maybe it's because I started with a cigarette that suits me right. Luckies are so very mild. I like the fine taste of their tobaccos—and because I'm so sensitive to personal daintiness—for, after all, my cigarette touches my lips—I particularly welcome the added assurance of purity which "Toasting" affords. Whenever I hear comments about cigarettes—I always say, "But Luckies are different." And then I would say some nice things about "Toasting". To hear me you'd think that I discovered "Toasting"—but that's just my way. I like to root for things that please me. And certainly—"Luckies Please!"

Piles Go Quick

Or Money Back

Thousands of Pile sufferers have not yet learned that permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine that will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy, and called his prescription HEM-ROID. He prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 360 cases, and then decided to make it possible for Pile sufferers everywhere to benefit by his discovery.

HEM-ROID is so successful even in chronic and stubborn cases that we invite every Pile sufferer to try it and guarantee money back if it does not end all Pile misery.

SHOPPING CARE GAINS IN MENU PRIZE QUEST

Shopping for dinner foodstuffs by the women of Pittsburgh and vicinity has developed into a serious proposition since the $100 weekly cash prize Prudence Penny Dinner Menu Contest was inaugurated by the Sun-Telegraph.

This is particularly reflected in the entry of one woman from Avalon who lists the names of seven retail dealers from whom she had purchased the various items in her menu. This is only one instance of many where the same careful attention was given to the buying.

From information disclosed in many letters it is evident that heretofore but few women have given their food shopping the really careful study that had been promoted by this contest. Consequently these are the days when the housewife is shopping in earnest in an honest effort to show what she can do with the problem in the question: "Can four persons be served a well-balanced, appetizing dinner menu at a cost not to exceed $1.50?"

In the meantime, Contest No. 2 is now on. It is based on the same question and the judges will again select the best menus submitted this week for the awarding of another $100 in cash prizes. Bear in mind that none of the menus sent in last week will be considered in this week's judging unless they are re-submitted and marked for "Contest No. 2."

Today the judges are completing the selections of the prize winners for Contest No. 1, and it is hoped that the names and the winning menus will be ready for publication tomorrow.

On another page of today's Sun-Telegraph there is an entry blank and complete set of rules for the dinner menu contest. If additional blanks are desired, they can be obtained for the asking at any of these leading stores: Clover Farm, Triangle, Krogers, Butlers, Donahoes or McCann's.

Housewives will find this an interesting and easy way to win liberal rewards. The first prize is $25 in cash.

BOYS BOLT PEN AFTER KILLING

GATESVILLE, Tex., June 22.—(AP.)—Search for four youthful inmates, who escaped from the state reformatory here about the time Will Leonard, reformatory blacksmith, was beaten to death with an ax, centered today around Meridian, Tex.

The fugitives were Grady Applegate, 16; Willard Scott, 17; James Anderson, 16, and Clarence Raines, 16.

Other inmates informed J. H. McLellan, superintendent of the institution, that the four youths fled in Leonard's automobile. The car was found abandoned at Meridian.

Senate to Probe Firing of State Aide

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(INS.)—Senator Frank L. Fay, Mercer, chairman of the committee named to investigate the State Securities Commission, gave assurance today that the recent dismissal of Charles E. Asnis, Philadelphia, as a member of the commission will be considered. Gov. Gifford Pinchot said Asnis was well aware of the reason for his dismissal.

Flees Altoona Jail In Stolen Machine

ALTOONA, Pa., June 22.—(AP.)—In the county jail for stealing an automobile, Waldo McWhirter, 19, quietly departed while fellow-prisoners were eating dinner and was last seen heading east on the main highway in another stolen car.

HEALTH OFFICERS WARN AGAINST NEW PLAGUE!

● Health Departments, handicapped by cities' lack of funds for garbage removal, issue new warnings against rat invasion. RATS SPREAD DANGEROUS DISEASES. These public enemies must be stamped out!

● The safest and surest way to kill rats, mice and cockroaches is to use STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE. Rats eat it and rush for water and fresh air to die outside. Directions in 15 languages in each package. U. S. Gov't. buys Stearns'. Used successfully for 55 years. Results guaranteed or money refunded.

● Only 35c in boxes or tubes, enough to kill hundreds of pests. Sold everywhere—ask your dealer for it.

Roaches

Roaches come from nests to eat Peterman's Roach Food. Crawl back and die—leaving NO ODOR. Young and eggs are killed. Guaranteed to rid quickly. Used in a million homes. At druggists.

PETERMAN'S ROACH FOOD

What Makes a Safe Tire? ...I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented "no breaker" construction—a mail order house, high stretch "elastic" cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 14 consecutive years, the most gruelling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone.

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the world.

See Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building at "A Century of Progress," Chicago.

BLIND HOME FIRE -:- Rin-Tin-Tin Takes Part In Story of Blaze Here -:- DRAMA ON AIR

Vallee Brings Guild Stars To Radio

Ignoring his own peril, a Pittsburgh blind man groped his way through a flaming building to save his dog—tied helplessly in a rear room on the second floor.

The time: October 5, 1931. The place: The Boulevard of the Allies workshop of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind. Remember?

The man was Eugene Miller, 50, of 6342 Martha street, a chairmaker . . . and his dog, who for 10 months had guided Miller through crowded downtown streets, was "Billy."

Tonight at 8:30 an extensive NBC blue network, with KDKA as the local outlet, will carry a re-enactment of the episode as this week's "Rin-Tin-Tin Thriller."

A sound-effects background, recalling graphically the fire which, centering in a supply room, periled nearly 100 blind workers, also is included.

Bordoni, Frank Fay

Music, humor and drama, blended a la Vallee, again take the Thursday night radio spotlight on WCAE at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Lehman Speaks

Directing her remarks to 1933's college graduates, Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, wife of the Governor of New York, issues a warning about New York at 5 p. m. during a special CBS-WJAS broadcast.

Johnny Johnson plays his farewell Willows-WWSW program at 11 tonight. Jimmy Garrigan's orchestra will step into the spot for two weeks beginning tomorrow, with Ted Lewis booked for a one-night stand Saturday.

'Rudy and I'

"Rudy and I," WWSW quarter-hour program featuring a boy and his dog, moves to the 5:45 spot . . . On the same station at 10:15 a. m. the Red Star Aces and the Rambling Dutchman bow commercially on a daily, except Sunday, schedule.

Tamara, Russian Gypsy Singer, and Kiriloff and his Balalaika Troupe board the Show Boat on WCAE at 9 for guest billing. As an added feature, Helen Oelheim sings "I Might Be Your Once in a While."

The true story of what happened when a boarding house proprietress in a mining camp was given a small claim by a boarder unable to pay his bill is the KDKA "Death Valley Days" drama . . . 9 p. m.

'Pathetique'

For the music lovers—Tchaikovsky's Symphony "Pathetique," by the Century of Progress Festival Orchestra, KDKA at 10 . . . Maude Rooney singing "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," WJAS at 10:45 . . . and Kathleen Stewart, pianist, playing Charles Griffes' seldom-heard work, "The White Peacock," WCAE at 4:15.

Widow of Edison On Air Tomorrow

With "Leisure After Many Years of Drudgery" as her topic, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, widow of the inventor, will speak over NBC-WCAE tomorrow at 3:30 p. m.

'The Queen'

From the stage comes Judith Anderson to offer a scene from Maxwell Anderson's prize play, "Elizabeth the Queen," during Rudy Vallee's weekly WCAE show at 8 o'clock tonight.

Ian Keith Stars In 'Devil's Call' Radio Drama

Revealing highlights in the life of Europe's most mysterious financier, "The Devil's Call" is presented today on Station WFBG, Altoona, at 3 p. m.

WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va., 1:30 p. m.
WHBC, Canton, O., 2 p. m.
WKBN, Youngstown, O., 4 p. m.
WALR, Zanesville, O., 5 p. m.
WJAC, Johnstown, 5:15 p. m.

The play is based on an article published in the next issue of the American Weekly, big feature magazine distributed each Sunday with the Sun-Telegraph. Ian Keith, noted stage and screen star, portrays the leading role.

Local Highlights on WJAS Tonight

Eddie Peyton promises to offer a medley of numbers made successful by Guy Lombardo at 11:30.

The Weston Sisters return for another quarter-hour program at 7:30.

Dr. Springer continues his timely discussions at 7:15.

Ford Going on Air, Assembles New 8-Cylinder Program

By AIRCASTER

It seems that the conscientious objections to commercial radio, cherished for 10 years by Henry Ford, have been brushed aside and the pioneer auto manufacturer has decided to embrace the kilocycles—as forecast herein some weeks ago.

Whatever inhibitions Henry Ford had nursed appear to have been inundated by his fresh enthusiasm in the task of devising a program, which he hopes, will match, if not exceed, those wafted regularly by rival manufacturers.

The first confirmation of the recently circulated report that Ford would go for radio in a big way, was registered in Cleveland where an audition was held on Tuesday.

The show was piped over radio wires to the N. W. Ayer agency in New York. Undoubtedly, many more auditions will be staged before broadcast dates, if any, are decided upon.

Bestor and Ethel

Don Bestor, whose excellent orchestra has climbed to fame in recent months, has been selected to provide the music for the candy show, which starred Phil Spitalny before quitting the air for the summer. It is Bestor's first commercial. The show will be resumed in August, and will feature also, Ethel Shutta and Walter O'Keefe.

This will be the first time in her life that Ethel Shutta has sung for the mike to the music of another band than that of her husband, George Olsen.

Harry Horlick wires me from Chicago that he has just completed a one-man survey, making, he claims, the first constructive use of fan mail.

He has undertaken, says he, to ascertain the preferences of the radio audience, by replying to fan letters and inclosing a questionnaire. To date, Horlick has sifted the preferences to this order of preference:

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

How to keep cool?

That is the paramount question for globe trotters to consider at the moment.

If you will be good enough to send in your ideas on the subject I'll trade them with some of the other folks' suggestions and that way we can keep all the globe trotters thermostatically satisfied.

Don't get peeved is one good rule.

"If ever there is a time to be philosophical this is the time," says James L. Thompson. "Getting angry only causes the blood to boil from the inside."

H. L. Browning's sure method is to get into a cold tub and stay there.

Am advised by Robert P. Franklin that the Ancient Order of Hibernians have scheduled a Hurling Match at their forthcoming Kennywood Park picnic.

He says hurling to Ireland is like baseball to America, and the contest scheduled is the first to be played in Western Pennsylvania.

The game is a mixture of lacrosse and football which indicates that it is far from a mild form of amusement.

Globe-Trotter Schedule

Flashing the latest news to WCAE and WJAS dialers direct from the editorial rooms, Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, goes on the air daily at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

It Is Not Wise to Ridicule Youngsters 'in Love'

"Puppy Love"—

Is that what you say, when Johnny first begins to notice the girl next door, or Mary gets dreamy-eyed over the big quarterback on the school football team?

Something to laugh at—to wise-crack about—

Is that the way you look at the first dawning of love in young hearts?

The chances are it is. Most of us take it that way, forgetting days when our world was new, and beautiful, and unspoiled—as Wandas' family is forgetting.

And "What possesses her?" wails Mother. "She neglects her lessons, and suddenly takes to polishing her nails, and having those dreadful tantrums and crying fits.

"Why does she jump and blush so every time the phone rings, and then go around giggling and simpering if it happens to be for her?

"And lookit how she swipes her sister's clothes and my rouge, to doll herself up when the gang comes in for an evening, or asks her out.

"Why, she doesn't act like Anything Human ever since that Silly Little Jones Boy began hanging around the house. And he's just as goofy! Honestly, the Kids Are a Scream!"

That's the Family's verdict—sister's, mother's and all.

ENTITLED TO RESPECT

But—are they Just a Scream?

Should youngsters be made the butt for jokes, for ridicule, for heckling and meddling and malicious teasing, because Life has suddenly burst upon them and set them dizzy with yearning delight?

"Well, for crying out loud!" I hear you snort. "You certainly don't mean that we should take them seriously, do you?"

No? Why not?

Now get me—

I don't mean that the youngsters are desperately and permanently in love at 16. I don't mean that they should be allowed to treat themselves too importantly, or to be encouraged in their notion that they have found life's Big Romance.

But I do mean that they're entitled to respect. They're entitled to respect, because this period isn't puppy play. It is a solemn and beautiful entrance into the serious business of Life; and they need understanding, sympathy and respect if they're to find themselves and their place in the scheme of things.

SHOULD HELP YOUNGSTERS

Wise-cracks, ridicule, cynical snorts, will twist and distort that new-found wonder, until they're self-conscious and awkward and shamed about it.

That's what's happening to Wanda, who cries in outraged fury:

"Why can't they let me alone? Why can't they stop making everything seem so ugly and silly?"

Is that what you're doing to your youngster?

Or are you helping that youngster to meet experience sanely and smoothly and happily, so that Life can be the brave, shining adventure it was meant to be?

Do you wise-crack about "Puppy Love"—or do you remember clover-scented June moons of your own, and give the kids a break?

"Love and More" Makes Marriage a Success, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

June is the month of marriages.

We see countless happy couples in love, marry, and wish them all well.

Marriage is the most important contract two persons can make. They should live up to it as faithfully as they would any other contract.

It takes love and more to make a successful partnership of marriage. There must be also consideration, confidence, loyalty and an endless effort to be always worthy of each other.

It is usually outside influences that bring discord into a harmonious home. Let nothing or no one undermine your peace and happiness. Face all outside problems together with understanding and unchanging preference for each other.

After all, life is but living one day at a time. Make each day a pleasant one.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Underwood's Arrival Forestalls Possible Jealous Outburst

Hugh and I were never to know what might have been Dicky's further comment upon Hugh's care of me. Even as he opened his lips to reply, Harry Underwood rushed up to us, demanding feverishly:

"Marion! Where is she?" Then, as he saw me carried in Hugh's arms, he added: "Good heavens, Madge, are you hurt?"

I answered his first question immediately.

"Marion is safe with Ronald over by the fence; and I only have a twisted ankle. Are both those gangsters secured?"

"We have both of them fast," he answered. "Where's Owen?"

"Tied up over by that big tree," I said.

"Then we'll pull our freight from here, as soon as we can plan what's best to do with these assorted gentry of gangland. Hugh, suppose you and Dicky put your great minds on this job while I collect Marion and Ronald. Which way along that fence do I look?"

"To the right," I answered, and then Marion's lilting voice, very close to us, called softly:

"Dad! Oh, Dad! We're here! We couldn't wait."

Harry Underwood's deep voice boomed out a fervent "Thank God" and the next second Marion was in her stepfather's arms, alternately laughing and crying in sheer relief from the terrible strain to which her nerves had been subjected.

ROMANCE RETURNS

"There; there; Sweet!" The big man comforted her as if she had been a baby. "It's all over now, and we'll get you back to mother just as soon as we can."

"Has Carolyn gone back to her mother yet?" Marion asked anxiously. "If she has, and she can't tell what has happened to me, mother will be crazy."

"I know, darling," Mr. Underwood reassured her. "That is why we haven't sent Carolyn back to the hotel yet. Her mother is still under the opiate, and so she, Carolyn and Mary—in fact, all the rest except those of us that are here—are awaiting at a farmhouse to which Dr. Barnes sent us. But I forgot. You don't know anything about what we've been doing."

"Oh, yes, I do. Ronald has been telling me all about it. Oh, Dad! It was he who saved me, you know. He fought that beast, Owen, and Owen had knifed him, and he's awfully weak, but all right. Ronald, where are you?"

Pride and something more were in her voice, and I told myself that there were shoals ahead for Lillian if she persisted in her dread of romance for Marion.

"I'm right here." The words were commonplace, but the inflections of Ronald's voice fairly shouted "I love you," for all the world to hear. It was plain that in the hectic moments since Marion's escape, these two had buried deep the memory of their angry, bitter parting, and were back in the halcyon days before Marion had been dazzled by Charles Owen's attention.

RONALD COMPLIMENTED

No, not back where they were. I corrected that deduction quickly. An experience such as this they had shared would advance them farther along the path of romance than a year of ordinary companionship would send them.

Harry Underwood's left arm still encircled his beloved stepdaughter, but his right hand went out to Ronald.

"Thank you, lad!" he said in a tone that was like an accolade.

"You did a good job, son," Dicky supplemented, and did not wait for Ronald's low "thank you" to add impatiently:

But, say, brothers, when are we going to start homeward?"

"Some of us can start immediately," Mr. Underwood replied. "Marion, Ronald, Madge, with some of us three, together with Wynne or Brock, and one of the men, can get into our car and beat it for Henry's farmhouse, while the rest of us can pile these trussed birds into their own car and cart 'em along to the same place, only a few minutes behind you."

"Oh, no;" I cried in sudden, unreasoning terror. "We must all go together. I can't stand it if anybody is left with those awful gangsters."

"Now, is that nice, Babe?" Nick's voice said a bit unsteadily, but mockingly, "So loving with me just a little while ago, and now calling me a gangster? I told you I wa'n't no gangster."

Household Hints

White turnip, well grated and mixed with a little mustard and vinegar, is an excellent substitute for horseradish.

The best and quickest way to clean badly-stained medicine bottles is to put in a teaspoon of vinegar, then a few grains of rice, and shake well. When rinsed, the bottles will be quite clean.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Expressing Thanks

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been going about with a young man for almost two years. We are not engaged as we are both young, and this depression has hit us.

His mother has invited me to their home for dinner many times, and then we usually leave and go to the movies in the evening. His father always drives us to the theater. I thank him for it, and that is about all. I thank his mother in this manner . . . is it correct?

"Mrs. Knowles, I want to thank you very much for inviting me over for dinner. I appreciate it very much, for I have spent a pleasant evening." S.

Your expression of appreciation for these kind invitations is a very fine one. I have just one or two suggestions to make about the wording, but they are simple ones. The first is to omit that "over" in your first sentence. So many people include this . . . no matter what the direction of the house may be from their house . . . but it isn't necessary and is better omitted. Then better, too, than "for dinner" is "to your home" or "to dine with you." Omit the "I want to," and then your first sentence will be: "Thank you very much for inviting me to dine with you." Don't you think that this is easier to say?

Then I have only one suggestion for your second sentence—change "for" to "and." "I appreciate it very much, and I've had such a pleasant evening."

Clergyman's Fee

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married very soon at the home of our minister, with only the immediate family present. It is to be very simple, very informal. I am puzzled as to what is the customary fee for the minister, and who gives it to him, and whether it is given before or after the ceremony? C.

The groom gives the fee to the clergyman, usually after the ceremony. At such a simple wedding, in the home of the minister, he himself would probably hand the fee to the clergyman. At a formal wedding in church, the groom usually gives the clergyman's fee to his best man, and the best man goes to the vestry, after the ceremony, and gives the clergyman this fee.

There is no definite rule about how much this fee should be . . . it depends entirely on the "budgeting" of the groom, his generosity, and the circumstances in general. For such a simple wedding as you plan, this fee may be from two to $5, or more if the groom wishes.

Contract Bridge

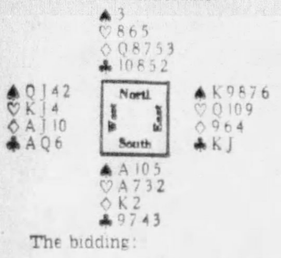
HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Lucky Lead

Quite often an unorthodox lead is the only one that can defeat a contract, as Mr. F. W. Clarke, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., pointed out in connection with the hand below. When an unconventional lead does bring about this happy defensive result, usually the Declarer and his partner bewail the fact that a lucky lead was responsible for their defeat when quite often the leader was able to deduce from the bidding of his opponents and his partner just what lead might have a chance of defeating the contract.

West, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 NT	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

The story of the play as given by Mr. Clarke:

"I was sitting in the South seat and had the Opening lead. From our opponents' bidding I judged that my partner must hold practically a bust, and because of the vulnerable notrump bid on my left, I felt that my King of diamonds would probably be trapped, almost eliminating any chance our partnership had of setting the contract; so I decided to open the King of diamonds, hoping that my partner might hold the Queen, which would permit me to ruff the third round of diamonds. My King was won with the Ace in Dummy.

"The Declarer, thinking that a third round of diamonds might be trumped, probably by North, led a low club from Dummy, winning with the King in his hand, then returned a club and discarded a diamond on the third club lead. The Queen of spades was led and I passed this trick up, the Knave of spades followed, North showed out, the Declarer played low, and I won with the Ace.

"I then led the deuce of diamonds, my partner winning with the Queen and returning that suit. East trumped with the 9 of spades, but I overtrumped with the 10-spot, and led my Ace of hearts for the setting trick. Both East and West complained bitterly that a lucky lead had been responsible for setting what seemed to be a sure game contract, never for an instant realizing that South's reasons for leading the King of diamonds were more than sound."

I fully endorse this reasoning and play.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold:

♠ A 10 7 6 ♡ J ◇ A Q 9 4 3 ♣ K Q 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	Pass	2 ◇	2 ♡

You are South, not vulnerable. What do you bid?

Answer: Two spades. Your hand obviously contains enough strength for a Rebid. However, five diamonds does not look very inviting, and either three notrump or four spades may be the best declaration. The two-spade bid practically forces your partner to bid again, and he will bid three notrump if he has the hearts doubly stopped or even singly stopped; four spades, if his hand contains four spades; and four diamonds, if he can make neither of the other responses.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Low Blood Pressure Not an Alarming Condition

Recently I told you something about the blood pressure, explaining how under certain conditions it becomes high. Today, I want to tell you about low blood pressure. I do so because this condition is more common than most persons suspect.

Dr. Copeland

Not long ago an article appearing in the American Medical Journal stated that low blood pressure is of little significance and must not be considered an alarming condition. This is true, providing the individual is in good health. Most persons who have it are unaware that their blood pressure is low for they usually enjoy excellent health. They lead energetic lives and seldom suffer any physical complaints.

But there are many sufferers from low blood pressure who show definite effects of the disorder. They complain of digestive disturbances. They tire easily, always feel worn out and have no "pep." They are listless, often subject to colds and minor ailments. In general, they have poor health.

These are the people who have exceedingly low pressure. Persistent low blood pressure that leads to physical disability, warrants careful investigation. In all probability it is a sign of some disturbance within the body.

It may be the result of a severe shock. It may follow an acute infectious disease, such as pneumonia, influenza, diphtheria, or typhus fever. It is frequently found in unsuspected cases of tuberculosis. But most often it is traced to some glandular disturbance. Lack of thyroid gland secretion, for example, leads to hypotension, or low blood pressure.

Let me assure you that low blood pressure without signs of discomfort, is harmless and need cause no alarm. In fact, many scientists believe that the individual with a low blood pressure is more wiry, healthier and will live longer than the one with high pressure.

The person with low blood pressure is usually thin, having a narrow and tall frame. Heavy-set persons have higher pressure, usually. They carry more weight about and make greater demands upon the heart, blood vessels, liver and kidneys. The greater stress and strain may be shown by this symptom.

If I had to choose between a high blood pressure and a low blood pressure, my choice would be the latter. Unfortunately, we cannot choose. But we can make every effort to correct the abnormal pressure, whatever form it takes.

Report to your doctor at least twice a year. If there is any alteration in your blood pressure he will have an accurate record of it and can prescribe accordingly.

For To-morrow Only

that cannot last the day!

One day only on these specials! If there are any left and you are willing to run that risk, the prices will hold good, Saturday morning. But—this Anniversary Feature is a competitive one. Every department tried to outdo the other. Each buyer went into the market to buy an outstanding Fashion Winner—one that no one would dream of seeing at less than regular price. Yet no store can buy top success, off price, in quantities. We bought substantial numbers, but not all we wanted. Therefore, we feel justified in saying "to-morrow only". In our judgment, these Values will not last the day.

Spectator Sports

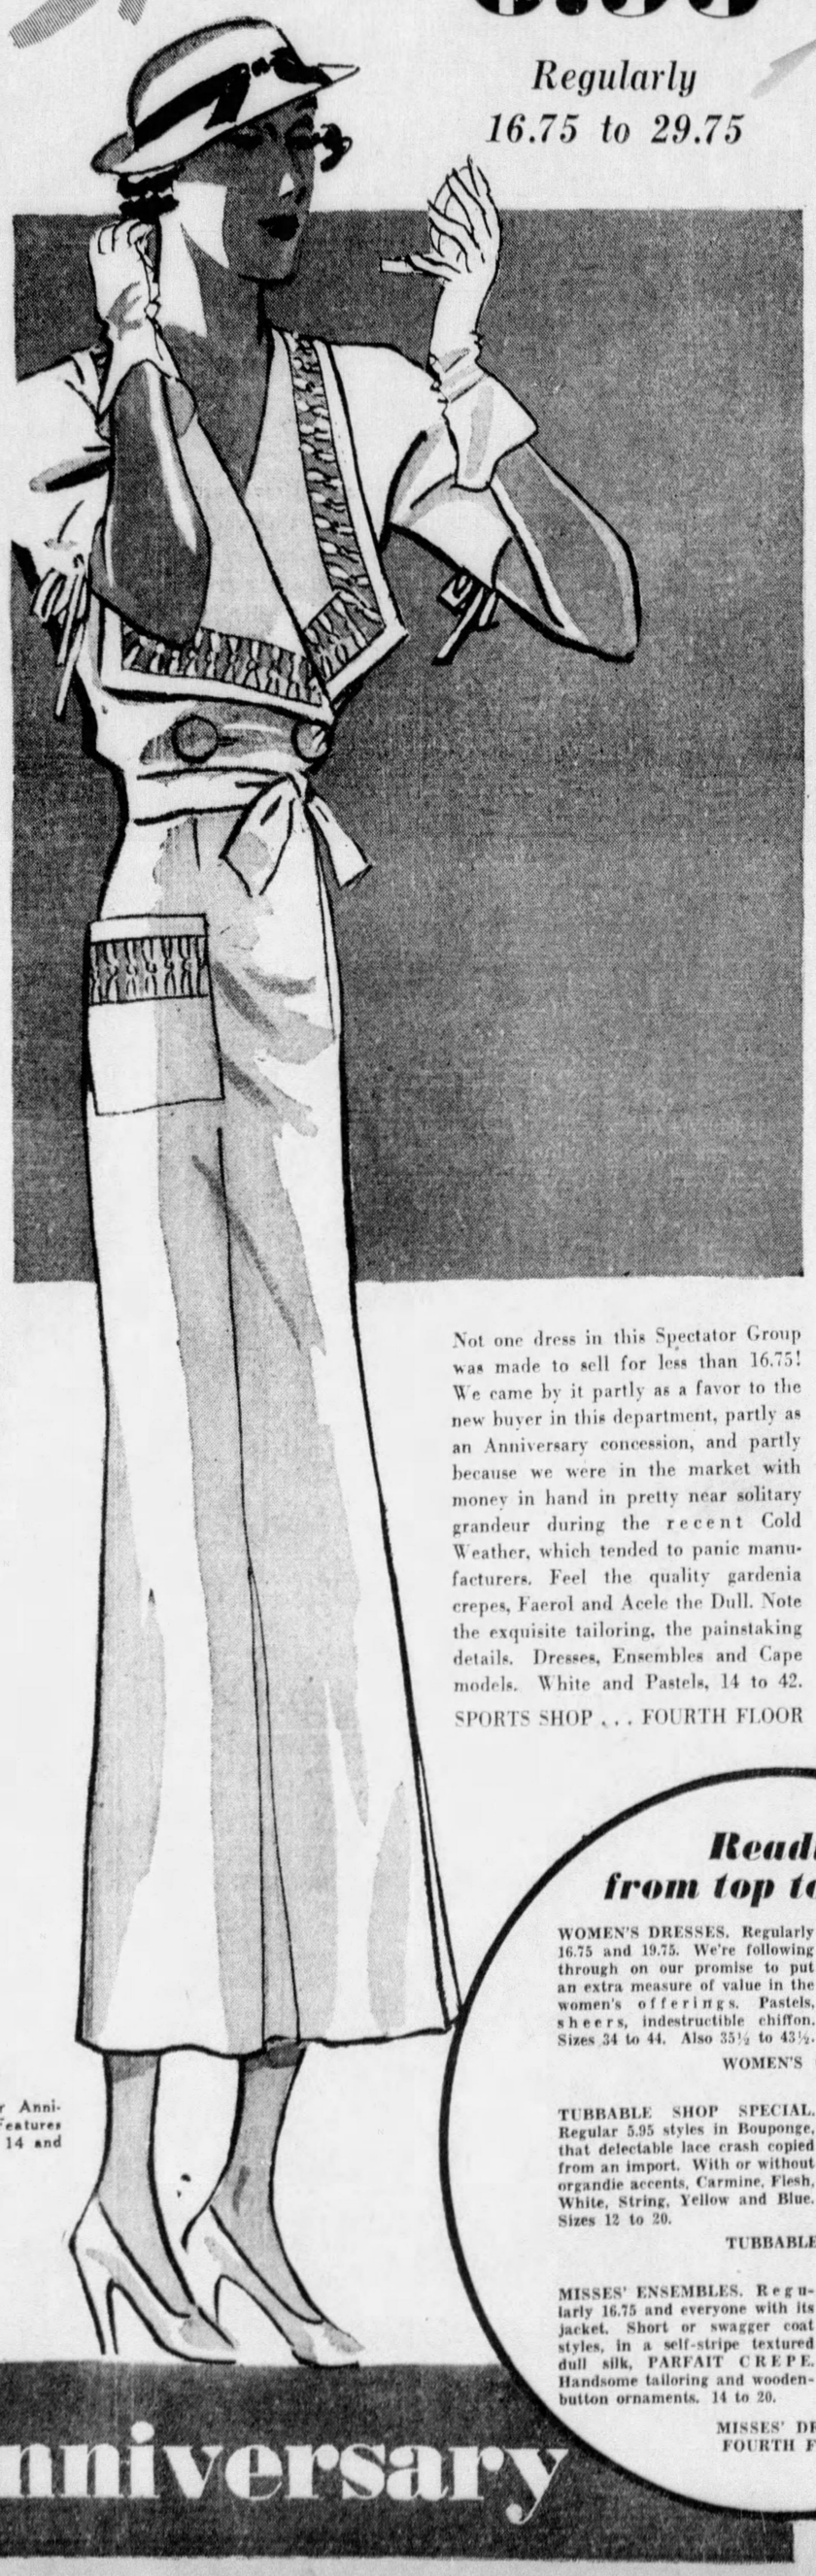
Regularly 16.75 to 29.75



Not one dress in this Spectator Group was made to sell for less than 16.75! We came by it partly as a favor to the new buyer in this department, partly as an Anniversary concession, and partly because we were in the market with money in hand in pretty near solitary grandeur during the recent Cold Weather, which tended to panic manufacturers. Feel the quality gardenia crepes, Faerol and Acele the Dull. Note the exquisite tailoring, the painstaking details. Dresses, Ensembles and Cape models. White and Pastels, 14 to 42.

CITY BROKE DEPOSIT LAW TO SAVE BANK

THE CAMERA GLOBE TROTTER

A Day in a Forest Camp

CAST: Civilian Foresters

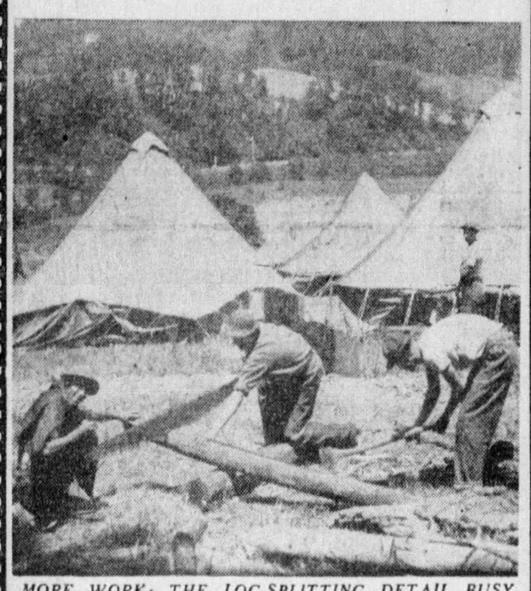
Camera: Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Staff Photographer

REVEILLE! THE BUSTLE FOR THE DAY'S BREAKFAST

A camp astir, this one President Roosevelt's Reforestation Army encampment in Allegheny County's North Park. Here a battalion of 175 men will shortly begin serious work on its appointed task of improving the county's forest land.

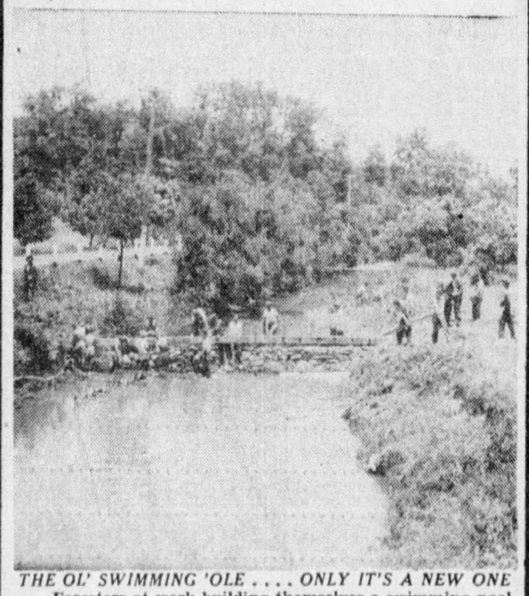
THE GANG AT WORK: RUNNING A PIPE LINE TO CAMP

Early work at North Park as the civilian foresters continue their task of getting settled for a long period. The government passes out 'army pay': $30 a month—but at least two-thirds must be sent to dependent relatives.



MORE WORK: THE LOG-SPLITTING DETAIL BUSY

Cutting logs for posts upon which to construct wooden floors for the little city of tents that has been pitched in North Park. These men are the erstwhile jobless young workmen of the big cities and small towns of the country.



THE OL' SWIMMING 'OLE . . . . ONLY IT'S A NEW ONE

Foresters at work building themselves a swimming pool for use during the recreational hours after the camp gets into the full swing of its work. Fundless, these 'soldiers' have appealed to Pittsburgh for discarded bathing trunks.

CHOW! THE BEST REWARD AFTER A LONG, HOT DAY

Dinnertime in the camp, where to the men the chow's just about the most important thing of all. The method's that of the regular army: food slapped onto tin mess kits held forth at arms' length from the long and single file.

FLOOD CONTROL ACTION BY U. S. WAITED HERE

Guffey Backs Group At Capital Seeking $60,000,000 Project

Early action in Washington on the flood and navigation control plan for the Ohio River headwaters is confidently expected here.

A delegation from Pittsburgh will today indorse the application to the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works for $60,000,000 for a system of storage reservoirs for the upper Allegheny and Monongahela rivers already filed by the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh, and for $15,120,000 for waterfront, highway, sewer and waterworks improvements in the city.

The Flood Commission is also working with the city for a $4,500,000 wharf improvement.

Joseph F. Guffey, powerful state leader of the Democratic party, is championing the cause of river improvements. He promised his help to the Pittsburgh group today.

Guffey, according to word from Washington, has announced the appointment of Joseph G. Blandi, of Sharpsburg, on the legal staff of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The administration has taken a sudden interest recently in the completed plans of government engineers for a reservoir system that would benefit four states.

As the government is giving preference to projects that are ready for an immediate start, a big advantage is seen in the fact that plans for the reservoir system are worked out to the finest detail.

Flying to Washington yesterday, three representatives of the city—Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, City Engineer Charles M. Reppert and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt—are today ready to present the city's application for federal aid.

M. O. Leighton, engineer of the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh, remained here last night for conferences with Dr. Harold A. Thomas, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, and Engineer Ross M. Riegel, who helped to develop the original Flood Commission plans.

The flood control reservoirs and the downtown wharf improvements have been associated on the commission's program for years.

In addition to that on its own responsibility, the city is asking $10,620,000 under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act for highways, sewers and water works.

NEW P.O. STRIKE BRINGS THREAT

Drastic action by the federal government to settle various labor disputes arising from the construction of Pittsburgh's new postoffice was threatened last night by Miss Emmeline Pitt, local commissioner for the United States Department of Labor. Work on the new structure has practically ceased because of jurisdictional labor quarrels.

One of the present disputes is being led by Mat Gorman, business agent for the Structural Iron Workers' Union. He claims that work being done by carpenters belongs to men of his union at a higher rate than the carpenters are receiving. While the iron workers are out it is impossible for members of several other unions to resume operations.

In threatening federal action, Miss Pitt said:

"This situation has become so serious that I intend to call an immediate conference of the international executives of the unions involved to be held in Washington. The workers and contractors must settle these disputes without further delay and proceed with the work."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 22.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Did you read this in the paper this morning, there are 800 people (get that eight hundred) work in the Library of Congress? Didnt know there was anybody there but a watchman. Why thats a librarian to each book. Well the Democrats have found that there is only 40 of these that are Democrats. The total salary in there is $773,360, so the Democrats figure there is about $750,000 of this is a total waste to the country, unless they can get Democrats in there to help read the books for the Congressmen.

The American dollar is down to 75 cents abroad. Be a good time to go over and buy some, for they are still worth $1.60 over here.

Yours, WILL.

PITTSBURGHER ELECTED BY REALTY MEN

Mimms on Executive Committee of Association

H. T. Mimms, Pittsburgh apartment house realtor, was elected a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers at the final session of the convention in the Hotel William Penn today.

Other officers elected were:

Frank S. Slosson, of Chicago, president; Andrew Steers, Seattle; E. B. Murray, Kansas City, and L. D. Callahan, Oklahoma City, vice presidents; Clarence M. Turley, St. Louis, secretary-treasurer; and George Stimmel, San Francisco, and Maurice Spear, of New York, members of the executive committee.

Toronto, Canada, was selected as next year's convention city. Los Angeles received the achievement cup, and Peoria, Ill., the attendance award.

Worthless real estate bonds have been responsible for the failure of many banks, John P. Hooker, Chicago real estate expert, told the convention yesterday, speaking on "Sound Real Estate Financing." Under present conditions, he said, interest rates on many loans on real estate must be reduced if lenders want the borrowers to continue to manage the properties. A safe loan on real estate after proper appraisal he put at 60 per cent of the cash value of the property.

He advocated establishment of a central real estate bureau with which managers of bonded buildings would be required to file annual audits by certified accountants. Information gathered in this way would be available to the public, making it possible for the investor to have accurate, reliable information about real estate securities.

BENZ ON STAND IN 'GAS' CASE

With motions denied to take the trial of James E. Routley and C. C. Benz away from the jury because the evidence extended beyond the statute of limitations, Benz, former chief clerk in the County Purchasing Department, took the stand in his own defense today.

He, with Routley, former chief clerk of the County Commissioners, is charged with diverting county-purchased gasoline to private automobiles in 1928.

Benz revealed that the former County Commissioners had appointed him to act as an understudy to Paul B. Riis, former director of parks, because "Riis was a dreamer and artist and could not handle men."

The work at the parks took up all but about two hours a day of his time, Benz declared. The illness of Purchasing Agent Michael Verosky also added to his burdens, he said.

A written statement, purporting to have been made by Benz, was introduced yesterday to show Routley said the extra gasoline was ordered for county business.

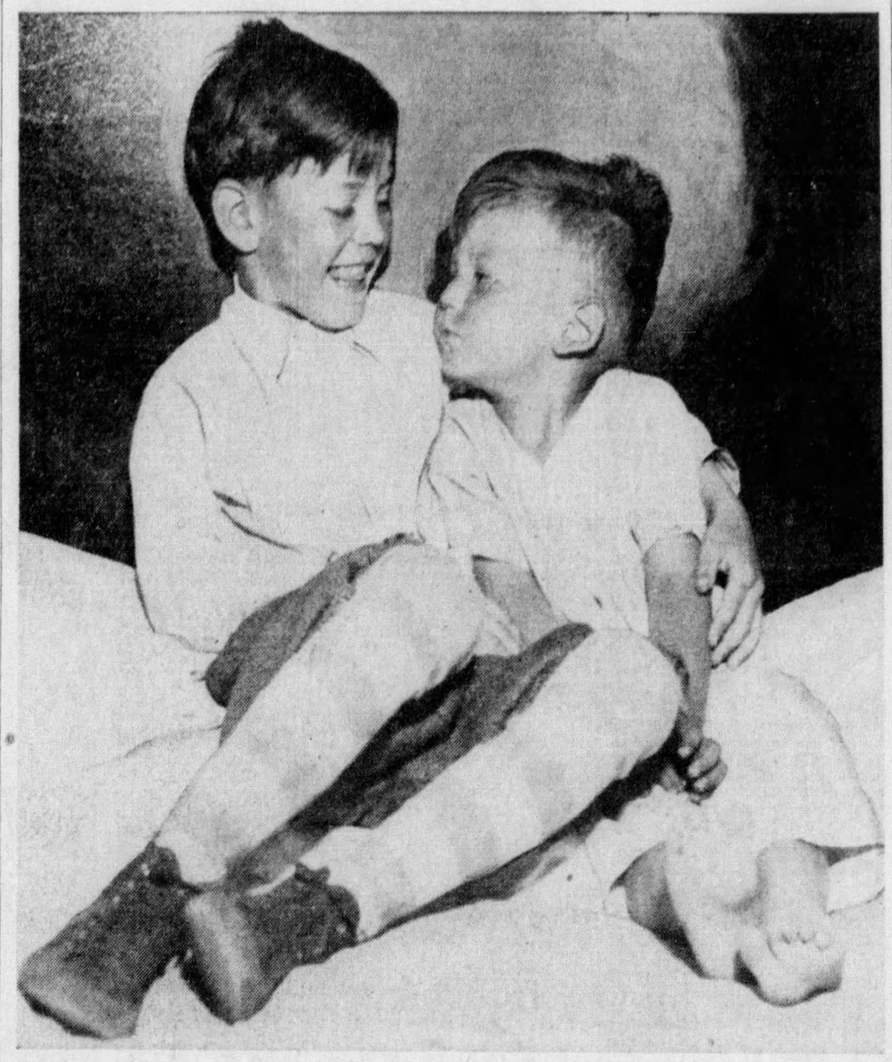
Brothers Parted by Judge's Ruling



NORMAN (LEFT), 7, AND JIMMY RUPPEN . . . . . ONE TO HIS MOTHER, ONE TO HIS FATHER

The young Ruppen brothers, parted by Judge Thomas M. Marshall's ruling when the parents, Joseph S. Ruppen, 947 St. Martin street, and Mrs. Marie C. Ruppen, 112 Secane avenue, both asked for the boys' custody. Each will keep one, but have both on alternate Sundays and for two weeks each year. The mother gets the younger. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Father to Defy Court Rule Parting Two Sons

Decree Giving Boy To Parted Wife Rouses Parent

An indignant father was prepared today to defy the law to keep possession of his two sons, ordered separated by a court decree.

Joseph S. Ruppen, 947 St. Martin street, South Side, expressed astonishment when informed that Judge Thomas M. Marshall had ordered Ruppen's 3-year-old son, James, given into custody of Ruppen's estranged wife, Mrs. Marie C. Ruppen, 112 Secane avenue. Ruppen is permitted to keep his older son, Norman, aged 7.

Ruppen said:

"This is the first I had heard of the court's order in my wife's habeas corpus proceedings. I will fight to the last ditch giving up my little boy. She will never get him. I would rather see him in his grave than go with her. She hasn't visited the boys in two years and has paid no attention to them."

Judge Marshall in his opinion yesterday said he made the order reluctantly. The Ruppens had been before him last March in the battle for possession of the younger child.

He set forth that the father has been out of work for more than a year. He provided that when one boy becomes ill the other parent must be notified and that each parent is to have the children alternate Sundays and for two weeks during the summer months.

The father charges his wife deserted him October 19, 1931. Since then the boys have been cared for by Ruppen's sister, Miss Lillian Ruppen, a trained nurse, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Eleanor Ruppen, of the St. Martin street address.

SQUIRREL HILL WATER SHORT

Nearly a score of residents in the vicinity of Landview avenue and Shady avenue extention, Squirrel Hill, the second highest point in the city, today were protesting to the city about inadequate water supply.

The residents charge they are entirely without water in the evenings from 6 to 10 o'clock during warm weather. James H. Kennon, managing engineer of the water department, said today he could do nothing to remedy the condition permanently. He said the district has developed rapidly and has outgrown facilities.

Kennon said a 3,000,000-gallon pump is being used to increase the pressure, which is fed by gravity from the Herron Hill reservoir. It provides an additional five pounds of pressure, but Kennon said the need was volume rather than pressure.

The proposed $1,200,000 Lincoln reservior, for which the city has applied to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds, will adequately supply the Squirrel Hill district, Kennon said.

CORNICE CRASH PERILS WOMEN

Two women narrowly escaped being struck when part of a 300-pound cast iron cornice of the four-story Carr's Building, 951 Liberty avenue, crashed to the sidewalk today.

The women failed to stop, police reported. Their names were not learned.

The tip of the cornice rebounded across the street, through the second floor office window of Dr. John A. Koler. A parked automobile belonging to E. G. Madden, 216 North avenue, Millvale, was struck by the flying pieces.

Deterioration from the weather caused the cornice to become loosened, building inspectors said.

CHILDREN WIN SHOWER PLEA

Children in the neighborhood of Fulton and Adams streets, North Side, today were cooling off under a street shower which was hastily connected after several hundred of them paraded through the streets last night, demanding the water be turned on.

While the paraders, beating tin cans, blowing horns and carrying banners reading "We Want Our Shower," marched through the streets city employes moved the shower from its original location at Manhattan and Adams streets and connected it to a fire plug at Fulton street.

Wets Have 14 States, Nation Began With 13

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Iowa, New Hampshire and Connecticut made the varsity team. That's fourteen to nothing and California at the bat.

Everybody knew Connecticut was wetter than a lobster pot. And everybody thought Iowa was dryer than brake lining.

So when the Hawkeyes drummed the keg with the long roll we were surprised. They've been teetotalers for almost 20 years.

And, while the Iowa children knew the taste of beer, they seem to like it just the same.

The New Hampshire sweep was like unmasking at a fancy dress ball. We knew who it was all the time. And you can breathe much easier after you take off your false face.

The wets are happy. They have fourteen states. And America started with only thirteen.

U. S. Engineers Here Speed Up $8,000,000 River Project Plans

Plans for new river dams, locks and extensions to cost approximately $8,000,000 are being rushed by the United States Engineer's office here, according to Maj. W. D. Styer, chief engineer.

These are all projects which have been authorized by Congress, Maj. Styer said. In addition there is a large amount of work on which studies have been made but on which no decision has been made.

Quick action is expected here on large government projects now pending, and the effects will soon be felt, it is believed, in all the basic industries.

One of the first government jobs to be built is expected to be Allegheny River Dam No. 3 at Chesswick, where a lock is now under construction.

Plans for a new dam on the Ohio River at Montgomery Island, 32 miles below Pittsburgh at Industry, Pa., will be out within a month.

Other projects which will probably be started soon, according to Maj. Styer, are extension to guide wall at Monongahela Dam No. 4 at Charleroi, Pa.; refacing auxiliary lock at Emsworth Dam; extension to the guide wall at Allegheny Dam No. 5 at Freeport, Pa., and dredging near Kittanning and Mosgrove, Pa., on the Allegheny River and at Line Island on the Ohio River.

United States engineers have been making a study of a canal in the Beaver-Mahoning valleys to connect the Youngstown steel district with the Ohio River. This plan, not yet approved by Congress, would require five dams on the Beaver River and three dams on the Mahoning.

The extension of navigation up the Youghiogheny River as far as West Newton, Pa., has also been studied, and plans are available for two dams to accomplish it.

On the upper Allegheny River alternate plans have been prepared for two low dams or a single high dam in the vicinity of Emlenton, Pa. The cost of the upper Allegheny project is estimated at $4,000,000.

KERR EXPLAINS POLICY ON 'RESCUE'

Controller Upholds Corner-Cutting Plan Of Handling Funds

City Controller James P. Kerr today said the city continued depositing funds in the Pennsylvania Trust Company in 1931, after discovery that the deposit there was unsecured and far beyond legal limits, in order to keep the bank from closing.

It was about a week after the audit of former City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley's office began—October 10, 1931—that Kerr learned the deposit was more than $1,000,000 beyond the limit and had been nearly $2,000,000 beyond, he said.

$431,052 FUND

From a week after the start of the audit to the date of the last deposit—October 17 to November 10—$431,052.90 was deposited with the trust company to keep it from closing. By October 17, auditors had begun their check of city deposits and their security.

Kerr said:

"I was afraid if the trust company failed, three or four other banks would go. Things were so upset that, even if we did cut corners, I think it was for the better.

"Of course I kicked—we all kicked. But sometimes it's better policy to do certain things."

It was learned today that $975,076.96 was deposited there even after irregularities in the City Treasurer's office had been discovered.

That amount was deposited after the audit of Schooley's office was begun—nine months after deposits in the company soared above their legal limit.

This was shown as Kerr issued a tabulation of city transactions with the trust company since January 1, 1931, when it became an active city depository.

LIMIT EXCEEDED

The unsecured account is shown by the Kerr tabulations to have passed the legal limit—25 per cent of the bank's capital and surplus—with the second deposit made by Schooley's office January 5, 1931.

The city depository ordinance requires that all city monies held by banks be fully secured by government or surety bonds. No deposit may exceed $1,000,000, or 25 per cent of the capital and surplus of the bank, whichever is lower—or, in the case of the Pennsylvania Trust, $314,986.25, based on the statement of December 31, 1930.

On only 11 days since the trust company became an active city depository has the balance fallen below this mark. It has reached a peak—October 10, 1931—of $2,217,894.53.

A daily report of balances and deposits in each bank is sent from the Treasurer to the Controller. It is the Controller's duty to object if the Treasurer allows deposits to exceed legal limits. Kerr said:

"Schooley sent me daily reports, I guess. But I never saw them personally. Three or four bookkeepers would get them and they never called them to my attention.

"They just let things go on according to past custom.

"I did not know the deposit was excessive until about a week after the audits tarted.

SCHOOLEY FIRED

A check revealed today that the Schooley audit resulted before its completion in Schooley's being fired by Mayor Kline on October 15.

Yet even after that, with a new treasurer, Richard W. Thompson in office, $431,052.90 was deposited.

Kerr recently told the Sun-Telegraph that on a Saturday in October, 1931, a director of the Pennsylvania Trust demanded he deposit $600,000 extra city funds to keep the institution from closing. He was refused, the Controller said.

The next day—Sunday—Kerr met with other city officials, officers of the bank and James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, and then vice president of the Clearing House, and decided that the trust company should place with Chaplin security for the deposit, which would then be slowly liquidated.

A recent city audit showed that, on October 27, 1931—a Tuesday—notes and other obligations, many those of politicians, were posted as security by the Pennsylvania Trust with the Colonial Trust Company. This would seem to place the Sunday conference as being held on October 25.

Yet on Monday, October 26, when both Thompson and Kerr were in possession of facts regarding the deposit, the treasurer deposited $16,052.90 of funds in the Pennsylvania Trust Company.

The last deposit was made on November 10, when the city put in $100,000, although a like amount was withdrawn six days later.

Plunge From Roof Of Home Kills Man

Suffering a fractured skull when he fell from the roof of his three-story frame house today, Joseph Sandor, 48, 1009 Park street, McKeesport, died in the McKeesport Hospital. Sandor had been repairing the roof.

INDEPENDENTS FAIL TO SEEK M'ARDLE AID

By MARK SHIELDS

A statement by Councilman P. J. McArdle that he as an Independent Republican had not been consulted in the negotiations to persuade Judge Frank P. Patterson to become a candidate for the mayoralty nomination disclosed the fact that James F. Malone, already a candidate, and Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, have not been parties to the conferences held with Patterson.

Patterson and Mackrell held a short conference yesterday, after which the Judge asked those pressing him to run to turn to Mackrell, but the Register of Wills has not otherwise been brought into the discussion.

So far the pressure upon Patterson has come principally from industrial and financial leaders, though County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, Senator Frank J. Harris, Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley and County Commissioner William D. Mansfield have indicated they would approve the candidacy of the Judge.

BUSINESS GROUP

Among the business group which has urged Patterson to run are Ernest T. Weir, of the National Steel Corporation; E. W. Mudge, associated with Weir in industrial enterprises; A. E. Braun, of the Farmers Bank; Howard Heinz, Leslie Johnson, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, and Joseph Dilworth, assistant to the president of Westinghouse Electric and an active member of the Citizens' Committee.

It is this group which was told by Judge Patterson early this week that he did not desire to run and that they should seek unity behind another candidate. In these conferences the names of both McArdle and Mackrell have been mentioned as possibilities, but the members refuse to abandon the hope that the Judge can be induced into the campaign.

Final decision will be reached next week when Judge Patterson will be told whether unity can be reached on some one else. If these industrial and financial leaders still insist upon Patterson there is better than an even chance he will consent to make the race, though really against his will.

With Braun, Johnson and Dilworth urging Patterson to run, it is assumed William P. Witherow, original choice of the Citizens' Committee would step aside, perhaps becoming a candidate for City Council.

INDEPENDENT AID

Though Councilman McArdle has made it plain that no one can speak for him but himself, it is also assumed that representations have been received from some other Independent Republican leaders assuring their aid for Patterson if he will run. The close association between Patterson and Mackrell in the past would bring the Judge the same help from the Register of Wills that Patterson pledged to Mackrell if he would announce.

It is understood that the business group dickering with Patterson is looking beyond a single mayoralty campaign, or the mere election of a mayor opposed to the Herron-Coyne organization. Their desire is to create a new political organization and overturn the old order which has existed for years under the leadership of successive bosses.

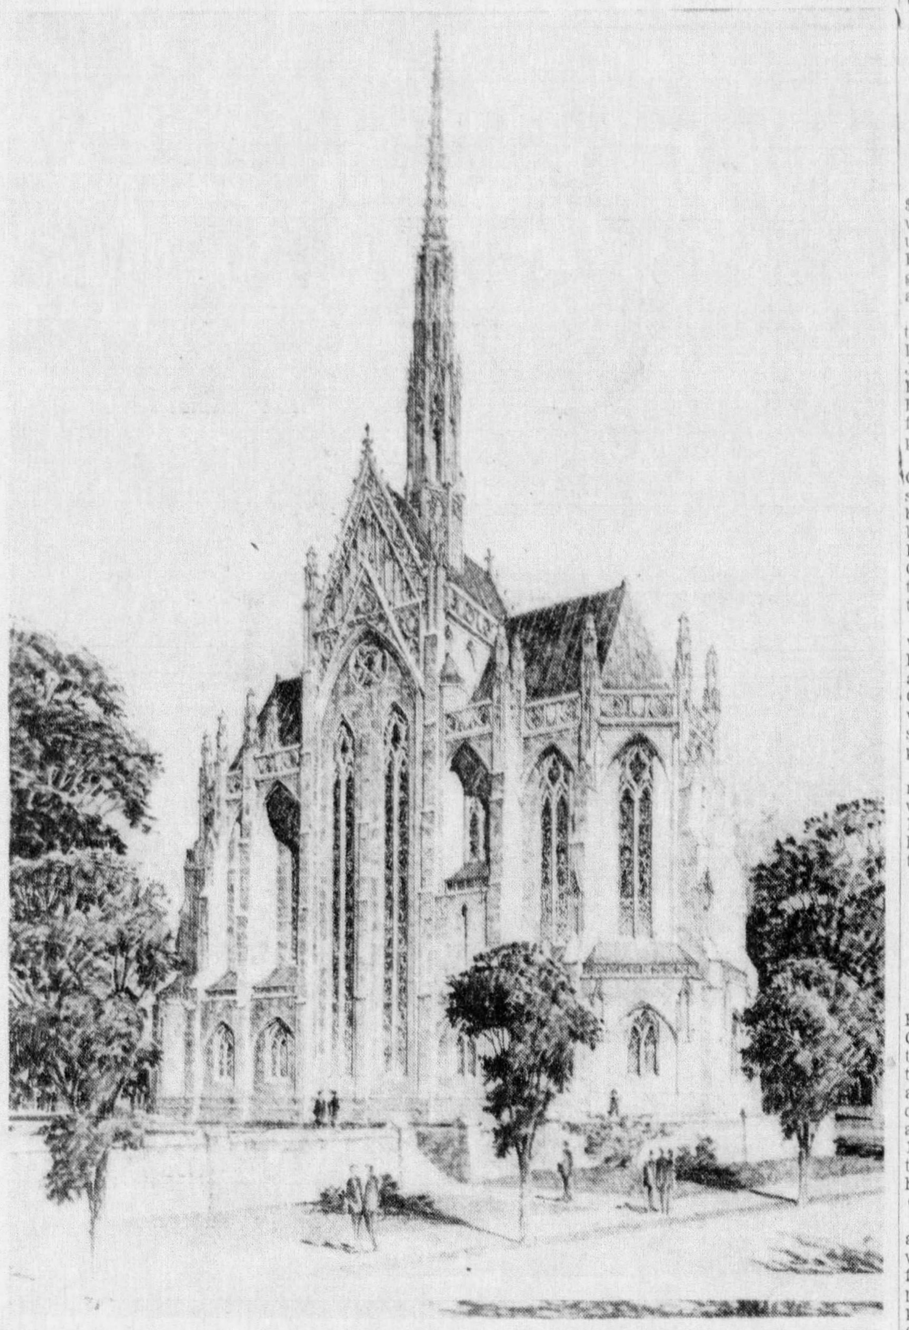
The racket situation also is engaging the attention of this group. They fear that when and if the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed racketeers who have levied on the illegal booze trade will turn their talents to legitimate business, as has been done in other cities.

In his statement yesterday Councilman McArdle said:

"I think I am in as close touch with the sentiment and wishes of the Independent Republican voters of Pittsburgh as anybody in the city, and I am of the opinion that they will expect to have something to say as to the qualifications of an Independent candidate as well as to his qualifications to fill the office of Mayor according to their standards of service after they elect him.

"I will continue to keep in close touch with the burden bearers of the Independent forces of 1931 and will try to harmonize my views with theirs and govern myself accordingly."

The Plan for Pitt Memorial Chapel



THE ARCHITECT'S PLAN, MADE PUBLIC FOR THE FIRST TIME, FOR THE HEINZ MEMORIAL

LEAGUE SPURNS 'CITIZEN PARTY'

An alleged attempt to confuse voters in the coming election was changed yesterday in the filing of pre-emption papers for the "Citizens Party" when officials of the Citizens' League of Allegheny County denied sponsorship of the party.

Miss Hannah Patterson, vice chairman of the league, said, in part:

"We believe this is an attempt through the use of this title to divide the vote and thus make it easier to defeat the aims of the Citizens' League."

Attorney R. B. Ivory, Jr., filed the pre-emption papers, which were signed by three attorneys who are in the same office as Attorney B. Robert Averbach, solicitor for Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar. Any knowledge of such a party was denied by Averbach.

TOWNSEND OUT FOR COUNCIL

Edward Townsend, former head of the Bureau of City Property, yesterday announced as a candidate for City Council. He will seek nomination in the Republican primary.

Townsend, who lives in the Twentieth Ward, announced he was not opposing any individual candidate. In the past there has been bitter feeling between Townsend and Councilman W. Y. English, who will be a candidate for re-election.

Outlining his platform, Townsend said he favors:

Adequate protection for city funds deposited in banks, by ordinances requiring posting of adequate security by depositories.

Immediate inauguration of a program of public improvements for the double purpose of affording work for the unemployed and the beautification and modernizing of city facilities, especially those projects in which state and national governments will share the cost.

Development of a real rapid transit system for the use of railroads, street cars, buses and motor vehicles, and improvement of the city's wharves, with provision for proper river-rail terminals, and the relief of existing traffic congestion.

300 Czechoslovaks At Sokol Festival

More than 300 local Czechoslovak Sokols are in Chicago today attending the second Sokol Festival, which closes Sunday.

HEINZ CHILDREN RECEIVE PITT CHAPEL PLAN

A memorial chapel to cost $800,000 will be built on the University of Pittsburgh's new campus, a memorial to the late H. J. Heinz and his mother, Anna Margaretta Heinz, school authorities announced today.

The first of the projected structures to surround the Cathedral of Learning, it is the gift of Mrs. John L. Given, of New York, and Howard and Clifford S. Heinz, of Pittsburgh, children of the late founder of the H. J. Heinz Company.

Reminiscent of the noted Sainte Chepelle of Paris, it will be constructed extensively with Pittsburgh products and by Pittsburgh labor. The site chosen is on the Bellefield avenue side of the Cathedral campus, 320 feet from the east—or main entrance—of the big school and facing it.

Plans are nearing completion, it was announced, with Charles Z. Klauder, of Philadelphia, the architect. He also designed the Cathedral of Learning. When work will begin on the actual construction has not been made public.

The plans are the result of a number of years of study and revision by the architect and the Heinz heirs. It is designed to harmonize with the main structure.

The school announced:

"The Heinz Memorial Chapel will be neither a cathedral nor a church, but a symbol of spirituality and a place for meditation."

The donors and designer visited Europe several times to study Gothic architecture, upon which the chapel design is based. It is to be Gothic in style, calling for a span of 33 feet between the columns of the nave. The overall dimensions of the edifice are 155 by 57 feet, with the height to the ridge of the nave 100 feet. The height to the summit of the fleche (or spire) is 245 feet.

The exterior and interior walls are to be of Bedford stone, the vaults of Guastivino tiles and the floors of Crab Orchard stone. The pulpit, screens, chair stalls and pews are to be of old English carved oak.

Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the university, commented:

"This memorial is to be a magnificent symbol of faith; it is to be a symbol which says, by its own beauty, that wisdom and courage and spiritual enrichment belong together. The Cathedral of Learning emphasizes courage; the chapel emphasizes beauty and is an impulse toward communion with the Unseen and the Eternal.

"The two buildings in their meanings and in their proportions and in their designs, belong together. They are inseparable. They will do more, I am confident, than Pittsburgh realizes today, to keep before us a vision of righteousness, of courage, of wisdom, and of pure religion."

Boys Gathering Junk to Pay For Vacation

Boys of the Homewood-Brushton section are gathering newspapers, discarded tire casings, and other items and selling them to junk men to finance trips to Y. M. C. A. summer camps.

Two headquarters have been set up and boys from Bennett, Baxter, Brushton, Homewood, Belmar and Westinghouse schools are participating.

MEETING FETES JUDGE SMITH

Speakers representing the judiciary, military, educational and legal fields will pay tribute to Judge Ralph H. Smith, of Common Pleas Court, at a meeting and reception in Memorial Hall tomorrow night.

Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, of the Superior Court; Maj. Gen. Adelbert Cronkhite, wartime commander of the Eightieth Division; John E. Laughlin, dean of the Duquesne University Law School, and John Adams, principal of Perry High School, and former teacher of Judge Smith, were announced as the speakers. Joseph A. Richardson is chairman.

Judge Smith will be a candidate for re-election.

URGE SCHRAMM FOR JUDGE

Gustave Schramm, associate professor of political economy at the University of Pittsburgh, will receive the support of more than 20 social agencies as candidate for Juvenile Court judge, according to Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein, of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. He said:

"Judge Benjamin Lencher yesterday definitely declared himself out of the race, before a group of professional executives of social agencies. Although Gustave Schramm has not yet been officially notified that he is our new choice, he knows we are his friends. He is enthusiastically indorsed, not only by special groups, but by men prominent in the Bar Association and others."

Schramm is executive secretary of the Legal Aid Society, a member of the board of managers of the Gumbert Industrial School for Girls, the Allegheny County Board of Visitation and the author of several books and magazine articles.

AN EDITORIAL

THAT TOOK THE WORDS OUT OF OUR MOUTH • • •

WE were getting ready to say something. But somebody else said it for us--no less an authority than the National Petroleum News, a leading oil trade journal. It reflects the sober thinking of the industry.

This editorial from the National Petroleum News gives an idea how an unbiased voice in the oil industry feels about the present epidemic of wild challenges, promises, and guarantees.

The American Oil Company from the outset has disapproved the methods about which the editorial complains. It believes the motorist, too, will resent such insults to his intelligence--and will say so in no uncertain terms.

The American Oil Company believes the motorist will have greater confidence in companies that avoid such sales and advertising methods.

The American Oil Company products* are honest values --honestly described. Whenever they can be actually improved --we'll improve them--not before.

After all the present excitement is over; after the noisy claims are but a memory--merit alone will tell the tale.

Executive Offices: BALTIMORE, MARYLAND

 AMOCO-GAS

 Orange AMERICAN GAS

--the original Orange regular gasoline, with a pure petroleum base--unadulterated. Always sold for what it is--the best gasoline at regular gas price.

The Super Battle Of Super Adjectives

HIGH powered adjectives are flying about the public's ears in a new battle of gasoline advertising being fought out in large size advertising space in the newspapers. It all started with, or in anticipation of, the marketing of gasoline containing "Q"-compound, although that does not figure in the advertising. It looks as though supremacy in the struggle would go to the company whose advertising copy writers can think up the most words synonymous with quality, to which "super" can be prefixed.

It all makes one think of the childhood argument as to who would have the most money when he grew up, which always ended when one had mentioned a higher combination of numbers than the other could match.

The race for extravagant claims for gasoline now all has to do with the so-called "regular" grades. • • •

It would be most interesting to know what a station man would say to a motorist who now asked him why he should continue to buy a premium gasoline, if the regular grade will do all that the advertising claims for it.

The advertising of five big oil companies which has recently come across the editor's desk, in each case, has claimed, in so many words, the highest in quality rested with its new regular gasoline. The exact claim in each case, as taken from the advertising is:

"The result is a fuel in advance of the times, basically superior to all regular priced and, with few exceptions, all premium priced gasoline."

"Combining all the qualities your motor needs for perfect performance."

Along with the high powered words now being unlimbered by the batteries of word slingers, giants in mail stride across the advertising pages, challenging who may come. Other giants, in other copy, hurl defiance back. It's all very thrilling.

New processes in refining are referred to in mystifying manner, as though the curtain was being half drawn to give an eager public a peek into that enthralling world of science where the secret is being wrested from Nature as to how to gain one more point in anti-knock.

If gasoline advertising keeps on going through what we may later look back on as the "patent medicine" stage, we may next expect to see testimonial letters, with photographs, such as used to run in the newspapers, simulating reading matter, except that the letters Advt. were at the bottom.

We may see, in similar manner, the likeness of Tyrus Danceford, 123 Big Falls, Ia., who gratefully owes his health to using TaRaRa gasoline for three months and having his tonsils removed; or of Underhill J. Slaughter, who owes his business success to five tankfuls of Nonparil motor fuel and being left $50,000 by a maiden aunt.

Patricia Pitt's Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair
-With-
Patricia Pitt

Organdie and garden flowers and a charming garden setting will all play their part in a picturesque, old-fashioned wedding this afternoon.

Margaret Rodgers, daughter of Mrs. Joseph H. Rodgers, of the Schenley Apartments, and Babcock boulevard, will be the bride. She'll become Mrs. Phillip Arthur Fleger this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the garden of the Rodgers summer home, Babcock boulevard.

Her gown will be of white organdie, with a long, full skirt having vertical, pleated ruffles of the organdie, full, puffed sleeves, and a high neck line. Her veil will be of rose point and duchess lace, and she will carry a Colonial bouquet of gardenias, tied with pale green ribbon.

All-Blue Costume

An all-blue organdie costume will be worn by her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Floyd Steele Kenyon, of West Haven, Conn. She'll even wear blue organdie gloves. Her dress of blue organdie will have as its only trimming a pleated ruffle around the neck and over the shoulders. Her hat will be of blue organdie, too. And she will carry garden flowers.

Little Barbara Kenyon will be her aunt's flower girl. She'll wear a blue organdie frock with puffed sleeves, and a long skirt, like her elders, and will carry a basket of sweetheart roses.

Ribbon Bearers

Edward Hartje and Philander Knox Rodgers, Jr., sons of the Philander Knox Rodgers, will be ribbon bearers.

Mosley L. Putney, of Louisville, Ky., will be best man. Officiating will be the Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, of the Bellevue Methodist Church, assisted by the bride's brother-in-law, the Rev. Floyd Steele Kenyon.

There'll be a reception and dinner after the ceremony, for the two families and intimate friends.

After a European honeymoon, Mr. Fleger and his bride will be at home in the King Edward apartments. * * *

To Arrive At Springs

Miss Romaine P. Clark is visiting in Oil City, the guest of the H. R. Sheldons. She'll attend several of the teas, luncheons and dinners to be given for Augusta Morck, who'll marry Theodore Paul Avery June 26. Both the bride and bridegroom-elect are from Oil City.

Gladys Over, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Over, of Amberson avenue, will be off this week for Asheville, N. C., for a house party. Her hostess will be Margaret Johnston, of Asheville.

Gossipy Chat With Nancy Jane

Getting in a little preliminary practice on serving beer some of the girls who'll sell it at the West Penn woman's committee benefit Wednesday at Fox Chapel Golf Club, were posing with a keg for a Sun-Telegraph photographer.

Someone happened to give the keg a push, and it rolled into a pool in the garden—fortunately the pool wasn't deep. And one of the Weidlein boys rescued it.

The girls were in the garden of Mrs. Edward R. Weidlein, South Dallas avenue, a neighbor of Mrs. Earl Robertson, chairman of the beer garden, a feature of the benefit.

Madelaine Alexander will be married by her father, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander. She'll marry William A. Gordon III Saturday afternoon in the garden of the Alexanders' Sewickley Heights place, Poplar Hill.

Dr. Alexander is pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church, Sixth avenue.

Everyone is bespectacled now in the daytime. While playing golf or sunning after a swim, almost all the smart set wear yellow glasses to protect their eyes.

Eleanor Agnes Nist To Marry C. H. Goetz

All aides are members of the William E. Gelston Court, No. 89, Order of the Amaranth, for which the affair is being held.

Numerous Affairs Given For Mabelle Murdoch, Bride of Saturday

Miss Mabel Murdoch is being entertained at numerous affairs before her marriage on Saturday. Miss Murdoch, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Murdoch, of Kendall avenue, Bellevue, becomes the bride of Ernest John Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, of Hamilton, Ontario, on Saturday, in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Thomas H. Ross, of East End avenue, entertained with a bridge luncheon on Wednesday. Mrs. Claude Manning Hines, of Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, with a luncheon and bridge on Monday.

Today Mrs. Walter Stifel and Miss Edith Stifel, of Benton avenue, are giving a bridge luncheon for the bride-elect, in their home.

Tomorrow evening Edward W. Koontz, who is to be the best man, is giving a dinner-dance for the bridal party.

Eleanor Lewis Has Church Wedding

A bride of yesterday was Miss Eleanor Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Lewis, of Amberson avenue, who married Herbert Purdy Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Simpson, of Wallingford street, at 5:30 o'clock in the Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church. The altar was decorated with cibotium ferns and calla lilies. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. E. J. Van Etten.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Empire gown of ivory satin, having a court train, and her veil of tulle, finished with a tulle cap, was only knee-length. She carried white bovardia.

Mrs. Charles Maurice DeLand, Jr., as matron of honor, wore blue organza with a matching hat and carried pink rambler roses and white bovardia.

Mrs. Charles Maurice DeLand, Jr., as matron of honor, wore blue organza with a matching hat and carried pink rambler roses and white bovardia, and the bridesmaids, Miss Eloise Campbell, Miss Helen Cole, Miss Margaret Geddes, Miss Ruth Simpson and Mrs. George M. Rowland, Jr., all wore pink organza and carried delphinium and bovardia.

After the reception in the Lewis home, Mr. Simpson and his bride left on a wedding trip. They will reside in South Linden avenue.

GALAXY OF BEAUTIFUL GOWNS SPARKLED AT THE MAY BALL

SOCIETY BALLS, the opera, charity bazars and concerts are always important sartorially. The May Ball, for the benefit of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's rest rooms for unemployed women, was no exception to that rule. The great Seventh Regiment Armony in New York, decorated in white and Eleanor blue in honor of the First Lady, was crowded with fashionably dressed women.

THERE WERE many, many white gowns, other colors considerably in the minority. Lots and lots of organdy. Glittering stars in the hair. Alice-in-Wonderland bandeaux. Diamente embroidery. Chiffons. These last two were indorsed by Mrs. Roosevelt's ensemble. When she entered the armory, formally opening the ball, we caught a glimpse of her hip-length coat with full three-quarter sleeves. This she removed before she entered her box. The gown was beautifully simple, no trimming other than clips shaped like field daisies at each shoulder. Her old-fashioned diamond choker, sparkling under the brilliant flood of lights, brought back memories of the "diamond horseshoe" of the Metropolitan Opera House.

WHITE RECEIVED further indorsement by three other society women in the same box. Dark materials were seen too—some women consider their dark dresses their best. One looked lissome and willowy (everyone's fond hope) in mahogany red chiffon dotted with huge lame coins. A capelet fluttered behind.

A SLEEK, side-swiped coiffure like that of the girl sketched in elbow length white ermine dolman, introduced a new hairline. A few curls were brushed upwards over the ears, the rest of her hair was kept straight and close to her head. The shoulders of her fur dolman were squared off with military precision.

* * *

RUFFLED ORGANDY boleros and capelets were worn in white, black and brown, this last color no longer considered dull in the evening lineup. One tiny cape of white tulle had rows and rows and rows of accordion pleated ruffles all over it. A Hollywood "queen" with long hair, wore a black diaphanous chiffon dress with slight train. Over it a white moire mess jacket, enormous roses at the shoulders smartly incongruous with its otherwise severe cut. Another stunning long white coat of blistered silk opened just enough to allow a glimpse of the cotton lace and organdy dress beneath. Later on, in the "Tyrolean Garden" we caught a full view of the dress. Of course, it too was white.

CORINNE ROCHE JOSEPH ROCHE MRS. L. H. ROCHE MARY ROCHE LESTER ROCHE "PEGGY" ROCHE

says young mother of these five charmers

Here's an interesting thing. When Mrs. L. H. Roche had only three children, her washings were a problem. Now, with five lively youngsters to wash for, she doesn't worry a bit. She's using a different laundry soap—CHIPSO!

"Would you like to know how I got started with Chipso?" Mrs. Roche asked. "It was seven years ago. I was fussing about how quickly the children's clothes got shabby-looking, how hard the laundering was to do, how sore and dry the soap made my hands. My mother said, 'Why don't you try Chipso?' Well, I did try it—and since then I've used nothing else.

"No matter how dirty the children's play clothes get, I don't need to wear them out with hard rubbing. Chipso soaks the dirt out easily. Yet Chipso suds are perfectly safe for dainty organdies and printed silks, and for my silk underwear and stockings. Chipso is marvelous for blankets, too—makes them so soft and fluffy—and for the children's woolen stockings. And, believe me, my hands have known new comfort since I've used Chipso regularly for washing clothes and for doing the dishes three times a day."

Chipso is not adulterated with the harsh substances contained in inferior soaps which gradually weaken fabrics and dull their color. Chipso loosens dirt harmlessly by RICHER SUDS. That is why Chipso-washed clothes stay new-looking for years.

Don't endanger the clothes you have spent good money for by washing them in cheap flakes or strong granulated soaps and powders. Get Chipso from your grocer. At its low price, Chipso is the biggest value in rich safe soap on the market today!

Chipso makes clothes wear longer

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

The Woman's Club of Rosslyn Farms is literally going to the dogs. Tonight in Parrish Park, the little park that was named for the founder of the community, the club will conduct a dog show as the final event in what has been an especially busy season. The entries have been made, in the majority of the cases, by the children of the farms, many of them sons and daughters of the club members.

Among the exhibitors in the 19 classes are Aubre Grier, Mrs. N. K. Parker, Mrs. Sayre Millen, Betty Coleman, Mrs. W. I. King, Lois Mason, Ned Arrowsmith, Ray Cathcart, Jane Moore, David Liversidge, Jane Schleifer, Jimmy McNall, Barrett and Stewart Oliver, Mimi Hamilton, Betsy Bell, Dorothy Alter, Mrs. Stephen Badlam, whose dog will be taken into the ring by Adaline Beggs; Paul Shively, C. H. Reymer, Sonny and Patty Doig, Patty Hofmann, Ned Napier, Margie Helm and Roger Speer.

There are Boston bulls, cocker spaniels, cairns, skyes, Scotties, toys, Irish, smooth and wire-haired terriers, and many other kinds of canine aristocrats and then there's a large class of dear-to-the-heart "just dogs."

Exhibiting in this class will be Billy Price, Edith Smith, Anna Cole, Sally Ray, Jack Carmichael, Roger Flint and Bill Nesbit. Mrs. King is secretary of the show and has entered several members of her dog family. The judges will be Stephen Badlam, Ray Helm, G. W. Price, W. M. Parrish and W. W. Bell.

South Hills Women Offer Public Tennis Courts

Tennis, on hard-surfaced courts such as are used in California, is one of the advantages offered to the community by the Mt. Lebanon Women's Club, which maintains two courts on the athletic field at the Washington School. The project also provides summer employment for a high school youth, and this year Dallas Long is supervising the sport.

There's a modest fee for a season permit, or the courts may be rented on an hourly basis. The recreational feature is sponsored by the club's community service department and in under the direction of Mrs. Charles Adams.

Chautauqua Study Books For Season Announced

Before leaving yesterday for her summer home on the Assembly Grounds, Mrs. Rollins A. Haddock, head of the Pittsburgh Chautauqua Literary and Scientific circles, announced the study books for next season. They are "God's Gold" by John T. Flynn; "Mark Twain's America," Bernard De Voto; "On Reading Shakespeare," Pearsall-Smith, and Ethel Peyser's "How to Enjoy Music."

Mr. and Mrs. Haddock will have as their week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Naser, of Heberton avenue, and their son James Naser.

Bridge Teas Sponsored By Homemaker's Guild

Bridge teas sponsored by the Homemaker's Guild at Spear's are one on Saturday afternoon for Dormont Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and another on Monday for the Women's Benefit Association of the Pittsburgh district.

This afternoon Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women's Bridge Club members are guests of the store and yesterday afternoon Pennsylvania Court, Order of the Amarath, was entertained.

Wildwood Country Club Golf Match Saturday

The first qualifying round for the club championship of the Wildwood Country Club will be played Saturday, medal play with full handicap. The second qualifying round will be played Saturday, July 1. Tomorrow there will be 18 holes, fewest putts tournament, and the following Friday there will be 18 holes, medal.

Lutheran Synod Names Pittsburgher

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 22.—(INS.)—Selection of New Kensington as the 1934 convention city was the concluding business of the ninety-first conclave of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church.

The synod voted to dispose of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Selinsgrove, Pa., and elected Dr. Frank Ash, of Pittsburgh, as secretary. Luther K. Clare, of Apollo, Pa., was accepted for ordination.

SETTING THE STAGE FOR GARDEN PARTY

MRS. D. B. FRAMPTON — MRS. J. AUDLEY PIERCE

Mrs. Frampton, the new president, and Mrs. Pierce in the Pierce garden, McKeesport boulevard, where the Southern Club will have a benefit party Tuesday. A Sun-Telegraph picture.

Mrs. Spear Hostess To Members of College Club

More than 225 members of the College Club attended the delightful garden party given yesterday by Mrs. Nathaniel Spear, of Northumberland street. Receiving with Mrs. Spear were Mrs. George M. Swan, Mrs. F. F. Rohrer, Miss M. Helen Marks and Mrs. Howard H. Talblot, the club's new social chairman.

The guests were greeted informally on the verandas, and then went for a tour of the lovely gardens. Refreshments were served in the little flag stone circle near the waterfall.

Tomorrow at noon the 64 members who have been received into the club since June 1 will be guests of honor at a bridge luncheon in the clubhouse and next week Mrs. K. R. Cunningham will be hostess at a picnic luncheon at her home on the Dorseyville road.

The new members have decided to meet weekly during the summer, gathering for luncheon each Tuesday and remaining for an afternoon of light fiction reviews.

Pittsburgh Field Club To Give Dance Saturday

The Pittsburgh Field Club house committee announces a dinner or supper-dance on Saturday at the club, and a schedule of events for July includes a dance every Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ziegler Hostess For Hazel Court Party

Mrs. Charles Ziegler, of Greenfield avenue, will be hostess for a card party to be given Tuesday by Hazel Court, No. 59, Order of the Amarath.

ENTRIES IN FLORAL GALLERY

Entries in the flower show at the Mt. Lebanon Women's Club garden fete on Wednesday, at Wallingcrest, Mrs. W. J. Fuller's home, will be arranged in a floral gallery and will be judged by Ralph Stewart and Frank Godwin. Any member of the community may be an exhibitor.

A baked goods competition will be judged by Mrs. J. V. Gilfillan and Mrs. Ross K. Conaway. The youngsters of the community will be well looked after, too, in the way of entertainment, for Mrs. Bernard Lawson will have a fish pond.

Olive oil keeps your skin young —and it's olive oil that makes Palmolive green

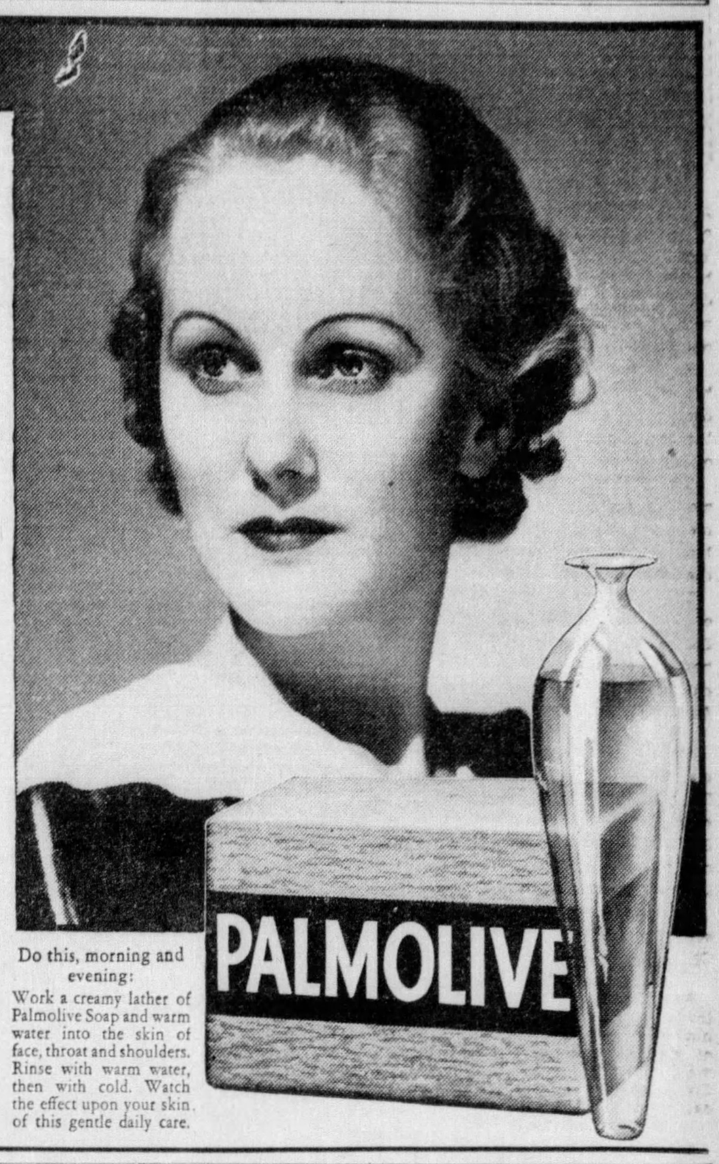
THE fact that olive oil is good for the skin has been known for over 3,000 years. It was used by famous beauties, centuries ago, together with oils of palm . . . as a means of keeping skin soft and satiny.

Today those very oils are blended in a famous soap formula—Palmolive, made for one purpose, and one only, to protect the youth of lovely skin.

Palmolive's gentle olive and palm oil lather cleanses the skin in perfect safety, leaving it radiantly young, firm and smooth in texture. It soothes and stimulates, at the same time.

Get three bars today. Begin the beauty treatment recommended by 20,000 beauty experts. Prove to yourself that Palmolive Soap, with its olive oil content, will keep your skin soft, smooth, youthfully healthy.

The vial at the right shows the exact amount of olive oil we put into each cake



Do this, morning and evening:
Work a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water into the skin of face, throat and shoulders. Rinse with warm water, then with cold. Watch the effect upon your skin of this gentle daily care.

JUSTAN Old American Custom!

IT'S ALL part of a grand tradition . . . this liking for a long, tall drink! Certainly it seems to be almost universally accepted as the civilized way to drink after sundown.

So you'll find Canada Dry all over the world. Wherever the ancient custom has gone, The Champagne of Ginger Ales has followed. And the reason is quite simple. No other ginger ale makes such a good drink.

Leave aside, for the moment, the remarkable flavor of Canada Dry . . . its purity . . . its sparkle . . . and just consider its balance. It doesn't merely mix . . . it blends! It makes a long, tall drink a thing of delight . . . no matter what else you use. Lemon or lime. The flavor of juniper or apple.

And, of course, that's just as true if you drink The Champagne of Ginger Ales all by itself. A more delightful drink to refresh you on a warm day would be hard to find!

BIG BOTTLE 20c
(Plus 5c returnable bottle deposit)

Not just a large bottle but a BIG 28-ounce bottle making from 5 to 8 tall drinks. Canada Dry is also made-to-order by the glass at soda fountains.

Egotist

There's not a thing I'd care to change in you.
Your voice is soft and soothing as the rain.
There's lure and grace in anything you do,
As I have told you time and time again.
You dance divinely—own a clever line;
You're tactful—and unruffled day on day.
In fact, incessant thrills run up my spine
Whenever fancy sends you down my way.

I'm certain that my passion is sincere,
I know your equal simply can't exist;
And yet I'm doomed to court you vainly, dear,
A sorry lad, disgruntled and dismissed:

For tho' you're loved to death by me as few are—
I'm not as much in love with you—as you are!

—Don Wahn.

Capsule Criticism

Added to our already long list of cutting cracks from caustic critics is the one for which Edward Knopf was the target. It was when he had a speck of a part in "The Czarina," which starred Doris Keane ever so long ago. Knopf merely walked across the tiny stage once.

One critic said of his performance:

"Too bad the play isn't at the Hippodrome—so he could have had a bigger part."

Incidentally

And in covering Katharine Cornell in "The Green Hat," Alexander Woolcott reported:

"The curtain dropped in the second act to denote a lapse of virtue."

Of All Remarks!

Ben Bard's favorite earthquake story deals with the newcomer to Los Angeles, who was taking his first masseuse rub down and socking around. The earth shook violently. But he wasn't impressed and kept dozing.

"Good heavsn!" yelled a pal. "Didn't you feel that. It's an earthquake."

"It is?" was the indifferent retort. "I thought it was part of the treatment."

Izzy Elinsonism

Epitaph

It was over at the Writers' Club luncheon the other noon and ex-B'wayikes were reminiscing about once-upon-a-timers. They finally came around to an unpopular critic—get that for a study in redundancy!

Heheheh

The latest quip on Zeppo Marx (the one they bring on for bows) is that Zeppo called up the studios and said:

"Have they started making the Marx Brothers picture yet?"

In Case You Didn't Know

The big idea when they turn the guns on you is to survive the bombardment. We can remember all the way back when adverse criticism worried us—for fear that it would retard whatever progress there was to achieve. After you've felt the splinters that come with the pop-gun ammunition merely keeps you chuckling when and if, of course, you're ticklish.

Here are a few people and things that will survive after going through the acid test from the severest criticism: Rudy Vallee, the Ford car, the Ingersoll watch, Greta Garbo, the Swiss navy, Texas Guinan, Paul McCullough, Joan Crawford, the Boston baked bean, Ben Bernie and limburger cheese.

Love Is Like That

They both were known to stage and screen audiences before Hollywood brought them greater fame and fortune. She prospered on the New York stage—and he worked when he could get it.

One day she arrived in Los Angeles a little broke, and went straight to his elegant apartment, where she instructed all her luggage to be delivered.

"What's the idea?" he asked.

"Lissen, dearie," she responded, "I took care of you when nobody else would on Broadway. Now you worry about me!"

Then they were married.

He was Edmund Lowe and she was Lilyan Tashman. It's little things like that—that make big paragraphs like these.

Trick

You probably know the story, but don't be a nuisance. It's my column, anyhow. It's about the time Rockne's team was being whipped at Soldier Field by the University of S. California. When the first half ended Rockne walked over to his team's undressing room—and paused after opening the door.

"Oh, I begva poddon!" Rockne exclaimed, "I thought this was the Notre Dame team's room."

Then he walked away. The devastating sarcasm, they say, was so effective Notre Dame went back for the second half and practically murdered the USC eleven before winning.

Merciless Truth

Con Conrad, who Columbused Russ Colombo, and one of the better songsmiths, said to Jack Warner, the movie magnate:

"Yes," nifted Warner, "the hotels here will finally get their towels back."

How You Can Tell

The honeymoon is over, says Mack Gordon, when they talk about the weather and mean it . . . The honeymoon is over, contribs Lou Holtz, when he keeps his arms crossed at the movies . . . Dave Alber says the honeymoon is over when he keeps his hat on in the elevator . . . A. K. says the honeymoon is ended when she asks his if he has a match, and he says (without removing his eyes from the newspapers), "The matches are over there—on the table."

Katharine Cornell to Play Juliet Without A Green Hat

By GEORGE SEIBEL

It has often been said that no actress can play Juliet till she is too old to look the part. Katharine Cornell intends to play the part while she can still look it. She has announced that she will tour the country next season in a repertoire of three plays—"Romeo and Juliet," Bernard Shaw's "Candida" and Rudolf Besier's "Barretts of Wimpole Street." This is a splendid group of plays, the only doubt being the permanent appeal of the Browning drama.

Mr. Seibel

Katharine Cornell should make an appealing Juliet. In recent years we have had Jane Cowl, Genevieve Hamper and Ethel Barrymore. What that truly distinguished actress was trying to do in a character whose age was placed by Shakespeare at 14, it is hard to fathom. But every actress must have a fling at Juliet. And the men who play Romeo are even more incongruous. Robert Mantell stuck to it until he could no longer climb a rope ladder.

America has furnished some of the loveliest Juliets in the history of the stage. William Winter says:

"The most romantic and most passionate Juliet of our epoch was that of Adelaide Neilson; the most essentially woman-like and splendidly tragic Juliet that our stage has known within the last 50 years was that of Mary Anderson."

The present generation still remembers the exquisite loveliness of young Julia Marlowe, the luminous intelligence of Viola Allen, the pathetic passion of Margaret Mather. There have been others in varying moods from girlish innocence to sly sophistication. Katharine Cornell will undoubtedly present a modern Juliet, though there is no intimation that she'll wear a green hat and an up-to-date frock.

Miss Cornell has also bought a play by Owen Davis called "Jezebel," but it doesn't concern the Bible lady. She also has the rights of Clemence Dane's "Wild Decembers," one of the five Charlotte Bronte plays at present extant.

'HOW MANY ACTORS?'

People sometimes wonder how many actors are in the United States, which includes New York and Hollywood. Perhaps the annual report of the Actors' Equity Association answers the question better than any other source of information.

The total membership at the end of this fiscal year was 4,818. There were 1,538 classified as "out of benefit" for non-payment of dues. The number during the previous year had been 2,316, which is about the average. Many actors leave the stage, go abroad, or are unemployed and fail to resign or to notify the association. There were 467 honorable withdrawals last year, which is also about the average, while 65 members were dropped.

On the face of these statements it seems that there are about 7,500 actors in the United States, men and women, in addition to which must be counted a number of vaudeville artists, ladies of the chorus, and occasional players who are not affiliated with Equity, which is the Actors' Union, and has done great good in preventing the exploitation of this very unbusinesslike class by unscrupulous producers.

ASTRONOMICAL DEBTS

During the palmy days of the legitimate theater it frequently happened that actors and managers, especially actor-managers like Edmund Booth and Richard Mansfield, became financially involved. They built theaters or made expensive productions and found themselves bankrupt with a burden of debts.

Two heroic examples of honesty among American actors were those of Booth and Mansfield, slaving for years on the road to pay back their creditors. Both men succeeded in those labors, like Sir Walter Scott and Mark Twain in the field of literature.

Today such debts as Booth and Mansfield faced are "trifles light as air." The big Fox film corporation is just re-organizing under a plan which will take care of debts amounting to $39,746,400. That almost goes into astronomical figures like the European war debts—and maybe it ought to be put in the hands of the League of Nations or some international conference. The current liabilities of the Fox Company are over $2,000,000, and a new issue of stock is to take care of all past indebtedness and provide capital for future operations.

Hollywood has learned a severe financial lesson during the recent depression, which still lingers. Millions have been thrown away to provide trashy spectacles. Recent films indicate not only that extravagance has been curbed, but that intelligent direction will give us more pictures like "Cavalcade" and "Secrets."

Mayfair Roof Garden To Reopen Friday

Eddie Klein, long identified with night clubs locally, is manager of the Mayfair Hotel Roof, which will reopen tomorrow night. The roof garden has been entirely redecorated and refurnished, with an American bar said to be patterned after one at Shanghai. Jimmy Conrad's band will supply the dance music. There will be a floor show and a Gypsy string trio will play between dances.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The second performance of "Another Language" by the Stage Guild will be given at the Willows, Oakmont, tonight. The third and final presentation of the Rose Franken comedy will be held next Monday night. Critics of all Pittsburgh newspapers spoke kindly of the efforts of the players after its first production in Oakmont last Monday.

Have you any idea about who should play Alice in a proposed film, "Alice in Wonderland? If you have, I would be pleased to pass it along to Paramount, which plans to produce the childhood classic in time for Christmas release. Who should play Alice? Should she be a child or young woman? If a child, what age? Should she be a blond or brunet? English or American? Should she be an established screen star? Whom? The producers now plan to cast Charles Ruggles as the Mad Hatter; Alison Skipworth, as the Duchess; Mary Boland and W. C. Fields as the Red Queen and King, and possibly Jack Oakie in the dual roles of Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

The Cleveland Playhouse will be the Chautauqua Repertory Company throughout July and August in Chautauqua, N. Y., the original of all "Chautauquas." The plays will include "Whistling in the Dark," "The Devil Passes," "Hay Fever," "Twelfth Night" and "Theres' Always Juliet." The opening play, "Whistling in the Dark," will be given July 6 and 7. Chautauqua is visited annually by hundreds of Pittsburgh residents, many of whom maintain their own cottages there year after year.

SCIENTISTS PROVE this Soap is wonderful aid in keeping skin Young-looking

Scientists say, "Tests show Lux Toilet Soap actually contains precious elements Nature puts in skin itself to keep it youthful."

SOFT, smooth, youthful skin! Who wouldn't do everything in her power to keep the exquisite skin-texture of youth!

Hollywood does. 686 out of the 694 important Hollywood actresses use fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap because they find it keeps skin so deliciously smooth . . . radiant . . . young-looking. But WHY does it do this?

The Secret of Youthful Skin

Nature, you know, puts certain precious elements into every type of skin. Youthful skin is rich in them. But these elements are gradually lost as the years go by. Then skin grows tragically dull, old-looking.

NOW scientists bring good news: You can check the loss of these precious elements! For laboratory tests show this soap actually contains precious elements skin itself has—and must have to stay youthful.

Lux Toilet Soap, completely free from harshness, readily soluble, and containing such precious elements, is an unquestionable aid in keeping skin young-looking, scientists declare.

Why don't you give your skin this scientific care just as millions of men and women are doing everywhere? Start today!

For EVERY Type of Skin

CONSTANCE CUMMINGS is one of scores of screen stars who have used Lux Toilet Soap for years to keep their complexions young-looking.

Out of the Past

THE STORY, strange and unholy, starts this way:

From their earliest childhood John Mason and his brother Ben were as different—outside of a marked physical resemblance—as two men could possibly be.

Ben was a plodder, hard-working and unimaginative. John was the exact opposite. He had dreams of a brilliant career that ended abruptly when he was yanked from school at the request of a harassed principal.

This, however, failed to still his ambitions. He had a strong desire to get somewhere as quickly as possible. The methods made little difference to him.

Thus, by the time that his younger brother had graduated from school, John had established a small business in which he offered his brother a partnership. Ben accepted it gladly because, on the surface, the business looked to be a strictly legitimate enterprise.

What he didn't know, of course, was that John was involved in a counterfeiting enterprise in the sub-cellar of the shop. It was a clumsy enterprise, even though all the tools and materials were present. And it was only a question of time until the very phony bills were traced to their source.

Maybe John was quite aware of that fact, for he placed the establishment in his brother's name and permitted him to manage the business while he traveled around the country and attempted to unload some of the home-made dough. If there was any catching to be done, John wasn't particularly anxious to be present when it happened.

And happen it did. The shop was raided one afternoon when John was away, and Ben was arrested. Dull and seemingly unable to comprehend exactly what had happened, his story of the facts was hardly convincing. Whereupon, within a short time, he was placed on trial for manufacturing and circulating spurious currency.

The elder brother, in a city that was not so far away, learned the facts from the newspapers. His reaction was typical of the man. He was sorry, of course, that Ben had been forced to take the rap—but if he hadn't been smart enough to see how things were, that was his tough luck.

The day that Ben was given a sentence of from seven to ten years, John purchased a home town newspaper to get all the details. Protesting his innocence, Ben had made a statement, and it was printed in full.

"There is one man who knows I am innocent," he had said. "He could have saved me. Some day I will find him. If it takes a lifetime—I will find him."

John read, and was plenty uneasy. But, he told himself, that seven years was a long, long time. He and Ben would never meet again. On that point he was most determined. He began to make plans to leave the country as swiftly as possible...

The next part of the story, cruel but seemingly just, moves as follows:

That very night, in the hotel where he was registered as John Reade, he met a young woman who was to change all of his plans. He fell in love with her the moment his eyes met hers. And while he should have known better, his plans for flight were promptly forgotten. All he wanted now was peace—and this woman.

Mary was a member of one of those proud and respected old families that we read about in books, but seldom meet. John was wise enough to know that if they ever learned one word about his shady past his case was hopeless. And his love for this girl was so real that he was willing to tackle anything; even something legitimate.

In a few weeks, by a stroke of luck, he found himself an excellent position with a definite future in a mercantile house. Possessed of natural ability and spurred by his great desire to marry the girl he loved, his work was entirely satisfactory.

Ding! Dong! Dong! Ding! Those are supposed to be wedding bells, and until columns are wired for sound, they will have to suffice. John married the girl of his choice, as the saying goes, and he was far happier than he had any right to be.

Every now and then, of course, he thought with misgivings of the crime he had committed and of the brother who was serving the jail sentence that should have been his. He was never quite able to forget Ben's statement about finding him some day, and I don't know that I blame him much.

When his daughter was born, however, John almost succeeded in pushing these thoughts completely out of his mind. His life was too full to worry.

His child was three when the blow fell. John was crossing the street on his way home when a large car shot by him, going at a fair rate of speed. But in spite of that, John caught a glimpse of two men who were sitting in the back seat. And the sight of one of them struck terror into his soul.

The man was Ben. There was no doubt about it. His face had an unnatural pallor, and he had grown very thin. But John had recognized him in that one, short glimpse.

He was trembling so as he went home that he could hardly walk. The thing that he had feared most had come to pass. Ben had found him. He would expose him. Ruin him. Shatter the things he had built and treasured for the past few years.

And yet, strangely enough, it was not about himself that John was thinking. That much we must say for him. He was thinking of his wife and the girl, and of the disgrace that would fall upon them.

The evening was a nightmare. Every time a footstep sounded outside, John would bound nervously from his chair. Everywhere he looked, he saw Ben's cold eyes staring at him.

So, all through the night, John paced the living room floor. He walked and walked and walked—always to nowhere. And when the dawn came, he went upstairs to the attic and drew out his old revolver.

He examined it, loaded it, and fired one bullet—into his brain . . .

The end of the story, grimly ironic, is told this way:

The whole town discussed the case. Even in the state insane asylum, on the outskirts of the town, it was a favorite topic of conversation.

There, an orderly and a nurse, on night duty, together read the reports in the newspapers.

"Look here," the nurse pointed out as she held up John Reade's picture. "This suicide looks enough like that new patient who came in yesterday to be his brotner."

"Right you are," agreed the orderly. "You mean Mason, the guy who was transferred from the jail. Sister, he's a bad case. Went crazy thinkin' about some guy he says railroaded him to prison. Raves all day what he's gonna do to him when he gets out."

He shook his head.

"But whoever the guy is," he added, "he hasn't got a thing to worry about. That bird, Mason, hasn't a chance in a million of ever getting out of here." ...

Studios Not To Move

The oft-reiterated threat to move the film capital from Hollywood to New York is characterized as nonsense by Henry Hathaway, who is now directing Zane Grey's "Man of the Forest."

"Until the West becomes as densely populated as the East, the motion picture industry will remain where it is," Hathaway declares. "And when it does move—if ever—it will not be to New York. Western pictures, especially, could have no other center of production than Hollywood," he maintains. "The mountain and desert country which is called upon so much to furnish outdoor locations for those pictures could never be duplicated in the East.

"This is almost equally true for other types of pictures, due to the fact that natural exterior scenes duplicating any part of the world can be found in Southern California within a short distance from the studios. African desert and jungle, English or French countryside or Italian seaside can all be located there."

Dorothea Wieck to Do 'Cradle Song'

With production plans for "White Woman," Dorothea Wieck's first starring production for Paramount, under way, studio executives announce the selection of "Cradle Song," play by Gregorio and Maria Martinez-Sierra, as her second American picture. Marc Connelly, Frank Partos and Martinez-Sierra are now working on the adaptation. "Cradle Song," which had a run on the New York stage, is the tragedy of a girl whose suppressed love finds outlet in a small child left at her door.

Miss Del Rio In Musical Movie

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, June 22.—No star with a singing voice is being overlooked in the new craze for musicals. The tune-films now are to get Dolores Del Rio, who will take the feminine lead in RKO's "Flying Down to Rio."

This picture, scheduled to follow "Dance of Desire," which Donald Henderson Clarke is writing for Dolores, also will feature Fred Astaire, one of Broadway's favorite sons.

It will be the first time the Mexican star has appeared in an out-and-out musical, although she has sung several numbers in her other pictures.

Dolores is very busy these days. She is taking an hour's dancing lesson every day, is giving more time to her voice, is posing for Cedric Gibbons—full length statue—and is spending hours in the sun. The star attributes her improved health to sun baths and plenty of milk.

Real Naval Officers Taken for Extras

Jack Mintz, assistant director in Paramount's "Gambling Ship," recently requested 50 extras, to be attired in United States naval officer uniforms and to report for work on the set. Much to his surprise, 50 Japanese naval officers appeared at the appointed hour. Mintz telephoned his protest to the casting office. He was much chagrined to learn that the Japanese officers were from ships of that nation's navy anchored in San Pedro harbor, and were guests of the studio for the day.

M'KECHNIE'S OUTFIT HEADING UPWARD

BOSTON'S INCREASED POWER has got to be considered before you attribute yesterday's double defeat to another weakening on the part of the Pirates after four straight wins. It was disappointing to see the latest winning streak cracked by two reverses in one afternoon, both games being dropped in the late innings, but in view of the strength that Bill McKechnie's club now presents on the field, the Bucs did mighty well to grab three out of five in the Hub to start the Eastern trip. Many another club will not be as fortunate in competition with the bolstered Braves.

Bill McKechnie

Never a push-over, the Boston club has become very much more formidable since the acquisition of Pinky Whitney and Hal Lee. McKechine has added offensive power to his outfit while maintaining a defensive standard that is not surpassed in the majors. Bill now has hitters as well as pitchers and fielders, and the tandom triumph over the Corsairs may have been the starting point in an upward drive that is quite likely to land the Braves in or close to the first division. Boston will be nobody's cousin during the remainder of the race.

IT ISN'T ONLY by his improved play that Pepper Martin has helped the Cardinals in their drive. His dashing style and fighting spirit have made him a sparkplug, with a spurring influence on the whole club, and he has a worthy mate in Leo Durocher.

Those two pepperpots at third base and shortstop have put a lot of fire and fight in the Redbirds, and with Frankie Frisch also showing his old hustle and dash at second base Gabby Street has one of the liveliest infields ever put together. Fine pitching has not been wholly responsible for the St. Louis rush. The spirit of Frisch, Martin and Durocher is a huge factor.

OSCAR ECKHARDT, of the Missions, who has led the Pacific Coast League batters since the first week in May, continues to top the hitting table with the lofty average of .443. He made 129 hits in 70 games. Walter Berger's brother is hitting .359 for Portland, and ex-Pirate Earl Sheely, now a catcher, has a mark of .351.

Orville Mohler, former Trojan football star, is going at a .326 clip for Los Angeles. Jimmy Zinn and Ben Sankey, former Buccaneers, are batting .317 and .312, respectively. Chick Hafey's nephew is right on the .300 line for the Missions.

THE UPHILL FIGHT the Senators have made to close in on the Yankees and get back in the American League pennant race is all the more creditable to Joe Cronin and his ballers because they have been making their battle this year with little assistance from a pitcher who had been expected to prove one of their main props. Last year Monte Weaver was rivaled only by Johnny Allen, of the Yankees, for the ranking of the best new hurler in the American League. Weaver won 22 games for Washington, being one of only five slabmen in the loop to reach the 20 mark in victories. On the strength of that showing, he had figured to be a big winner again this season and one of Cronin's face cards in the campaign to dethrone the Yankees as champions of the Harridge circuit.

Monte Weaver

BUT SO FAR, Monte has not given the Senators a lot of help, losing four games against five victories. A sore arm has kept him from taking his regular turn, not unusual in a young pitcher who makes the mistake of putting too much on the ball in the early days of a race.

Manager Cronin is taking no chances with Weaver. After watching him throw half a dozen balls in a recent warm-up he ordered Monte to quit pitching and confine his work to running around the park. Weaver's arm is worth $100,000 to the Senators and Joe will run no risks.

SPEAKING OF WASHINGTON'S pitchers, Manager Cronin took occasion to pay a tribute to Earl Whitehill, the left-hander obtained from Detroit, while spending a couple of hours in Pittsburgh between trains one night recently.

Whitehill has been reported as hard to handle, but Cronin pronounced those rumors unjust to a faithful, willing athlete. Joe said he never had come in contact with a more conscientious pitcher than Whitehill, and as evidence of Earl's spirit he related that only the day before the southpaw had requested that he be taken to Wheeling

ALL-AMERICA SEMI-FINAL ABROAD

LONDON, June 22.—(AP.)—H. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., the American and Wimbledon champion, rallied after dropping the first set today to defeat A. A. Fyzee, veteran Davis Cup player from India, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3, and join three compatriots in an all-America semi-final round in the London tennis championships at the Queen's Club.

The others who advanced to the semi-finals of the men's singles were Clifford Sutter, Keith Gledhill and Lester Stoefen, all members of the American "first ten."

Straight-set victories also marked the progress of Helen Wills Moody, American holder of the Wimbledon women's crown, and Dorothy Andrus Burke, of Stamford, Conn., who won the London title last year.

David Jones, former Columbia University star, and Clayton Lee Burwell, of Charlotte, N. C., paired to defeat the powerful Japanese team of Jiro Satoh and A. Nunoi in the second round of the doubles, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

Gridder, Coach's Daughter Married

NEW HAVEN Conn., June 22.—(AP.)—Joseph P. Crowley, football and track star, was headed today for White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with the daughter of T. A. D. Jones, former Eli gridiron coach, as his bride, and a degree from Yale.

Miss Betty Shearn Jones and the Eli athlete, a resident of Milwaukee, were married late yesterday in a simple ceremony at the home of the Bride's parents. A few hours before Crowley, whose work in the backfield in 1931 and 1932 contributed much to Eli victories over Harvard, received a bachelor of arts degree.

Wife of Phils' Pitcher Poisoned

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—(INS.)—Mrs. Pattie Pickrel, 21, wife of Clarence Pickrel, pitcher for the Philadelphia Nationals, was in a critical condition today after taking poison by mistake.

Mrs. Pickrel was taken ill a week ago when she drank an antiseptic solution in mistake for medicine, hospital physicians said. No report was made at the time because she appeared to be relieved by medical treatment. Last night, however, her condition became grave and police were notified.

BUCCOS LOSE DOUBLE BILL TO BRAVES

BROOKLYN, June 22.—That unkind bugaboo term, "In-and-Outers," haunted the Pittsburgh Pirates again as they prepared to lay a seige of Greater New York today. The Buccaneers have spent the best part of the last month in building up their followers' hopes and then knocking them down in alternating currents.

The in-and-out doings of the Pirates while the Giants were in a magnificent stride have tended to submerge the Buccos for the time. The double defeat sustained in Boston yesterday threw the Pittsburghers four full games below the leaders.

LOSE PAIR TO BRAVES

The Pirates surely had their share of bad breaks as they lost, 6-5 and 5-3, to the Braves. If Lee really were nailed at the plate on Paul Waner's dandy throw in the eighth the contest might have gone into extra innings with the Pirates having at least an even chance of winning. And they had the second fight sewed up as late as the eighth, when Pinkey Whitney unloaded a three-run homer to spill the beans for the invaders.

Paul Waner shared the home run honors with Pinkey. Paul gave the Pirates a commanding lead in the third inning of the nightcap when he drove a homer into the rightfield bleachers with Grace and Brother Lloyd aboard.

BUCS USE MANY HURLERS

Gibby used five pitchers in an attempt to grab off the first game. Hal Smith started and was nicked for three runs early. The game entered the fifth with the Braves leading by four runs. Clean hitting by Grace, Thevenow and Comorosky in this round netted two tallies. The Pirates added another in the sixth, but the Tribe also picked up a run in this inning.

The seventh inning saw the Buccos in a two-run flourish that tied up the game, but the disputed run of the eighth gave the home team the laurel. Tommy Thevenow featured the early scrap by making four hits. Ben Cantwell pitched eight innings of this contest.

Baseball Federation To Convene Here

The National Baseball Federation holds its summer meeting at the Fort Pitt Hotel Saturday, beginning with a session at 9 A. M., another at 2 P. M., and a dinner dance under the auspices of the Greater Pittsburgh Federation at 6 P. M.

The annual tournament of the Federation will be held here in September.

Mayor Herron and other city and county notables have been invited to attend. C. E. Brewer, of Detroit, president of the Federation, will speak. W. S. Haddock is president of the local body.

Champion Sculler Not to Turn Pro

HAMILTON, Ont., June 22.—(AP.)—Bobby Pearce, Olympic champion sculler, today said he had signed no article for a professional match race with Ted Phelps, holder of the world professional title, and planned to remain an amateur.

Phelps announced in London yesterday that he was going to Toronto to row Pearce for the world title in August.

DUNLAP BEATS SOMERVILLE, 2-1, AT HOYLAKE

U. S. GOLF ACE NEAR BRITISH CHAMPIONSHIP

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 22.—(AP.)—George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, today eliminated C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, Canadian holder of the United States Amateur golf title, in the sixth round of the British Amateur golf championship, 2 and 1.

The victory of the slim young American, twice holder of the intercollegiate title while a student at Princeton, put him into the quarter-final round of the championship.

After dropping the first two holes, George won four straight to take a lead of two holes, and was never behind again. The match became a sensational struggle through the middle half of the inward bound nine with first Somerville and then Dunlap laying the other stymies.

HURDLES DEAD STYMIE

The break came on the sixteenth green, after Somerville had squared the match on the fifteenth when Dunlap chipped his ball into the hole over a dead stymie Sandy had laid him, and then sank a six-yarder on the seventeenth green for a birdie 3 to end the match. The cards:

Dunlap, out	555	344	354—38
Somerville, out	446	455	344—39
Dunlap, in	445	355	43
Somerville, in	544	354	54

In the lower half, Douglas Grant, the former Californian long resident of England, advanced to the quarter-finals by defeating R. Rutherford, of Wimbledon, 2 and 1.

NASH ELIMINATED

Cyril James Hastings Tolley, British champion in 1920 and 1929 and an American resident for several years, continued his way toward the final in the lower half of the draw with a 3-and-1 victory over A. C. Giles, of Worplesdon.

Martin Schunch, little known golfer from Sandwich, went into the last eight with a 5-and-4 victory over J. J. Cowan, of Carlisle, in the upper half of the draw.

DUNLAP EQUALS RECORD

In the fifth round matches, played this morning, Dunlap defeated the British Walker Cup player, William Lister Hartley, of Chiselhurst, 5 and 4, and Somerville won over Edward P. Kyle, of Scotland, 3 and 2.

Somerville won by gaining an early lead of 5 up and then "nursing" his advantage, but Dunlap advanced by staging a great finish, in which he won the last five straight holes. The young New Yorker played seven holes from the seventh to the thirteenth in 22 strokes, to tie the record, set by Archie Compston in 1930, for this stretch of the course. The cards of the Dunlap-Hartley match:

Dunlap, out	545	455	334—38
Hartley, out	555	344	454—39
Dunlap, in	334	25
Hartley, in	446	6

WETHERED DEFEATED

In other fifth-round matches Roger Wethered, titleholder in 1923, was eliminated by another former champion, William Tweddell, 1 up, in 19 holes; Nash scored a fine victory over Rex Hartley, British Walker cup player, 1 up in 19 holes; Tolley barely escaped elimination as H. N. M. Fogg, who put out the American Charles Sweeny yesterday, carried him to 19 holes, before surrendering the match, 1 up, and Grant scored a 6-and-5 victory over J. G. M. Sherlock, of Cheshire.

U. S. Holds Lead In Chess Tourney

FOLKSTONE, England, June 22.—(AP.)—The United States clung today to the leadership in the international chess tournament after recording a 4-0 shutout victory over the Lithuanian team and splitting the series with the Hungarians. The clean sweep was effected in the twelfth round of play.

RYDER GOLFERS PRACTICE

LONDON, June 22.—(AP.)—The United States Ryder Cup team hardly wasted a minute between its arrival in England and the beginning of practice for the international matches at Southport next Monday and Tuesday, but the earnestness of Walter Hagen and his crew failed to shake the confidence of the British.

An hour after the Americans reached Waterloo Station they had escaped from the welcoming crowd and were practicing on the Addington course near Croydon.

Hughes, Howell Tie for Medal

ATLANTA, June 22.—(AP.)—Julius Hughes, stocky young Atlanta player, came rushing in with the shadows late yesterday with the only sub-par round of the tournament to tie Billy Howell, of Richmond, Va., at 147, for the southern amateur golf championship qualifying medal.

Three strokes back after the opening 18 holes with a 76, Hughes shot the old course in 71, one stroke under par, to tie the Virginian, who had posted his score earlier in the day.

ASTOR'S HORSE WINS

NEWBURY, Eng., June 22.—(AP.)—Lord Astor's 5-year-old gelding, Creme Brulee, carrying top weight of 129 pounds, won the Newbury Summer Cup today over the route of one mile and a half. Quoted at 7 to 1, Creme Brulee finished two lengths in front of D. S. Kennedy's Nitsichin. The Aga Khan's Taj Kasra was third.

Pittsburgh Likely To Get Pro Berth

COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—(AP.)—Three more clubs may be added next month to the national pro football league.

President Joe F. Carr has announced that Cincinnati and Pittsburgh already have filed applications, and Philadelphia is expected to be heard from before the annual schedule meeting at Chicago July 8 and 9.

It is understood that Pittsburgh already has been awarded a franchise in the National Professional Football League, with Art Rooney at the head of the organization, and that the action of the league at its Chicago meeting merely will confirm this fact.

OUIMET'S GOLF

By FRANCIS OUIMET

Former National Amateur and Open Champion.

Going over the golf records for the past decade, it will be noticed that the Open winners have been players with considerable experience in competition, and that in no case has an unheard-of player won the title. Yet tall, slender Ralph Guldahl came near accomplishing this feat in the recent National open. Strange to say, it was not one of the prominent pros who beat him with a slim, one-stroke margin, but one of the foremost amateurs of the day, Johnny Goodman.

Francis Ouimet

It is true that throughout this country there are dozens of young professionals who are quite capable of scoring as well as any golfer, and their record in local play would stand up with that of Sarazen, Farrell, Dutra, Hagen or players of this caliber. However, playing locally and playing in national competition are two different things, and Guldahl's feat in beating the best the prominent professionals could offer in United States' greatest golf competition is an achievement that, judging from past records, is not likely to be duplicated for some time.

A national event to Hagen and the rest of the seasoned veterans is just another golf tournament. They appear on the first tee with a background of years of experience. They are not apt to tighten up, and, therefore, they are more likely to fall into their normal form than is the inexperienced fellow to whom a national event is the outstanding one of his career.

In 1920, Leo Diegel, playing in his first National Open, apparently had the title sewed up with a few holes left to be played. He had been playing beautifully, and par on the last few holes would give him the victory by a considerable margin. The gallery sensing the fact that Diegel might be the winner, scampered after him, and, considerably overawed by the large throng of people who suddenly picked up his play, Diegel took a bad 7 and definitely ruined his chances.

In 1922, Sarazen was the winner. Prior to the Open Sarazen had a very successful season and was playing very well, yet when he put in an appearance at Skokie, he was just another player and the crowd chose to follow John Black, Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and some of the more famous players. With no interference from crowds and feeling no pressure whatsoever, Sarazen, who had been well up with the leaders, finished with a sparkling 68 all by himself and won the title. He played without interfefence of any kind and did not have the terrific pressure that is brought upon a player by a huge gallery.

WHEN HANCOCK LOST

Another instance of how the crowd can confuse the player might be pointed out in the case of Roland Hancock. Hancock had the title, which eventually was won by Farrell, in his coat pocket. All he needed to have on the last two holes was a pair of 5s, and the title was his. Instead, he took a six on one hold where par was 4, and another 6 where par was 5. In other words, he was three over par on two holes. Hancock no doubt was considerably influenced by the fact that he was suddenly surrounded by a tremendous crowd who had picked him to win.

LOCAL TRACK STARS ENTER TITLE MEET

By JESS CARVER

The Pittsburgh district will be represented by at least seven athletes, Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. champs, at the national outdoor track and field meet in Chicago next week. Seven have filed their entries to date, with the possibility of the local squad eventually numbering 10.

So far, Cornell Cooper, high and broad jump star, former Pitt athlete; Howard Spencer, of Geneva College, hurdler and high jumper; Frank Cerney, 10,000 meters champion; John Deni, walker; Everett Utterback, former Pitt Negro flash and former national collegiate indoor broad jump champion and record holder; Fred Pusch, former Grove City weight tosser and A. Mazzi, of the K. A. C., have entered the nationals.

Joe Beggs, Geneva College javelin tosser; O'Deal Pryor, Ford City Negro sprint ace and Bib Evans, Geneva College hurdler, also are eligible for competition.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

CHICAGO, June 22.—Speaking of conservation and helping out the country, I got a big idea.

Nick Altrock

If I can enlist 10,000 pro ball players in Altrock's Breath-Saving Corps, I can save a million dollars' worth of words and put the nation that much ahead.

Here's the idea: I've been laboring in baseball nigh on to 40 years, boy and man, and I've never heard an umpire lose an argument yet. I never even saw a draw decision. So all the 10,000 pro players have to do when they join Altrock's Breath-Saving Corps is first learn the slogan. It goes:

With this patriotic thought in mind, the players will naturally never argue with an umpire. This will not only save a million dollars' worth of words a year, but also will prevent 'em from being chased to the shower baths; it also will save enough water to run Boulder Dam. And all this vast natural wealth is created out of practically nothing, as the umpires' decisions would be the same, anyway.

The South Hills and Crafton teams meet in an American Legion junior baseball tournament game on the Dormont High school field at 6:30 this evening.

SCHOOL NINES BATTLE FOR TITLE TODAY

The City Scholastic League baseball championships was at stake this afternoon as the Westinghouse and South Hills nines clashed in the third and deciding game of the title series at the Peabody High School field.

South Hills won the first game, played last week, but Westinghouse came back to take the second on Tuesday.

Westinghouse probably will send Herb Beckett to the mound for the third time today, while South Hills likely will counter with Harry Fowle, a lefthander, who has shown to good advantage in the two games played to date in a relief role.

YALE NINE WINS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 22.—(AP.)—Supporting its pitchers brilliantly afield and hitting hard in one big inning, Yale defeated Harvard 4 to 2, before 5,000 Crimson alumni yesterday to win its most important baseball series in straight games for the first time since 1929.

TRADED STARS SHOW WELL FOR NEW CLUBS

LEFTY O'DOUL LEADS GIANTS TO VICTORY

Associated Press.

The last-minute trades by which several National League clubs endeavored to gain strength for the mid-season struggles appear, at first glance, to have panned out exceedingly well.

Notable among them was the switch which sent Lefty O'Doul to the New York Giants and Sam Leslie to the Brooklyn Dodgers, but the Boston-Philadelphia deal, involving Pinkey Whitney, Hal Lee, Wes Schulmerich and Fritz Knothe also seems to have been beneficial to both teams.

O'DOUL HITS HOMER

O'Doul, who wasn't hitting at all with the Dodgers, again made himself an important figure with the bat yesterday when, for the second time since the June 15 trade, he paced the New Yorkers to a victory that helped them hold the lead in the elder circuit. Lefty made two hits as the Giants downed the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, in a brilliant mound duel between Fred Fitzsimmons and Pat Malone, and one was a home run that put New York ahead to stay.

Leslie's clouting already has won a couple of games for the Dodgers, but he couldn't do much yesterday as the St. Louis Cardinals, after giving away five runs in the first inning, came back to win 7-5 and remain a half game behind the Giants.

Whitney, the leading figure in the trade between the Braves and the Phillies, got a new job at second base yesterday when the veteran Rabbit Maranville was benched and Dick Gyselman was put in at third. He not only filled the bill afield, but he walloped three hits and batted in five runs as the Braves took both ends of a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5 and 5-3.

PHILS BEAT REDS

The Phils' new acquisitions, Schulmerich and Knothe, batted in six of the 10 counters Philadelphia scored in the sixth and seventh innings to beat Cincinnati 10-8.

In the American League, Washington's so-far unsuccessful pursuit of the New York Yankees again furnished the day's high spots as both teams won and remained a game and a half apart.

The Senators had little trouble downing the Chicago White Sox, 9-0. The Yanks, however, had to go 13 innings to beat the last place St. Louis Browns, 5-3, despite Lou Gehrig's seventeenth home run of the season and Tony Lazzeri's twelfth.

INDIANS VICTORS

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit split a doubleheader, the Sox winning the opening slugfest 10-9 with the aid of a five-run rally in the sixth and the Tigers coming back to get a 5-3 victory behind Fred Marberry's good pitching.

BELL ADVANCES

WILMINGTON, Del., June 22.—(AP.)—Berkeley Bell, of New York, No. 1 in the rankings, yesterday eliminated Fred Roll, of the University of Pennsylvania, in the quarter-final round of the Delaware grass court tennis championship, 6-1, 7-5.

BRODY STOPPED BY KATKISH

Eddie Katkish, of the Willow Club, who knocked out Young Gizzy in the second round of the feature bout of the St. Peter's Church's opening amateur show on the North Side last week, recorded another kayo victory yesterday at the Amen Corner's picnic at Turner's Grove when he put Joe Brody, of the Linwood Club, away in the first round.

The summary:

112-pound class—Joe Sulk, Willow Club, defeated Johnny Burke, Linwood A. C.

147-pound class—Steve Kobeda, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Tarzan (Art) McGivern, Willow Club.

Great Atlantic Victor at Oval

Great Atlantic, with Dr. Knox in the sulky, twice trotted the last quarter free-for-all trot at the Schenley Matinee Club's weekly harness race program at the Oval yesterday in 31 seconds to score a straight heat victory in the event and turn in a pair of sensational performances. Great Atlantic's times for the two heats were 2:09¼ and 2:08¼.

Other victories were recorded by Dr. Sutcliffe, in the first trotting event; by John Dean in the second; by Slick Direct, in a split heat battle in the fourth race, a pacing event; by Ruth Richards in the fifth, and by Maggie Dean in the sixth.

Canzoneri Odds Drop to 7 to 5

CHICAGO, June 22.—They've cut the odds on the Tony Canzoneri-Barney Ross lightweight championship fight in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night from 2 to 1 to 7 to 5 in favor of Canzoneri, the champion.

Meanwhile both fighters have ended their hard training and are awaiting the call to arms. A crowd that will pay $80,000 and will include many World Fair visitors, is expected. The Stadium has been scaled to permit of an intake of $91,000.

Jim Thorpe and his Harjo Indians of Oklahoma are the big sandlot baseball attraction in town today. The Indians play the Pittsburgh Crawfords in two games, the first at Cycler Park, McKeesport, slated to get under way at 6:15. Then the teams will meet at Greenlee Field under the lights.

Thorpe, who has been classed as the greatest athlete ever developed in this country, has gathered together a pretty fair ball club, one that will extend Gus Greenlee's stars.

It will be the big Indian who will be the attraction. Aside from his prowess as a member of the United States Olympic team, Thorpe has been here many times in baseball and football. His last appearance was as a member of the famous Canton Bulldogs.

As an added feature, the Crawfords' great star, Oscar Charleston, one of the greatest baseball players in the country, will perform at every position. Charleston made a name for himself as a great outfielder in his younger days, but has been playing first base recently. He can handle any job on the field and will do so tonight against the Indians.

Two games are scheduled in the City League this evening. The Books go to Pleasant Valley to meet the Cochrans, and Dormont travels to Whitaker.

At a meeting of the City League last night, the J. L. Thomas Club, of Bloomfield, gave up its franchise, citing poor support from the fans as the reason for dropping out of the circuit.

The league magnates decided not to take in a club to replace the Thomas nine and to continue to operate on a six-club basis.

Dormont maintained its full game lead over the Champion Books by walloping the Gillespies, 15 to 7, at Dormont.

U. S. Cup Golfers Play With Royalty

TRENT PARK, England, June 22.—(INS.)—Four members of the American Ryder Cup golf team today polished up their games for the forthcoming match with Great Britain by playing around the Trent Park course with the Prince of Wales, Prince George, Lord Cholmondeley and Douglas Fairbanks.

While the remainder of the Ryder Cup stars were playing practice rounds of much less color, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith and Ed Dudley played in foursomes and a three-ball match with the noted Britons and the American screen star.

Special guards had to be called out to chase away those who were eager to witness the play.

The boxing card for next Monday night at Hickey Park, Millvale, has been completed and arrangements made to stage the Fourth Ward Relief Committee show at the North Braddock Bowl on Thursday night of next week instead of Wednesday, in spite of the fact that the former date may conflict with a broadcast of the Jack Sharkey-Primo Carnera heavyweight championship battle in New York.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, comes out of semi-retirement to box Eddie Zivic, of Lawrenceville, in the 10-round main bout of the Hickey Park show, which also will include two eight-rounders and two six-rounders, as follows:

Harry Jacoby vs. Joey Bazzone and Tommy Glenn vs. Anson Green, eight rounds each, and Fritzie Zivic vs. Don Asto and Dominic Mancini vs. Jerry Clements, six rounds each.

Gizzy and Zivic fought a 10-rounder at Motor Square Garden during the past indoor season, with Gizzy receiving a questionable decision.

Matchmaker Jules Beck plans to arrange four 10-round bouts for the benefit show at the Bowl. One of them will bring together Lloyd Clements and Frank Novak. Jimmy Thomas may be a principal in another and either Sunny Jim McVey or Buck McTiernan in another. The Jack King-Jimmy Belmont bout which was to have featured the program was called off today when King wired from Little Rock that he is down with malaria fever.

Senator James J. Coyne is the head of the Relief Committee. Other members are Howard Neeley, Congressman M. J. Muldowney, James B. Smith, Michael Carney and Police Capt. John Barry.

James (Red) Mason is returning to Chicago tonight to take in the Tony Canzoneri-Barney Ross fight for the lightweight championship in the Stadium, tomorrow night. He likes Ross to win.

Sharkey Speeds Up His Training

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 22.—(INS.)—With the defense of his title against Primo Carnera only one week away, Jack Sharkey is stepping on the gas at his training camp here.

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 22.—(INS.)—Primo Carnera, training here for his fight with Jack Sharkey a week from tonight, was scheduled to box only four rounds today. He had a strenuous workout yesterday, going six fast rounds.

BEDFORD GOLF TOURNEY MAY BE EXTENDED

By TOM BIRKS

With the cancellation of the Oakland Beach Hotel tournament at Conneaut Lake and the unsatisfactory dates picked for the State open at Scranton, tri-state district golf professionals are eager to have the Bedford Springs open tourney a two-day 72-hole affair.

If the Bedford event is changed, it will be the only one the members of the paid brigade will be able to take part in this year, for the State open falls on Friday and Saturday, bad days for the pros to leave their clubs.

Professional Goss, of the Mountain resort, said that the Bedford people have asked that the usual dates be alloted and all that remains is the sanction of the board of governors to go ahead with the event.

The women's team matches will occupy the limelight again tomorrow. Section I plays at Stanton Heights and Section II at Longue Vue. These are the postponed matches of the first week of the season.

The Highland Country Club captured the Grogan Cup yesterday, defeating Shannopin in the second half of the annual team match for the trophy, 84 to 69. Fred Frand, Jr., of Shannopin, and Jim Wyman, of Highland, turned in low medal scores of 73.

The annual Westmoreland county amateur championship tournament will be decided at the Greensburg Country Club tomorrow and Saturday.

HAMAS BEATEN BY LOUGHRAN BEFORE 10,000

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Tommy Loughran, the old master of ring strategy, is back in the fistic limelight again. He no longer is regarded as a contender for championships of any kind, but after being regarded as "all through" a half dozen times since he was knocked out by Jack Sharkey four years ago, he has returned to the "big time" and big crowds with a 10-round decision over his old rival, Steve Hamas.

Carrying on a quiet comeback campaign, Tommy staged perhaps the greatest comeback of them all before 10,000 excited fans at the Yankee Stadium last night. For eight rounds he barely staved off the rushes of the fiery Wallington, N. J., youngster, absorbing quite a bit of punishment.

Then in the ninth, bleeding from cuts over both eyes and apparently not far from a knockout, Loughran suddenly switched from boxing to fighting. He rocked Hamas' head back with hard rights and lefts, slugged and swatted on even terms and won the last two rounds and a close decision.

Adolph Heuser, German light-heavyweight, suffered a bad eye cut in his bout with Abe Feldman, of Schnectady, and lost by a technical knockout in the fourth round.

SPORT COMENT

and allowed to pitch in an exhibition game there because he believed the extra work would benefit him.

IT IS UNLIKELY that the suggestion of Dr. Julian R. Brandon, of San Francisco, that the period of rest between rounds in boxing bouts be lengthened from one to two minutes, will get very far with the state commissions aligned with the National Boxing Association, to which it has been submitted by President Bingo Brown. Even President Brown himself expresses his disapproval in submitting the proposal. "The idea is impractical and would not necessarily prove helpful," said the N. B. A. head. "Dr. Brandon's thought was that a longer rest would tend to reduce the number of fatalities in the ring, but I have found that other medical men do not agree with him." Scotty Monteith, veteran Detroit promoter, in discussing the matter with Sam Greene, suggested that if it is necessary to lessen the strain on the hearts of fighting men, the object can be attained more easily by letting the present one-minute rest period stand and limiting rounds to two minutes.

ONE OF THE physicians quoted as disagreeing with Dr. Brandon is Dr. William Murphy, of Milwaukee, who served under the Wisconsin Commission for a number of years and had experience with two fighters killed in action, Young Sencio and Young Schwartz. Dr. Murphy said he found that in both cases death had been due to blood clots on the brain, not to heart trouble.

"There is absolutely no reason to lengthen the time between rounds," the Milwaukee physician said. "It might be a good idea to have boxers examined after a contest as well as before. That would show whether or not they were fit to continue in the profession. Signs of heart trouble could be detected, and a boxer showing such signs should be barred from the ring, just as a football player should be barred from playing or a sprinter from running. If there is no heart ailment, a boxer between 18 and 30 requires no longer rest."

THOUGH HE WAS voted down as far as unlimited broadcasting privileges to all members were concerned, Howard Jones, Southern California coach, made a valiant fight against the movement to keep Pacific Coast Conference football games next fall off the air.

"If we bar the broadcasting of football games to even the slightest extent, we'll deserve every bit of criticism we get," Jones told the other college representatives at the annual meeting. "To take the games away from the shut-ins will be nothing short of brutality."

Vivian McGrath

TENNIS MEN ARE convinced that England's Davis Cup team will be hard pressed to escape defeat at the hands of the Australians in the European zone final at Auteuil July 14, 15 and 16, and that if the Australians are not stopped then they will make heaps of trouble for the Americans in the inter-zone final one week later. Except for the let-down after victory over Japan had been cinched, the antipodeans have not faltered in their sensational drive. Vivian McGrath, with his unorthodox battle-ax backhand stroke, is a problem to anybody he faces, and the exceptional ability of Jack Crawford was known even before he toppled the mighty Henri Cochet. Crawford's game is especially designed for the slower types of surface, such as the clay combination on which the Davis Cup matches are played. Jock roams around the baseline and bats the ball back with his peculiar square-headed racket in long sweeping drives that almost flick the chalk from the lines and make his opponent do all the work while Crawford has all the fun. It is said that when Jack is going well he can smack the ball within a foot of any given spot from any position on the court.

URGES WORLD BOOKKEEPING REFORM

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 22.—If representatives of the 66 nations assembled at London for the World Economic Conference had the will to write progressive history, they would set up a modern bookkeeping system for international accounts.

Mr. Rukeyser

This would entail treating the balance sheet and income account of a country in the same manner that the intelligent banker treats the position of an individual or a corporation.

Then if a nation habitually purchased from the outside world twice as much as it sold, the source of its power to pay such debit balances would be scrutinized. In the case of Great Britain, which has been more or less in that position, it has been commonly assumed that the deficit on international payments was made up by various invisible items, including interest and dividends on foreign investments, but the famous report of the MacMillan Commission cast doubts on the accuracy of such estimates.

SIMPLIFY PROBLEMS

Such modernization of international accounts would take the mystery and mysticism out of international finance. The idea that a nation is different than an individual and does not need to keep books goes back to the Peele act in 1844.

The whole problem would be simplified if the technique by which the corner grocerymen judges his customers were applied in international finance.

Ultimately a nation's capacity to spend abroad for imports would need to be related to its total exports, visible and invisible. On such a basis, there could be a scientific determination of the amount of credit or international buying power a country is entitled to.

AIDS STABILIZATION

Before the depression, when we were lending extensively abroad, no such fundamental accounts were available. In fact, in the credits extended to German and Austrian banks, the lenders sometimes even lacked financial statements of the borrowing institutions.

Until such international accounts are available, the attempts to agree on stabilization are stupid. They would rest on mere guesswork and manipulation. Once such accounts are available, stabilization can be more scientific than betting on a horse race or kiting checks.

Maneuvers at the conference, without adequate accounts, tend merely to muddy the waters. By the hocus pocus of managing currency and credit, attempts are made to cover up national deficiencies.

ROADS ATTACK RATE CUTS

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Lowering of railroad freight rates is attacked by the large eastern railroads in a brief on file today with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Similar statements in opposition are to be filed by Southern railroads and Western in answer to the commission's investigation of freight rates launched on March 31, 1933, "to determine whether and to what extent, if any, general reduction should be made."

According to the briefs, rate reductions at this time would be "disastrous," "unconstitutional," and "deflationary," and would defeat the present optimism of industrial recovery, and would deprive the roads of revenues sufficient to enable them to furnish adequate and efficient service. The briefs stated that "actually freight rates have had no effect whatever on the selling price of commodities."

The New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Lackawanna and Boston and Maine joined in the protest.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Fox Film Corporation has called special meetings of stockholders July 1 and July 3 to vote on a reorganization plan. Present authorised and outstanding no par Class A common and no par value B common are to be changed. Each present holder will get one new share for each six shares now held.

Stockholders will be offered 5 shares of Class A stock at $18.90 a share for each new share of Class A or Class B held. The price is fixed at $18.90 as this amount will be required to pay the $30,000,000 debentures, bank loans and interest amounting to $39,746,400 in all on August 1.

Holders of bank loans and debentures representing including interest over $36,000,000 of indebtedness have already agreed to underwrite such subscription to the extent of the indebtedness due them.

Bank of France.

PARIS, June 22.—The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows these changes in francs: Gold increased 75,000,000; sight balances abroad increased 2,000,000; bills discounted at home decreased 252,000,000; bills bought abroad unchanged; advances decreased 4,000,000; circulation decreased 252,000,000; current accounts increased 556,000,000.

Rate of discount, 2½ per cent.

STOCKS MOVE IN NARROW RANGE

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP.)—Another sharp advance of foreign exchanges against the American dollar received a rather cool reception in financial markets today, and stocks and staples, for the most part, idled cautiously in an extremely narrow range.

Displaying a contrary disposition, speculative enthusiasts, who have previously whirled prices upward as dollar rates declined, watched the national currency rates slump without displaying more than a flutter of the customary inflation emotion. With the British pound up around $4.24, its highest since the gold standard was suspended, there was some fairly spirited advances in stocks in the first hour. The fervor died quickly, however, and prices turned irregular. Trading volumes dwindled and at times the ticker barely moved. Wheat, corn and cotton drifted indifferently.

Oils and rails received the principal attention in early transactions, most of the leading shares in these groups showing gains of fractions to around a point. The tobacco division drew a following on reports that cigaret production was continuing much higher than last year. Advances of 1 to about 2 points were recorded by American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B and Lorillard. United States Steel and Bethlehem got up fractionally to a point or more, but such pivotal shares as American Telephone, Case, American Can, du Pont, General Motors, Goodyear, General Electric, United Aircraft and Sears, Roebuck were disposed to mark time.

Recent activity of the oil shares is credited largely to further advances in gasoline prices and to hopes that new governmental regulations may at least soon eliminate unfair competition in the selling of petroleum products. Wholesale prices of gasoline in the middle west, it was reported, have advanced nearly 100 per cent during the past two weeks and crude oil rates are expected, in some quarters, to approach the $1 a barrel level within the next month or so.

Stiffening of the grains has given encouragement to bullish enthusiasts who believe staples trading may eventually supercede the foreign exchange element as a spur to stocks. Some private estimates anticipate a decline in wheat production which may result in the smallest winter crop since 1894. Bearish circles, however, point to the heavy carryover as an important price restraint.

COTTON PRICES RULE HIGHER

NEW YORK, June 22.—Cotton futures opened steady, 5 to 9 points higher on commission house buying, due to higher Liverpool cables and the sharp advance in sterling exchange. July, 9.31; October, 9.59; December, 9.75; January, 9.83; March, 9.99; May, 10.14.

Liquidation, southern selling and realizing were absorbed and the market was steady during the early trading on Wall street and commission house buying. Houses with Continental and Liverpool connections were buyers here and by the end of the first half hour October was ruling around 9.63 or 9 points net higher.

The advance extended to 9.40 for July and 9.82 for December contracts later in the morning, while December sold up to 9.67, making net advances of about 13 to 14 points. Active realizing and some southern selling were absorbed by trade and commission house buying on the advance, which was encouraged by the earlier action of the stock market and continued weakness in the dollar. Demand tapered off somewhat as prices approached the recent highs, however, and there were partial reactions under realizing. At midday July was holding around 9.32 and December 9.74 or about 8 points off from the best.

LIVERPOOL, June 22.—Cotton, 1,000 bales, American nil. Spot, good business done; prices 7 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.98; good middling, 6.68; strict middling, 6.38; middling, 6.23; strict low middling, 6.08; low middling, 5.88; strict good ordinary, 5.68; good ordinary, 5.38. Futures closed quiet, July, 5.94; October, 5.93; December, 5.95; January, 5.96; March, 6.00; May, 6.03.

Soft Coal Output Well Above 1932

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The National Coal Association estimates bituminous coal production in the United States in the week ended June 17 was about 5,640,000 net tons, compared to 4,048,000 tons produced in the same week of 1932.

Baltimore & Ohio 'In Black' for June

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad showed a small deficit after charges for May. It is estimated the company will show a material balance for the preferred stock in June. Loadings so far this month have been running between 12 and 15 per cent ahead of last year.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

McCord Radiator & Manufacturing Company reports a net profit after all charges for the months of April and May of $21,238 and that the first half of 1933 will show a net profit as compared to a loss of $234,643 for the corresponding period of 1932.

Associated Telephone Utilities Company and subsidiaries in the year ended December 31, 1932, earned net profit of $13,305, compared with $1,479,246 in previous year.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, June 22.—The market was one 1⅛ to 1¼ cents higher, opened ⅝ to ¾ cent up, and at 1:20 p. m. was unchanged from the opening.

The market closed up ½ to ⅝ pence, based on sterling at 3.23.

FISH FOOD FEE PROTESTED

Protest against assessment of a fee of $1 to collect daphnia, small aquatic bugs used as food for fish, will be made to city authorities as result of disclosures at the Pittsburgh Acquarium Society last night in Hotel Henry. The charge it was disclosed was made by the concessionaries of boating at Panther Hollow Lake, Schenley Park. The city has given the society the right to scoop the tiny crustaceans from the water free of charge.

OBITUARY

Matilda Staunton McCready.

Mrs. Matilda Staunton McCready, 71, died yesterday in her home, Bank and Graham streets, Sewickley, after a long illness. Known to many of her friends as Dasie Craig, she was the wife of Dr. R. J. McCready, the oldest practicing physician in Allegheny County.

Mrs. McCready was born on the North Side. She had been married twice, first to E. E. Heck, a pharmacist. She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church of Sewickley.

She leaves two brothers, George L. and Pressly T. Craig, both of Sewickley. Funeral services will be held at her home tomorrow at 4 p. m. Burial will be in Sewickley Cemetery.

Simons Funeral.

Funeral services for Eugene S. Simons, 61, who died yesteerday at his home, 513 Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, will be held from there at 8 o'clock tonight. Mr. Simons was president of the Pittsburgh Reflector Company.

Mr. Simons

Born in Benton Harbor, Mich., Mr. Simons received his education at Cedar Valley Seminary and Des Moines College. After engaging in banking, he came to Pittsburgh in 1902 to enter the real estate business.

In 1910 he participated in the establishment of the Pittsburgh Reflector Company which grew under his guidance from a small shop to a nationally known concern.

Mr Simons was a member of the Hamburg (Ia.) Masonic Lodge, the Keystone Athletic Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Electric League of Pittsburgh, the Engineers Society of Western Pennsylvania, and the Illuminating Engineering Society. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Lucy Simons.

Smith Funeral.

Funeral services for Dr. J. Leonard Smith, 43, who died yesterday at his home, 89 Bradford avenue, Crafton, will be held from there at 1 o'clock tomorrow.

Interment will be made in Indiana, Pa., at 4 p. m.

Born in Indiana County, Dr. Smith had lived here for the past 16 years. He was a member of the staff of the Allegheny General Hospital, and belonged to the Allegheny County Medical Society and the Pittsburgh Academy of Medicine. He was also a member of the Pittsburgh Consistory, Scottish Rite; Crafton Masonic Lodge No. 653, and Odd Fellows Lodge No. 1178 and the First United Presbyterian Church of Crafton.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Bess Keller Smith; two sons, Jack and Frank Smith; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Smith, Gipsy, Pa.; two brothers, Thomas L. and Lynn K. Smith, and three sisters, Mrs. William Gromley, Mrs. Ralph Gromley and Mrs. Joseph Fitzgerald.

CHAPTER XXXII.

At daybreak the Nuloa's engine, rudely aroused, coughed, sputtered, and then grudgingly took on a steady job. Going up the Sepik is not an everyday event even to those who live in New Guinea, so all hands appeared on deck shortly after the schooner resumed her tussle with the swift current. Night shrouding all things in mystery, had catered to the popular fancy that this river was a dread enigma. Now, in the sane light of day, the river banks were disappointing, almost uninteresting.

Nevertheless, I gulped once or twice in sheer excitement at being here in this fabulous place on an October morning. What I saw was a broad, winding waterway, quite dismally bordered with swamp, tall grass, sago palms, wild sugar and stunted timber. But the background was of forbidding, endless, mighty ranges of mountains. Jim told me that not far inland were many lakes, where wild bird life abounded. Occasionally we saw a few grass huts on tall stilts, dejected and solitary enough, and once in a while there was a very long, slender canoe, curiously without an outrigger, drawn up along the shore. Each of these harbored four or five statue-like natives, who obviously were out early in the morning collecting sacsac from the swamps. The naked natives stared, motionless, with long paddles poised, as we passed them.

A DESOLATE PLACE

We approached Marienberg about noontime. As we pulled alongside of what purported to be this famous mission station I looked for something indicating human habitation. There was no wharf of any kind, nor was any needed. We drew up to the bank that dropped as sheerly down to the water as if it had been cut away, and two of our native crew leaped out and tied the Nuloa to stakes driven into the ground apparently for that precise purpose. Then the bank, over which the water rises at high tide, was flush with our lower deck-rail. All that was necessary to negotiate the shore was to step on the rail and then over a 12-inch hiatus to the ground.

Marienberg was a most desolate place. Only five white men were living there. Three caved-in shed "storehouses," as Robbie called them, were the only signs of dwellings. One of these had once been the D. O.'s house. But the acting D. O. was there to greet us. I had heard of him, too; he was easily the most popular man in the islands. His last name was abbreviated by every one to "Robbie." He had been stationed at several posts throughout the Territory, and had successfully executed his job in all of them; and when this terribly lonely and very dangerous vacancy occurred Robbie had applied for it.

He was entirely different from any one I had ever seen in the Territory. Robbie was English, not an Aussie, and he was tall, with a beautifully shaped head on which grew the fair, wavy hair that women like in men. If he sees this description of him he will hate it, and he will probably detest all future women travelers in New Guinea. But I can't help it, for Robbie was such a romantically good-looking young man. He had large, disarming blue eyes that looked at the world with seeming ingenuousness and entirely undisturbed. He had a curiously slow and drawling manner of talking, an amusing habit of repeating a sentence, as if for his own benefit. And Robbie was, at soberest, in a continual state of mellowness.

But if his exterior gave the impression of softness and dreaminess, it was misleading. He was the one lone white man there who represented the government to hundreds of the cruelest and most unruly people of New Guinea. By some strange genius, or hidden strength, he commanded the respect and obedience of the head-hunters. In the Sepik country only the very fringe is rated as "controlled area." Obviously fearless, Robbie struck me as one of those persons to whom nothing really matters—life, death, misfortune, danger, nothing. He had built him a kunai (grass) house on a knoll back from the bank.

How many times during the year and a half of my South Pacific adventure did I metaphorically pinch myself and think, like the good woman in Mother Goose: "Laws a-massy on us, can this be really I" At times I found myself where few white men, and no other white woman had ever been—I, the whilom insignificant struggler in a vast city, the usual commonplace, middle-class person making up nine-tenths of "civilized" society.

Our arrival had attracted a strange gallery. First a very long and narrow canoe put out from the opposite bank, and gradually, warily approached our schooner. It held five handsome figures in fantastic silhouette—two men, two marys, and a pickanniny. After a while they grew brave enough to make for the mission bank. Other canoes then put out from the shore across the river, keeping a safe distance from the biggest ship they had ever seen, or perhaps dreamed of, and steadying their canoes with their tall paddles. The marys maneuvered the canoes, while the men sat at ease. Some of these long-hewn crafts carried eight natives.

Theoretically, wherever the white man's rule has penetrated, the natives have been weaned from their cannibalistic habits, but it seemed that he had impressed these river people with little else. The men wore merely a brief garment consisting of a wide tight fiber girdle with a tiny bark-cloth apron in front, and their necks bristled with the precious dog-tooth necklaces. All the male heads wore a weird adornment; the wool was confined into a woven conical head-dress, through which it protruded in a black bush. These "hats" were elaborately trimmed with shell money (tambaran) and carved sharks' or dogs' teeth, and each was crowned with the fur of a flying fox. The head-dress is an evidence of dignity; it is one of the acquirements of a youth when he reaches "manhood" and lets his wool grow, and it is nevermore taken off.

ELABORATE CARVINGS

The marys were more elaborately bedecked. Each woman's wool was done into tiny corkscrew curls, stiffened with henna clay. They wore finely teased-out grass pulpuls, very short in front and swishing to below their knees in back, as at Awar. Around their necks they too, wore carved tooth necklaces, and between the tattooed breasts of each of them hung a great disk of mother-of-pearl as big as a tea plate.

It took some time for the occupants of the tentatively approaching canoes to gain enough confidence in this strange new invasion of their territory to make the mission shore and clamber up to the ground. They observed the six of us from the Nuloa with open-mouthed curiosity.

So far as Melanesia can boast a purely native cultural or art center, the Sepik River region is it. Some of its wood-carving is marvelous, considering that Stone-Age implements are still in use there. The canoes, which have no outriggers, are splendid examples of careful, patient workmanship. They are very long, perhaps 30 feet, and are elaborately carved from stem to stern; each has a figurehead of a pukhpukh (alligator) or pig, both of which are sacred beasts.

Robbie was undeniably glad to see us. Except for the two missionaries, and the two men at the recently established oil company's "headquarters" a few miles up the river, he had seen no other white men for dear knows how long. And the sight of a white woman was rare enough to him to make for me a flattering welcome. He looked immaculately clean and fresh; the sort of man who would keep himself looking that way even if he never saw another of his own kind again. I marveled at the enchantment that could hold him content and happy there during those precious golden days of his youth when, surely, love and life and all the smiling pleasures that the world holds for men that look like Robbie were beckoning across the seven seas. For I believe he was no world-jaded decadent. He was but 28. And yet there he stood, a slender bulwark of civilization against the savage tribes.

DECORATIVE MEDALLIONS

By LAURA WHEELER

That bedroom furniture you repainted—the porch chairs that need brightening up—the dinette table and chairs—can all be beautified by these attractive floral medallions. They come to you in color, all you need do is cut them out, paste them on the furniture, shellac or varnish over the medallion, and you have a professional-looking decoration enhancing your furniture. And you need not limit yourself to furniture, either, for they are equally attractive on lamp shades, waste baskets, coaster sets, in fact on any accessory that needs decoration.

The round medallions (Pattern No. 473) lend themselves especially as decorations on dinette sets, chairs, lamps and small accessories. The pattern consists of two of the larger medallions, 3x3¼ inches and four small medallions 1¾x2 inches. They are obtainable in a color combination of black, red and yellow. Price of pattern 10c.

The long medallions are especially adapated for dining room and bedroom furniture and for small accessories. The pattern (No. 474) consists of one large medallion 2x5¾ inches, two 1½x4½ inches, and four 1-1⅛x3 inches, in a combination of black, red and yellow. Price of pattern 10c.

Send 10c for each pattern (20c for both) to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

The Conclusion and Future Of Pictorial Education

Together with the school year, the "Pictorial Education" comes to a close.

Based upon the age-old truth—"a picture sticks to the mind"—the idea to illustrate school studies in daily papers was conceived by Dr. Albert Bayard Wright, Duquesne University professor, and approved by leading educators: Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of the Pittsburgh public schools; Dr. David R. Sumstine, director of curriculum study and research; Dr. Charles E. Dickey, superintendent of Allegheny County schools; the Rev. Dr. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of the parish schools in the Pittsburgh diocese.

Dr. Wright

Other educators, scientists, authors, publishers, granted readily their permission to reproduce their material. School principals and teachers advised and criticized constructively Pittsburgh libraries, especially the Carnegie, from Director Ralph Munn to every attache, helped to fill our requests for material.

Dr. Graham

Dr. Sumstine

Students conceived hundreds of titles to name this feature and expressed in letters their appreciation.

"Pictorial Education" is an excellent example of how, even in the midst of a world-wide economic disaster—when many states and communities are cutting their support for school—a fine idea, backed by good will, unselfish co-operation and readiness to sacrifice can create a useful, progressive and new means of education.

We are proud of having been able to provide for students much desired pictures, illustrating turning points of history, remnants of vanished civilization and building stones for the new, the immensity and order of our universe, portraits and works of men who spent their lives to advance science and the welfare of humanity, laws of nature, achievements of industry, creations of geniuses in the field of art, famous scenes of immortal pieces of literature, guaranties and safeguards of human liberties and social order.

Dr. Dickey

Rev. Campbell

To whatever degree we have smoothed the path of students of these subjects, we are happy.

Books are true levelers. They give to all who faithfully use them the society, the spiritual presence, of the best and greatest of our race.—Channing.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Women who are too busy bringing home the bacon on pay day—not to mention the cream puffs— are deleting rear curls. Too much bother, require too much time. They resort to the finger wave that finishes at the back on the bias, hair ends closing in on themselves abaft the left ear. No fuzzers then. It is a coiffure style that stays put when summer zephyrs blow.

A jumping rope will whittle down fat calves. Try it. High kicking is recommended. Running up and down stairs on the toes will dissolve fat cells on calves and thighs. If all this sounds too strenuous, get a small rolling pin and roll the bumps away. Follow with a cold salt water sponging, a brisk rub down with a heavy turkish towel.

(News Item)

Statements of a police surgeon that small doses of whisky administered to the aged were conducive to longer life caused an uproar yesterday at the First Methodist Church, where prohibitionists held an all-day session.

But a burst of applause greeted a statement by the doctor to the effect that, although he considered small doses of whisky of medicinal value, that was no reason why young people should drink themselves to death.

Picture of Married Life

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

I like to be in a certain home when daddy arrives in the evening.

The mother's eyes, as she talks to you, stray to the front window as eagerly as those of a young girl awaiting her sweetheart. The youngsters press noses flat against the windows or, in summer, camp on the porch to make a dash for daddy.

But no matter which of the three youngsters reaches him first, grabs his legs, or hand there always comes the same admonition: "Wait! Mother first." And mother gets the first kiss—and it isn't the usual married peck on the cheek—dad puts his mind on it—then come the kids.

Does he love his wife to the exclusion of his children? Bless you no! He adores them, but he has always relegated them to their proper sphere when it comes to caressing, demonstrations of affection—there, mother is always first.

What a lovely picture of married life this man is giving his children. Love for all—but mother is still the sweetheart. It is wholesome and right.

For contrary to the sweet, silly sentiment which gives voice to the saying: "Children bring people closer together," it has been my experience that quite the contrary is true, that it takes a pretty sound affection, a lot of give and take, a lot of tolerating of annoyances to hold a man and woman as sweethearts through hours of a baby screaming with colic, through nights of paddling down to a cold kitchen to heat milk, to foregoing a favorite radio program because mother is putting daughter to sleep, etc.

But these people have done it bravely and beautifully, without skimping in any way on the children. Mates should be mates for life, enjoying, comforting and loving each other. Children have their own place in the hearts of the parents, but that place shouldn't be expanded until mother or dad or both are pushed out in their affection for their children.

It is obvious that these children growing up in the beautiful home atmosphere described above, will carry that love of home and family throughout life. It is a fine heritage this mother and father are leaving their children.

Progress in Flood Plan

Mr. Guffey Deserves Much of the Credit for Washington's Interest in the Project

Each day brings fresh evidence of Washington's interest in the plan to protect Pittsburgh and the Ohio Valley from flood by establishing storage reservoirs at the headwaters of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers.

The administration sees in the project an opportunity to put many thousands of men to work with minimum delay on a job that will directly benefit a large section of the country.

Washington's interest in the matter is not a spontaneous haphazard development. It was not by chance or accident that the authorities in charge of the public works program came to direct their attention to the flood control plan. On the contrary their favorable consideration of the subject is the result of many years of hard work by the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh, followed by missionary work by persons influential with the administration.

Not a little of the credit for the progress that the plan is making is due to Joseph F. Guffey, the State Democratic leader. Mr. Guffey holds no office. Everything that he has done has been done as a private citizen, yet he has accomplished more in furtherance of the program than many of our official representatives in Washington.

Working Uncle Sam

The American Delegates at London Should Resist Proposals That Will Weaken Our Economic Position.

It becomes increasingly difficult to perceive how participation in the World Economic Conference at London will contribute to American prosperity.

Recognizing that with only about 6 per cent of the world's population the United States normally gets 45 per cent of the aggregate annual income, foreign delegations are concentrating on maneuvers which will be costly to the United States.

The atmosphere of the conference has been clouded not only by the unwarranted injection of the war debt issue into the discussions by Prime Minister MacDonald, but more particularly by the total or partial default on June 15 war debt payments by all nations except Finland.

In the circumstances, President Roosevelt is to be commended for standing firmly against the effort to effect currency stabilization truce at levels which would be more helpful to France and Great Britain than to the United States.

Though there may be difference of opinion as to what levels ultimate stabilization should take place at, it would seem national folly for the United States to surrender its freedom of action at this crucial time when the domestic price level is in the midst of an encouraging rise.

The vast improvement in prices, business activity and volume of employment in the United States since the middle of March has reflected exclusively causes within the realm of ECONOMIC NATIONALISM.

It would be calamitous, accordingly, to permit doctrinaire politicians, such as Secretary Hull, to make commitments at London which might interfere with the economic regeneration at home.

Even the proposal of a general tariff cut should be viewed realistically in terms of trade and employment possibilities.

The efforts of the United States under the "new deal" administration to effect a "managed recovery" at home should be interpreted as a policy friendly to all the world. The best contribution the United States can make to world recovery is to put ITS OWN ECONOMIC HOUSE IN ORDER.

Then other nations, primarily concerned with home trade, can emulate our policies, and progress with us, simultaneously acting to raise their own price levels.

If such fundamental steps were taken to get men back to work in all countries, the technical questions of foreign exchange ratios and trade barriers would tend to solve themselves.

It is to be hoped that the American delegates will overcome their naivete and resist to the utmost proposals calculated to weaken the economic position of the United States.

The American position will be secure if our delegates weigh each proposal in scales showing their probable effect on volume of employment and living standards IN THE UNITED STATES.

Eradicate the Slums!

Federal Legislation May Offer an Alternative to the Plan Defeated at Harrisburg.

Bills authorizing limited dividend housing corporations to do away with the slums of our large cities and erect in their stead comfortable, sanitary dwellings were defeated at Harrisburg, notwithstanding that they had the support of social workers, the Pittsburgh Housing Association and architects' organizations.

Gov. Pinchot said that Philadelphia politicians killed the legislation because of provisions that interfered with their plan to acquire slum property and demand an exorbitant price for it. However that may be, it is a pity that the plan failed; for the slums are breeding places for disease and crime and should be eradicated.

Happily, there may yet be an opportunity to effect this improvement. Pittsburgh social workers are discussing the possibility of utilizing recent Federal legislation to the same end.

It is to be hoped they will attack the problem aggressively, for there are said to be 17,000 families in Pittsburgh whose houses are not what they should be.

Ineffective Supervision

The Grand Jury Lays Its Finger on the Sore Spot in the Juvenile Court System.

The grand jury, recommending that a committee be named to investigate negligence in caring for the county's juvenile wards, condemns the lack of effective supervision.

It is not the system itself—the system of putting the children into private homes instead of orphanages or asylums—that is at fault. It is the failure of those charged with the supervision of the children to see that they were properly placed that is at the bottom of the trouble.

It would be a mistake to change the system and go back to institutionalism. The remedy for the evils lies in carefully investigating the homes and families to whose care the county's wards are to be entrusted, and in repeating the investigations at frequent intervals.

Love Takes a Holiday

Some woman's chances of happiness are ruined forever, when a man starts out in life as a coddled son.

The "dangerous woman," in a man's life, is not the selfish, wild thing, who weakens his pocketbook and breaks his heart, but the sweet, self-sacrificing "angel," who softens his backbone and paralyzes his initiative.

You can believe all that an honest woman says, except when she is discussing her age or her "operation"—and all that an honest man says, except when he's running for office or making love.

When a man puts a temptation (or a woman) out of his life "forever," he should take the precaution to lock the door and bar all the windows, or the first thing he knows it will be sneaking right back in again.

Nowadays, a man trusts no woman and suspects every woman; but he doesn't know whether he suspects her of trying to take him for better-or-worse or of just trying to take him "for a ride."

Doubtless, many a popular bachelor has succumbed to marriage, merely because he is tired of listening to the telephone and inventing new pet-names, and feels that it would be a relief just to call some woman "SAY!"—and be done with it.

A beard is a pretty good chaperone; but a nice, clean shave, a massage and a glossy, new manicure always seems to smooth a man's way for skidding into some new folly.

A woman is smart. She can make money in a tea-room—and then lose it in a real estate deal. But a man is smarter. He can make a lot of money on a horse-race—and then lose it under the cushions of a divan.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 22.—That slice of transplanted Germany, known as Yorkville in the East 80's, has a new sparkle with the return of beer. It remains the only section where men go in shirt sleeves solemnly sucking long-stemmed pipes and hausfraus rock on the sidewalk knitting.

A profusion of dachshunds with their quaintly turned-out forefeet add a Rhineland relish. Behind the curtained windows in the evening men are practicing on violins, flutes and cornets, for a majority of the orchestra musicians are recruited there.

The language is in gurgling gutturals of the Teutons. Many children cannot speak a word of English. From the pavement, too, can be seen wall pictures of Bismarck. And the former Kaiser is a photographic idol. On almost every other corner is the Deutsche Apotheker, whose store is a neighborhood meeting place.

With prohibition many old brew-masters retired with what they thought a competence. But the collapse of the safest of investments here and in Germany plunged them into actual poverty. Reopening breweries has given Yorkville a new grip on life. And innumerable jobs!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

LETTER TO A YOUNGSTER FACING LIFE:

And so you're graduating this year!

College? Or High School? It doesn't particularly matter, for in either case you're about to enter life, and are filled with the same hope and bewilderment.

School's over. You've had all you are going to have of education. Now you're supposed to be ready to tackle the Big Game. But where shall you start in?

A month ago it all seemed easy. Your parents and your professors had laid out a pattern for you, and each person and experience fitted neatly and easily into that pattern. But now—

Where's your pattern? Shot to pieces!

And of what use would it be if you had it?

Even in this short time you've discovered it would be of no use forever. These strange faces with their strange behavior—they would never fit into any pattern your teachers or parents ever devised. The rules are all wrong. The measurements are all cock-eyed.

Here are people and ideas, standards and customs of which you never dreamed in your sheltered campus life. This is an entirely different world—a world for which nothing has prepared you.

Not only did they fail to prepare you, but by their misinformation they actually unfitted you to deal with this world. Already you're swamped by discouragement and dismay. And where can you get your bearings? Whom can you follow? Whose technique should you study? Which standards should you accept?

MAKE YOUR OWN STANDARDS!

CREATE YOUR OWN TECHNIQUE!

FOLLOW YOURSELF!

IF YOU TRY TO ADAPT YOURSELF TO OTHER PEOPLE'S NOTIONS—YOU'RE LOST.

You won't believe that at first. You'll be too busy watching the Other Fellow—trying to copy his success—dodging his failures. And you'll be sure that if you can only copy the Right People and avoid the Wrong People, you'll succeed.

But you won't.

YOUR ONE CHANCE OF SUCCESS LIES IN BEING YOURSELF.

The world has no use for imitations, even the cleverest ones. It is already filled with them. BUT IT HAS A TREMENDOUS NEED OF ORIGINALS—MEN AND WOMEN WITH FRESH, DIFFERENT IDEAS AND VIEWPOINTS, AND THE COURAGE OF THEIR OWN CONVICTIONS.

Does that mean that you needn't adapt yourself to other people; that you must always insist on having your own way? Of course it doesn't. But it does mean that, in spite of all necessary adaptations and compromises, you must be a Real Person, with an established and unique character of your own.

So Being Yourself is not merely your ONLY chance, but also your BEST chance. And the first step toward Being Yourself is to find out what you, yourself, really are. Never mind what your doting parents or your teachers think you are. And stop banking on your own secret hunch that you're a potential Barrymore, Edison, Brisbane or Roosevelt.

WHAT YOU MUST DISCOVER—WHAT THE WORLD WILL DEMAND—ARE TRUE FACTS. So cut out the pipe dreams and take check of yourself.

WHAT CAN YOU REALLY DO?

WHAT DO YOU REALLY THINK?

FOR WHAT WILL YOU DO BATTLE?

Answer those questions.

It won't be easy. It will, indeed, be difficult and humiliating. You will probably find that you have the capacity of a kerosene lamp instead of a star—and would make a better ditch-digger than diplomat. But it's better for you to discover that fact for yourself than to have the world expose it with ruthless ha-ha's.

So dare to search and find your Self—your Real Self. Then back that Self with all the faith and courage and honesty which you have.

THEN, AND ONLY THEN, CAN YOU OFFER YOURSELF TO THE WORLD WITH ANY HOPE OF SUCCESS.

The Human Side of the News

Big Bill Egan, the Pennsylvania's Distinguished Station Master in New York—E. Berry Wall, King of the Dudes.

By EDWIN C. HILL

ONE of the politest men I know is really a great man whose virtues have never been properly sung. He wears a uniform with brass buttons, but he is a friend of kings and the toast of queens. He owns a trunkful of jeweled decorations conferred upon him by potentates and prime ministers. For what? For being courteous. His name is William H. Egan—Big Bill Egan, station master of the Pennsylvania Station in New York.

He stands like a colossus, bestriding New York, one foot in Pennsylvania, the other in Long Island. In his blue dress uniform, with its gold buttons, he typifies the grandeur of a great railroad system. His nod summons a thousand Red Caps. His watch dispatches the Limited. Lost children fall asleep in his arms. Grass widows returning from Reno view him as the ideal but unattainable No. 2 or No. 3.

And in mufti, what a noble spectacle! Groomed to the minute, but without swank or flourish. His spats, the stick, the stitching on his gloves, the fitted top coat, the ensemble magnificent! The last and final shout in men's wear. In full war paint, Station Master Egan of the Pennsylvania makes Jimmy Walker seem shabby and unkempt.

Famous Persons Pay Their Respects

DOZENS and dozens of autographed photographs of the world's great decorate the walls of his private office. Sarah Bernhardt penned across her photo, "To Bill Egan with my best wishes and sympathy." John D. Rockefeller signed his portrait in lead pencil. John McGraw is there and the Prince of Wales and Al Smith and Calvin Coolidge and President Roosevelt and a hundred more.

Mme. Schumann-Heink is his pet among the ladies, "She's one sweet old girl," said Bill. "Believe me, she is."

As for Jimmy Walker, "He's my boy, that's all. A wonderful fellow and a natural orator. Cal Coolidge was my best friend."

Big Bill has been with the Pennsylvania for 47 years and has been station master ever since the huge depot was erected 21 years ago. "And when I pass along," says Bill Egan, "I'm going through the pearly gates with my right hand out and saying: 'Here I am, Bill Egan, and I'm looking for my old friends, Grover Cleveland, William J. Bryan, Bill Taft and Teddy Roosevelt.' And what's more, I'll bet they come and meet me!"

Who can doubt it?

E. Berry Wall Still King of the Dudes

WITH his pearl-gray topper, his Ascot scarf of Victorian elegance, his Bond street morning coat and trousers, his white spats and his orchid at coat lapel, the one and only E. Berry Wall is still King of the Dudes. His 70 years rest lightly upon his beautifully tailored shoulders. That formidable mustache which used to be the envy of the dandies of Delmonico's and Sherry's, sprays across his face in its old-time magnificence. Under still-dark brows, his eyes are still alert for a pretty ankle or a provocative eye.

We have just had a picture of him from Paris—the same old King of the Dudes, in a vividly-banded Panama, huge stock, fancy waistcoat and sport shoes. He has lived in Paris for 20 years because he finds it cheaper for a poor millionaire. He's still a good American at heart, but it's a mournful thing to saunter down Fifth avenue and meet not a soul he knows.

In the gay nineties, E. Berry Wall had a hundred suits of clothes and belonged to 16 clubs. When he strolled along the avenue he was the despair of youthful dandies, who blinked their eyes at his vividly-checked suit, his swallow tail coat and the silk shirt which matched the suit even to the color and the checks. His stupendous collar, mounting to his ears, was circled with a voluminous scarf of salmon or canary. Five feet of watch chain billowed across the front of his cream-colored, double-breasted waistcoat.

Introduced Cocktail To New York Society

AND as Berry doffed his broad, brown derby to the coy damsels in their veils and bustles, his polished black hair gleamed under the startled sun, a match for his beautiful handlebar mustache. It was E. Barry Wall who introduced the cocktail into New York Society and who stole off to Baltimore in 'eighty-seven to marry a beautiful debutante who had been favored by the attentions of the Prince of Wales.

And after 45 years, Mrs. Wall, still adoring the prismatic gentleman who led her to the altar, tells the world that he's the model husband.

He doesn't work. He tried work once when he became a stock-broker. But Wall Street took a million and a half away from the King of the Dudes and that finished him. He put the rest of his fortune into bonds and retired to la Belle France. And there he's the leading patron of the races and a fancier of chow dogs, which he buries in state.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Aren't you arbitrary in many matters more through stubbornness than in support of strong conviction?

You wish to be known as a man of ideas back of which you are not afraid to stand.

Even though you be opposed by every other man in the crowd, although you cannot be classed as a superior, you "will not yield an inch to any man," in the stand which you may have taken.

You are willing to put your judgment up as against all who oppose you.

This position appeals to you as showing unusually good sense.

When who have been equally successful in their lines of business, as you have been in yours, you ought to have the credit for as good business acumen as you claim, surely.

Naturally if your decided stands are taken in regard to your own business it is admitted that you have a perfect right to believe that your judgment is superior to that of others engaged in other lines.

But when you are debating a matter in which each has equal knowledge, why should you think your gray matter better than the others?

It isn't.
